REGARDED AS SERIOUS MATTER AT WASHINGTON

American Steamer Gulfight Sunk
by German Submarine With the Loss of Captain and Two of Crew

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The United States today awaited the results of an investigation into the case of the American steamer Gulfight, reported to have been torpedoed with the loss of her captain and two members of the crew. Pending the development of official acts, however, no action will be taken.

As viewed here the occurrence is regarded as a very serious matter and as one calling for some kind of representation by the United States. Officials, however, decline to discuss the character of these representations. In official circles it was thought that the inquiry probably would disclose the fact that the attack on the American vessel was an accident and not deliberate. In that event it was considered likely that no action would be taken by the American government beyond a demand for damages.

tion of a war zone around the British Isles said that it would hold Germany to a strict accountability for loss of American lives or vessels. The inquiry which will be made through American diplomatic channels will be directed with a view to ascertaining the manner of the torpedoing of the Gulfight and to fixing the responsibility for the attack. It is believed that several days will be required to finish the investigation.

WITNESS FOR DEFENCE
CALLED IN LIBEL SUIT

Son of Late Senator Platt Arrives
at Syracuse to Testify in the
Barnes-Roosevelt Case

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 3.—The securing and execution in Albany of contracts for public printing were the subjects upon which a number of witnesses summoned by Theodore Roosevelt, defendant in the libel suit of William Barnes, Jr., were to testify in the supreme court today. It is claimed by the colonel that much money belonging to the state and the city and printing of public documents and that Mr. Barnes benefited thereby.

The colonel further alleged that so great was the control exercised over printing contracts that on more than one occasion the Albany Journal, in which Mr. Barnes is reported as being interested, received a percentage from Albany printing concerns to which it "furnish" out contracts.

Justice William S. Andrews, presiding at the trial, has pointed out, however, that Mr. Barnes as a stockholder in the Journal company is not responsible for the acts of that corporation.

Unless Mr. Barnes himself is in some manner actually connected with the securing and execution of contracts it is possible the court has intimated that all testimony regarding the printing situation in Albany may be stricken from the record.

It was planned to have Michael Dolan, general manager of the Argus company of Albany, complete today his story of the relations between his concern and the Journal company. Mr. Dolan was on the stand when a week-end recess was taken Friday.

Among the new witnesses who appeared at the court house today was Lafayette B. Gleason, clerk of the state senate in whose office witnesses have testified, Mr. Barnes talked to various republican and democratic organization senators, principally the former, while direct primaries legislation was under consideration in 1910.

Son of Late Sen. Platt

Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, arrived here late last night in answer to lawyers' call to a subpoena. It was presumed that Mr. Platt had with him some more correspondence taken from his father's files. This, however, Mr. Platt declined to affirm or deny. He furnished copies of the scores of letters which were put in evidence while Colonel Roosevelt was on the stand under direct and cross-examination.

Dolan Questioned

Mr. Dolan resumed the stand promptly upon the opening of court. He was questioned at length by John M. Bowers, chief counsel for Colonel Roosevelt upon contracts awarded by the common council of Albany.

CREW DESERTED CARMAN TRIAL

Sunken Obstruction—
One Man Killed
Selection of Jury Expected Today

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 2, by radio to San Diego, Cal., May 3.—The American schooner Emma of San Diego has arrived at Mazatlan, Mexico, with only Captain Clark and the ship's cook on board and is being assisted by the United States cruiser Raleigh in repairs to damages due to a storm.

The Emma sailed Feb. 2 from San Jose Del Cabo, Lower California, for northern ports. She struck a sunken obstruction and then was driven by a storm to Socorro Island. Captain O'Keefe, the mate, sailed on board ship enroute and was hurt at sea. The rest of the crew deserted on the arrival of the Emma at Socorro. The collier Nanshan has been directed by Admiral Howard to rescue the deserters.

STORE WAS ROBBED
BURGLARS ENTERED STORE OF
CLARENCE E. STEVENS ON WEST-
FORD STREET
The local police are today investigating the break into the grocery store of Clarence E. Stevens at 349 Westford street, Saturday morning when the safe and cash register were ripped and the burglars got away with about $30 in money and a quantity of gum, candy and other articles.

The early morning burglars gained entrance through a cellar window and then cut a hole in a panel of the door leading from the cellar to the store.
By reaching through the hole the door was unbolts. A few bills and some change were taken from the cash register and the strong box was removed from the safe to the cellar, where it was smashed open with a set of 200 pound scales. There was nothing in the box except a key.

About 2 o'clock Saturday morning
Mr. Stevens, who lives above the store, was aroused by a noise and arose and lighted the gas. Everything seemed quiet then, however, and he returned to bed on to find on opening his store in the morning that burglars had been operating there during the night.

CHALIFOUX'S

MINNEOLA, N. Y., May 3.—A bitter contest over the selection of a jury for the second trial of Mrs. Florence Carman was expected today before Supreme Court Justice Blackmar. It was said that the prosecution would try to eliminate all residents of the neighborhood of the Carman house.

Mrs. Carman is charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey on June 30 last year by shooting her when she was in the office of Dr. Carman in his residence in Freeport. The first trial resulted in a disagreement.

One of the questions to be determined today was whether Mrs. Car-man's $25,000 bail would be continued or whether she would be committed to jail while the trial was in progress.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN TO CAM-BRIDGE ON CASE OF CONVERSE
VS. B. & M. RAILROAD

After empanelling a jury in a new case, the superior court, Justice Stevens presiding, adjourned to Cambridge at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon, and will not return to this city until the case of the Converse Rubber Shoe Co. vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, which was started this morning, is brought to a close.

The case of Julius H. Claussen of Malden vs. the Boston Dye House, Inc., an action of contract by which the plaintiff seeks to recover on a promissory note the sum of $187.50, which was given by the defendant for the purchase of a benzine distilling machine, and which went to trial Thursday was brought to a close this morning, but the presiding justice announced he would charge the jury in Cambridge later in the forenoon.

The next case to be called was that of the Converse Rubber Shoe Co. of Malden vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, and action of tort, the ad dam-num of which is $3,000.

In this case the plaintiff claims that on or about Feb. 2, 1911, a spark from a locomotive engine owned and operated by the defendant company, set fire to buildings owned by the plaintiff, and that the fire destroyed the store house of the company with its approaches, tools and supplies. The defendant's answer is general denial of the charges.

The jury was empanelled and at 10:30 o'clock was escorted to the buildings of the plaintiff in Malden to take a view of the premises and at 2 o'clock the case was resumed at the East
Cambridge court house.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE HELD

FUNERAL OF CHAS. C. HUTCHINSON
FROM ST. ANNE'S CHURCH SATUR-DAY AFTERNOON

The funeral of Charles C. Hutchinson was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Anne's church, where impressive services were conducted by Rev. Appleton Grannis. The honorary pall bearers were: Melvin M. Johnson,
Charles T. Gallagher, A. G. Pollard,
Daniel W. Lawrence, E. M. Tucke, E. M.
Burke, Michael Collins, Franklin
Nourse and Walter Coburn.

The following representatives of the York and Scottish rite bodies in Massachusetts were present: Melvin M. Johnson, grand master of Masons in Massachusetts; Charles T. Gallagher and E.
B. Holmes, past grand masters of Masons in Massachusetts; Daniel W. Lawrence, W. H. H. Soule, Chas. E. Pierce, George H. Rhodes and Solon W. Stevens. The supreme council, A. A. S. R., was represented by Charles T. Gallagher, 33rd degree, active member and deputy for Massachusetts; A. G. Pollard, 33rd degree, active member, Lowell; George W. Currier, 33rd degree, active member and deputy for New Hampshire; William E. Livingston, 33rd degree; Frank K. Stearns, 33rd degree, and Harry G. Pollard, 33rd degree, of Lowell. Past Grand Master
W. H. H. Soule represented the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and attendant officers. In addition to the above delegations were representatives from Ancient York
Lodge, Tentuck Lodge, Kilwinning Lodge, William North Lodge, Mt. Col-vary chapter of Rose Croix, Lowell council, Princes of Jerusalem: Lowell Lodge of Perfection, Mt. Herob, R. A.
Chapter, Ahazuerus council, R. A. S.
Masters, and Phirim commandery, N. O.
Knights Templar, all of Lowell.

Delegations were also present from the Mechanics Savings bank, of which deceased was vice president; the Traders & Mechanics Insurance Co., of which Mr. Hutchinson was president, and also from the Lowell Gas Light Co., of which he was a director.

Among the mourners was the son of deceased of Philadelphia.
Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, where the committal services were read by Rev. Appleton Grannis. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Arthur D. Prince, under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

RESERVE BOARD'S PAYROLL
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The federal reserve board's total annual payroll, in force today, according to its announcement is $137,100. This does not include the division of issue, operated as a part of the office of the comptroller of the currency.

The staff in addition to the seven members of the board so far comprises 31 people. The average salary of all employees exclusive of the board and its personal staff who get a total of $55,000 based upon the present payroll is $165 a year.

BLIND ARTISTS COMING HERE
Mr. John and Miss Mary McGay, the blind artists, brother and sister, will give a concert in Colonial hall, on Wednesday evening, May 11th. The McGays support themselves in the musical line and give an entertainment of exceptional manner. Miss McGay has a pleasing soprano voice while her brother is a baritone of no mean ability.
Despite their blindness both are accomplished pianists. Mr. McGay is also

POLISH TAG DAY SUCCESS

Sum Collected Will Net About
$1500—The Committee Well
Pleased With Result

The Polish Tag day for the relief of the wounded in Poland was a complete success.

The bags of money turned in by the collectors Saturday night were left in a pile in the Five Cent Savings bank, and as nearly as could be estimated it amounted to $1500.

Along the business streets Saturday a number of neat and polite Polish girls equipped with boxes, were urging the purchase of little flags and cards worded "Help Poland." These found a ready sale as very few who heard the story of the terrible suffering in Poland could refuse.

The people in general showed a spirit of sympathy in the readiness with which they bought the tags. The Polish relief committee is highly gratified at the result.

Y. W. C. A. rooms, and Dr. Clarence B.

in pure-unselfishness by newsboys any-

Instead of going ahead with their plans for a projected banquet and re-

German bristles are not all grown in Germany, many of them being obtained in Poland and vicinity in the crude state, and assorted and packed in establishments in Eastern Germany. Leipzig is the great German market for bristles. France produces only white or light colored bristles in marketable quantities. India bristles are black in color and very stiff. American bristles are all soft and short, being taken from young hogs, they are not adapted to use in paint or varnish brushes.

Bristle prices were never known to be as high as at present; but this condition can be easily understood when we consider the sources of supply. Before buying your brushes, visit Coburn's and inspect the qualities of the bristles, then compare Coburn's prices with those asked elsewhere.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Lowell Manufacturers, Engineers and Firemen Interested in Bill Soon to Become Law

The new bill for the regulation of licenses for engineers and firemen of stationary boilers is now taking its final passage through the senate and will be on the calendar for engrossment today or tomorrow.

Manufacturers in Lowell and other cities are very much interested in this new act and it is hoped that it will bring about a harmonious relation between manufacturers and their stationary engineers. The act is largely technical, but it gives the engineers what they have been contending for, the maintaining of a licensed engineer at all times in charge of the engine and boiler in all manufacturing establishments, and prohibits the employment of an unlicensed person as a time server. Everybody at the state house will be gratified when this act is at last on the governor's desk, which now seems likely to happen very soon.

hooves manufacturers employing 100 persons or more to provide "accommodations" for the treatment of and first aid to persons injured or taken ill on their premises. This was not exactly what the proponents of this act, the textile workers of Fall River and New Bedford wanted. They desired that the big factories should each have a regular emergency hospital room and they made their bill also particularly to include the small manufacturer employing as few as 25 persons. But the textile workers made their bill general to cover every manufacturer and that stirred up the shoemakers of Haverhill, Lynn and Brockton. Senator Wells of Haverhill carried the senate with him to the extent that the committee on social welfare to save the bill agreed to a compromise to substitute "accommodations" for "room or rooms" in the original bill and to increase the number of persons employed from 25 to "100." It was in that form that the bill was finally enacted without further opposition in the senate and the house agreed so that the law signed by the governor affects only manufacturers employing 100 persons or more and they, if they are required by the state board of labor and industries provide accommodations satisfactory to that board for the treatment of persons injured, or taken ill on the premises.

Another Good Law

Governor Walsh has also made law by his signature an act to provide that a justice of a police, municipal or district court may, upon the application of any employee, issue a summons to an employer to appear and show cause why a warrant should not be issued against him for a violation of the provision of the labor act of 1909, chapter 511, section 112, which requires the weekly payment of wages by every manufacturing, mining, quarrying, mercantile, street railway, telegraph or telephone corporation, incorporated express company and every contractor, person or partnership engaged in any manufacturing business or any of the building trades. The board of railroad commissioners (now public service commission) was given the right to exempt any railroad corporation from paying weekly wages. Upon the return of such summons and after a hearing the justice may issue a warrant upon the complaint of any such employee. The penalty for violating this section of the labor act is not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each offense.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for the woman who would be beautiful, says Hortense, depends on the daily habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise, will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food.

Those who have very little exercise should never eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

Walking is just as essential to health in warm weather as cold. Only do not walk too rapidly or too far. The early morning is decidedly the best time. The air is purer and more bracing and the sun not so hot.

To fatten a thin face, Hortense says if you have the time and money, go to a skillful masseuse and have her treat your face and use a good massage cream. Cleanse the face every night with a cleansing cream. Apply it to the face and throat with the tips of the fingers and wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then massage the face for ten minutes with a massage cream. In the morning dampen a portion of a towel with toilet water and wipe the face with it. Use no other water on the face. Take a hot tub bath daily, use good soap and scrub the entire body from the chin down to the toes.

If you can't secure a professional to treat your face, massage it yourself once a week. First use cleansing cream, then steam for ten minutes. Dry and massage gently but firmly. Wipe cream all off and use toilet water.

Large pores on the face skin are almost sure to result, thinks Hortense, if you wash your face in hot water and do not afterward dash it with cold water. If you do not take this precaution you are almost sure to have large pores as the hot water opens them up and if left open they will spread and fill up and become permanently large.

Another cure is to use a cleansing cream every night before retiring as the pores must be clean before they will reduce. In the morning bathe with moderately hot water, then apply the following lotion: Elderflower water, 6 ozs.; Eau de Cologne, 1-2 oz.; tincture benzoin, 1 dram; cucumber juice, 1 oz.

For those who wish to reduce Hortense advises that you take every opportunity to walk when you can. If it is a matter of several blocks, do not take a car even when it is possible. Take every opportunity to walk, but walk as if you really enjoyed it; put some energy into this exercise. Really make it an exercise.

Do not eat more than one starchy food at a meal, drink plenty of water, but between meals, and above all, eat enough to allay hunger, but stop there; do not continue as if you are never going to get another meal instead of one quite as heavy in another hour or five hours.

Another thing sleep with plenty of fresh circulating air in your sleeping room and if you are very stout do with just sufficient sleep, and above all omit the nap in the middle of the day.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights. Hortense made me, when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mental work must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air.

Walk until you are tired. Do not overdo this, however, for sometimes the body will be too tired to sleep. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. General baths should be warm.

Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not eat immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk, stirred slowly, will help you to overcome insomnia after the other suggestions have been followed.

Many women, says Hortense, particularly those who do their own work, find it very difficult to keep their hands white and soft. The main cure is persistent treatment. Use soaps that have no strong caustic or alkaline ingredients in them. Do not subject your hands to sudden changes in water.

Be sure to remove all stains of fruits, paints, and so on as you can. Take a little time each night to clean and soften the skin. Any good cold cream will do this. Hortense gives a recipe below that will help you. Put into a bottle 2 ozs. of glycerine, 2 ozs. water, 4 table-spoons lemon juice and a few drops of carbolic acid. Shake well. After washing and drying the hands, rub a little of the mixture into them.

FR. JOHNSON BETTER

PASTOR OF GATE OF HEAVEN CHURCH STRICKEN AS RESULT OF HARD WORK

BOSTON, May 3.—Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, who was hurried to St. Elizabeth's hospital Saturday night, supposed to be in a precarious condition, was last night much improved, according to the report of his friend, Dr. John R. Slattery, physician-in-chief of St. Elizabeth's.

As Fr. Johnson was completing his afternoon duties Saturday he became dizzy, and was assisted into the parochial residence and later sent to the hospital. Contrary to reports yesterday, it was not a shock but the climax of hard work. Rev. Fr. Johnson has had only one vacation in 30 years and that 10 years ago, when he went abroad to secure windows and ornate decorations for his new church.

One of the oldest priests of the diocese, Fr. Johnson is widely known, and in many churches yesterday there were prayers for his speedy recovery.

Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, is a native of this city, born and raised in St. Patrick's parish and a member of one of the oldest "Acce" families. He has a sister in this city and is a relative of Dr. S. J. Johnson and Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist.

A FINE CONCERT

Lowell Orchestral Society Yesterday at Colonial Hall

The third and final concert of the Lowell Orchestral Society for this season attracted a large audience yesterday afternoon to Colonial Hall, and should have attracted a larger one. It was an exceptionally fine musical event, reflecting serious preparation and general enthusiasm among the members. It demonstrated adequately that once again the Lowell Orchestral Society has reached a high point of excellence and may be depended upon to give occasional concerts to the Lowell public which will be well worthy of general patronage. Those who have not attended any of the recent concerts may accept the fact that in the Lowell Orchestral Society, Lowell has a musical aggregation actuated by the highest ideals and intelligently painstaking in the desire for first class concert presentation. Besides the orchestral music, vocal selections by Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert and violinello solos by

The opening overture "Egmont" was splendidly given. It is a very difficult composition and could have been interpreted so well only after long and tireless rehearsal under the direction of the director, Mr. Rudolphe Schiller. The general tone is gloomy and intense, permeated by a low and swelling rumble of the bass instruments, and this effect was well pictured within the limitations of the orchestra. The death of Egmont was feelingly indicated, followed by a gradual swelling tone of the full orchestra which pictured the patriotism and determination of the Netherlands to fight for freedom to the end. Strongly contrasted with this number was the Mozart symphony with its rapid change of moods. The tone was smooth and full, especially with the string instruments, and the melody was delicately indicated through the volume of the orchestration. The scenes from an imaginary ballet, by Coleridge Taylor, was interesting, although not so generally satisfactory as the selections preceding. The broken rhythm and uncertain continuity made the effect confusing at times, and there seemed more monotony of treatment than in other parts of the program. Yet, as an example of modern composition, the selection was very creditable. The "Dance of the Sylphs" from Berlioz was brief but very beautiful. The atmosphere of the piece was faithfully adhered to, and the subtle effects of the dance and the disappearance of the beautiful maidens were pictured with great effectiveness. There was a strange feeling in the biting waltz measure which ran in and out through the entire composition, and its sudden conclusion left a mood of expectancy in the listener. The "Dances from Henry VIII" by German were more direct in their appeal than any of the preceding numbers. They were not descriptive and were evidently intended to be dance measures. Full of life, gaiety and magnetism, they were strongly reminiscent of Irish folk dance tunes, some of the phrases suggesting passages in very common Irish and jigs. Yet it is a historical fact that Irish harpers and music were much sought at the courts of Elizabeth and Henry VIII, and so the music for the Morris and Shepherd's dances may have been historically correct in its Celtic note.

Throughout the concert Mr. Rudolphe Schiller had his orchestra in perfect control. As a conductor he was splendid, having no affectations, and simply attending to business without unnecessary tricks or mannerisms. His direct and illuminating manner showed where most of the credit for the concert is due.

Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert has sung many times in this city, but she never sang here in better voice. Yesterday her tones were full and fresh and she seemed to be equally at home in the upper and lower registers. The round, rich volume of her voice was controlled splendidly, and in the coloratura passages she showed fine mastery of technique. As if to give others the joy which seemed to thrill her, she sang for the most part songs of exalted moods. The opening song by Harriet Ware was beautifully sung, and "To the Moon" was given with appealing power. The Aida selection showed that Mme. Calvert is equal to the most exacting operatic selection, and the songs of spring which she sang in response to demands for encores were full of suggestion of the season. Her singing was a delight in every sense.

Frederick E. Mindt proved a genuine surprise in his mastery of the violinello. His touch was sure and subtle and he seemed to strive for the meaning of the composition rather than for mechanical perfection. The Scherzo was light and lovely, and the "Night" of Cruch was almost too lovely in its wailing tenderness. It pictured the night that hangs over Europe and was terribly like the cry of a sorrowing and desolate woman. Mr. Mindt was roundly applauded and gave a very effective encore.

Mr. Arthur C. Spaulding was the accompanist and he was equal to all demands. Whether in the full orchestration or with the soloists, his delicate touch, intelligent appreciation of values, and power of suggestion were felt. His influence added to that of Mr. Schiller will undoubtedly make the Lowell Orchestral Society a vehicle of the highest in musical education and entertainment.

Following were the members of the orchestra:

Letter No. 4 From the Turner Centre Creamery

We have been selling our pasteurized milk at retail in Lowell about a month. The trade is steadily growing. Everyone likes the milk. There is some complaint because we cannot get to everybody before breakfast time. We find it hard to convince prospective customers that our milk will keep over night and be as sweet and fresh as the milk delivered within 24 hours. We wish to say for breakfast as the milk we can give the best satisfaction to deliver at a time when you are up to receive it and take care of it. The milk will take more damage in an hour than the doorstep than it will in a day in an ice chest. It is pasteurized. It will keep sweet and fresh in your ice chest for at least 48 hours. It has no "sour" smell nor "off" taste. It is rich Jersey milk and it is SAFE.

KING OF SWEDEN

LONDON, May 3.—King Gustaf was operated on for ulceration of the stomach by Prof. John Wilhelm Berg, the celebrated Swedish surgeon. The operation lasted 75 minutes. It was said that the ulcer was more or less superficial in nature and showed no signs of being malignant. The king, after he had sufficiently recovered from the operation, went to Carlsbad to recuperate. A dispatch to the Central News from Stockholm says that the king is ill again, apparently with a recurrence of the trouble for which he underwent the operation.

CANADIANS LOST 6000

TWO BATTALIONS STOOD GROUND
WHEN GERMANS RETOOK ST.
JULIEN

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3.—Casualties among the Canadian contingent in the fighting at Ypres are now reported to have been nearly 6000. Of these, 2900 are reported missing, the missing being chiefly the 13th and 14th battalions of Montreal Highlanders, each 1000 strong.

It is stated that 700 officers and men were killed and 3000 wounded. The totals thus given would indicate that more than one-fourth of the 21,000 men in the division were put out of action.

The Canadian official eye-witness reported the two battalions of Highlanders left behind in the fighting at St. Julien.

"The German line" the eye-witness said, "rolled over the deserted village, but for several hours after the enemy had become master of the village and persistent rifle fire showed they were not yet master of the Canadian rear guard."

As Berlin reports a thousand Canadian prisoners, it is feared here that 1000 of these rear guards were killed before exhaustion of ammunition compelled the detachment to surrender.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

The Broadway Social and Athletic Club held its regular weekly meeting Sunday afternoon at its room on Broadway, with President McCann in the chair. Considerable business of importance was transacted. Two applications for membership were received and admitted. The dance committee made its final report. The newly elected officers of the club were duly installed after which a smoke talk and a very enjoyable program was carried out. It included: Remarks by President McCann; piano solos, Mr. Warnick; Charles Miner; songs by Mr. Clough; William Madlen, James Dowling and quartet selections by Andrew McCann, George Mullin, William Madlen, James O'Brien; duet, Sam Kegan and Frank Campbell. Mr. William Walsh had charge of the exercises.

SAVED BY U. S. CRUISER

BRITISH VESSEL'S $200,000 CARGO
ABOUT TO BE CONFISCATED
WHEN DENVER ARRIVED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 3.—With the British ship Cetina, captain detained ashore the vessel's $200,000 cargo would have been confiscated by the military authorities at Ensenada, Mexico, had it not been for defiance offered by the ship's first officer, J. A. Seaborg, of this city and the intervention of the United States cruiser Denver, according to Seaborg's story told here today of the Cetina's escape.

The vessel was towed into San Diego harbor by the Denver yesterday. Her bunkers were bare of coal and with neither food nor water aboard.

The Cetina sailed from Seattle for Ensenada and San Diego April 11, despite the fact that the Mexican customs officials had refused the steamer clearance papers.

When the vessel arrived at Ensenada, Captain Kerr, according to Seaborg, was taken ashore by Mexican soldiers, placed in detention and requested to sign a statement turning over the Cetina's cargo to the authorities.

Captain Kerr refused, Seaborg says, and a second squad of soldiers came aboard and took the ship's radio operator and purser ashore.

After this, according to Seaborg, a Mexican colonel boarded the Cetina and stated that he had received orders from the military commander of Lower California to unload the vessel's cargo.

Before the Mexican officer could return with more soldiers the cruiser Denver dove in sight.

Commander Ziegler of the Denver, after learning of the trouble, went ashore, conferred with Ensenada officials and succeeded in having the men and vessel released, Seaborg said.

"The Denver then passed us a line and towed us in."

SECTARIAN BILL SCORED

Card. O'Connell Talks Plainly to Convention of American Federation of Catholic Societies

BOSTON, May 2.—The severe scolding of the sectarian amendment, which has been before the present session of the legislature and the call upon all Catholics of the state to stand firm against the false Americanism which fathered it, were the chief features of the seventh annual convention of the Catholic Federation at St. Alphonsus hall, yesterday afternoon.

The cardinal was enthusiastically applauded when he declared that "if nothing else were accomplished, you have prevented the enactment of an amendment which would be as much a disgrace to Massachusetts as her Blue Laws."

He spoke at length on the amendment and said: "When all the mud and malice of these so-called Americans is stripped of their slander, the thing behind it all is simply selfishness and jealousy—the two greatest causes of all the evil in the world—the causes of the awful war which is now destroying Europe. Now once for all let me say that we are not deceived by your talk. We are not going to let you stir our people to an anger of retaliation which you well deserve. We are going to keep our good humor because we know that hundreds of thousands of our non-Catholic friends are thoroughly ashamed of this miserable attempt to weaken all the best forces of order and law. But you are not going to intimidate us for one minute."

Spite and Bitterness

"Now I am not going to talk about the men and measures behind such things. They are welcome to all their spite and bitterness—we want none of it. We are going to stand just where we are, for all that belongs to us—not a hair's breadth less will we take, and we want not a shade more. And all the threats and insults and abuse will only serve to show that as usual we are welcome to fight and work for this country, but are not supposed to ask for our legitimate rights."

"All this talk about our religion and the pope and the Vatican is merely a cloak. They are merely trying by this meaningless twaddle to cover up the real point—that they want everything, including what is ours, for themselves alone. You may work in their sewers or mills, but you must never even hope that your children will take the honorable share of civic life which you are earning for them by your loyalty to this country, your industry, and your willingness to share the dangers and burdens which entitle you to reward."

"If you think our people are asking for anything undue, argue with us, reason with us, but if you abuse us and the about us and attempt to browbeat us, you are wasting time and energy, and when you attempt to put all this vulgar, unjust and bitter bigotry fathered by the civil rights and misrepresentation on the basis of religion, why all I can say is you do not even yet know what religion is."

"I stand on this platform today simply as an American citizen. I was born here in Massachusetts. My family has fought for the preservation of the Union, and has suffered for the cause of freedom. And as an American citizen, I call upon all you men here to stand firm against this false Americanism, stand firm for your faith and your civil rights, and true Americans will stand with you."

No Discrimination

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, declared that the Catholics asked for no special consideration, but that they would tolerate no discrimination. The sectarian amendment was indignantly denounced. "It is as if to show a manifest fairness to all, but every word spoken by every advocate proved that it was aimed directly against Catholics in the express force that by our constantly increasing numbers we should some time obtain control of the state and then give to Catholic institutions the public funds which for a century had been given to Protestant institutions, stultifying themselves in the language of one of the eminent advocates by deploring the past. Massachusetts has once again vindicated religious freedom and has informed the world that intolerance must stop at her borders, and this commonwealth, beloved of Senator Hoar, has renewed her allegiance to his free land."

Frederick W. Mansfield stated that if the Catholics ever intended to seize the government it would have been at the outbreak of the Civil war when the army and government were in a demoralized state. "We believe in toleration. We concede it to them; we demand it for ourselves. This is not an attempt to meet bigotry with bigotry, for this great movement is far broader than that."

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, reported for the legislative committee. Charles E. Fay told of the work of the Common Cause society in combating the enemies of religion and of the social and industrial relations committee of the federation.

The federation elected this list of officers: President, Henry V. Cunningham; vice president, Jeremiah E. Burke of Dorchester; James J. Leuninger, Timothy W. Halsey of Cambridge; secretary, Charles T. Daly of West Medford; treasurer, Edwin Mulready of Rockland.

QUARREL ENDS IN SUICIDE

St. Johnsbury, Vt., May 2.—Following an altercation over religion, Miss Ida Smith, aged 30, daughter of Marshall Smith, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by taking poison.

She lived with her father and a brother and sister. About a year ago she joined the Seventh Day Adventists and since then the family has had trouble over religious matters.

Saturday she called her father to task for working on what she called her Sabbath and at the dinner table reminding her that her household work was being done in violation to his principles of keeping Sunday holy. Following a warm argument, Miss Smith entered the pantry and took the poison. Her family supposed she had taken something for a headache and learned her condition only when she called for help. She lived about an hour and a half.

PICKED UP BY TUG

Steamer Vance Was Rudderless and Otherwise Damaged

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—While drifting rudderless and otherwise damaged by the storm, which for three days raged along the coast the steamer Edward H. Vance has been picked up by a tug, according to wireless information published today and is now being towed back to the city. She was found 150 miles off Santa Cruz, California.

During the height of the storm Friday the Vance's deckload of lumber was carried away. That evening she lost her tow, the Norwegian ship Agni, and because of the storm was unable to put lines aboard the ship again. No fears are expressed for the Agni, as it is thought she will be able to make her way under sail without trouble. Other vessels delayed by the storm are safe in port.

JAS. F. HUDSON DEAD

WAS PRINCIPAL EDITORIAL WRITER OF PITTSBURGH DESPATCH FOR 33 YEARS

PITTSBURGH, May 2.—James F. Hudson, for 33 years the principal editorial writer of the Pittsburgh Despatch and the author of a number of works on economic subjects, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Benavon, a suburb yesterday. Mr. Hudson was 69 years old.

Going to the Exposition? Don't Miss Colorado Scenery

No one can be indifferent to the beauty and grandeur of the Colorado Rocky Mountain scenery, and visitors to the California Expositions should make a point of seeing it. Also Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City.

Now there's no extra charge for all this if you go via the Burlington Route (C. & N. G.) because it so happens that through service of that line has been planned so that you pass all of these points by daylight, and you can view from the train a panorama of mountain scenery that is as celebrated as any in the world.

Surely on your way you will not miss this opportunity and I would like to send you free, some pictures, maps and a booklet of the Colorado wonders, but also of Glacier Park or Yellowstone Park which, by all means, you should visit on the return trip. Please make use of nearest me help plan the trip for you. Call on or write

TO COMBAT DIVORCE EVIL

CONSTITUTION APPROVED BY CATHOLIC LAWYERS WILL BE SENT TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL

BOSTON, May 2.—A number of lawyers of Greater Boston recently attended a meeting called by Frederick W. Mansfield and have organized a Catholic lawyers' league, the purpose of which will be to "combat the divorce evil." A constitution was constructed and will be sent to Cardinal O'Connell for his approval.

The organization of this league has been aided by Mr. Mansfield, for a long time, and it was his intention, he said, yesterday, to have it known as the Massachusetts Catholic Lawyers' League, but upon the recent receipt of a letter from a lawyer in France, the name of the state was dropped.

Mr. Mansfield stated that the French lawyer wrote that he had seen mention of the project in a newspaper from this country, and asked that he be allowed to join such an organization, if possible. In his country he had been opposing divorce for years, he stated. The league members will take on cases dealing with divorce, except those in opposition to such action. "It is my hope that this league will eventually become a worldwide organization," said Mr. Mansfield.

KILLED BY AUTOS NOT A CANDIDATE

Brockton Boy and Fall River Girl Victims of Auto Accidents

FALL RIVER, May 3.—A seven-passenger touring car, owned and operated by Manuel B. Payao, a sausage manufacturer of 114 Ballard street, was wrecked when it crashed into a tree in South Somerset yesterday afternoon, and his 12-year-old daughter Mary was killed. She was thrown from the machine over a stone wall into a field.

Besides the father and daughter in the machine were the mother and six other children, whose ages range from 2 to 10 years. After crashing into the tree the automobile struck a telegraph pole and turned turtle. The father, mother and several of the children were pinned under the car.

The father, who sustained three fractured ribs and two very bad scalp wounds, is in a critical condition at the City hospital. Mrs. Payao sustained an injury to her spine and an ugly wound on the left leg. She is also at the City hospital. The other children were cut and bruised, but not badly hurt.

Mary, the child who was killed, was sitting beside her father and she lived only 15 minutes after she was pitched from the machine.

Bird Decides to Remain Out, He Informs Ex-Governor Foss.

BOSTON, May 3.—Charles S. Bird of Walpole will not be a progressive-republican candidate for governor in the next primary election. He has written a letter to ex-Gov. Eugene Foss in which he says that after giving the suggestion careful consideration he has decided to remain out of the contest. Mr. Bird gives his reasons in the following letter:

"April 30, 1915.

"Dear Mr. Foss—I have read your letter in which you ask me to become a progressive-republican candidate for governor in the next primary election.

"To your suggestion and to others of the same nature that I have received during the past few months I have given careful consideration and I have decided that I shall not be a candidate.

"There are many personal reasons why I should not, which I would only disregard if there were some very strong public duty calling me, and I do not feel that there exists any such duty. Whenever such a duty exists I shall be the first to do my share in the fight. Yours very truly,

"Charles S. Bird."

LITTLEFIELD DEAD

Former Congressman From Maine Passed Away in N. Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, May 3.—Charles Edgerton Littlefield, former congressman from Maine, who had lived in New York since he resigned from Congress in 1908, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the Postgraduate hospital from an embolism following an operation performed about ten days ago.

Mr. Littlefield was elected to Congress June 13, 1899, to fill out the unexpired term of Nelson Dingley, author of the Dingley tariff, who had died in office. He was an insurgent by temperament—not a radical insurgent, such as those who broke away later when the Payne-Aldrich tariff was up for passage, but an insurgent according to his own views. His first speech was made in the case of the execution of the house of Brigham H. Roberts, the polygamist elected to a seat from Utah, and he took the unpopular side.

Then the republican organization put through its bill for a tariff with Porto Rico, and again Littlefield was an insurgent. He disagreed with the party's policy on the Cuban reciprocity bill, and by this time he was known as a man chronically unsubmitting to orders from the machine, who, nevertheless, was making his own way and winning his own reputation. His district re-elected him to the 55th, 56th, 59th and 60th congresses, and he soon acquired a wide reputation through the vigor of his oratory and his firmness in standing out for his own views.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

With a speed that will startle audiences Hugo Jansen, gown designer, formerly of the Rue de la Paix, Paris, will demonstrate at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, just how he can create a new dress. He will use three live models—mannequins they call them in Paris—and three distinct dresses will be fitted on each one of them. No scissors will be used, only a few pins. While this is the piece de resistance of "The Fashion Shop," a musical comedy, there will be other features which call for special mention.

Among these additional features are Blanche Latell, a wonderfully clever character comedienne, who, for the season, was in a leading part in "Naughty Marietta," and Earl Carr, who is called the "Broadway Rube." Miss Latell will play the part of "Naughty," the daughter of the hayseed who goes to the style show, and who at once wants to emulate the splendidly clad mannequins.

Mr. Carr will play the part of "Conchito," the retiring farmer who feels himself suddenly spurred on to learn more about modern dressing. And then there will be singing and dancing, and special lighting and scenic effects.

But, as aforesaid, the big feature of the act, and the absolute novelty, will be the dressing of the "mannequins." And in this work Hugo Jansen presents something which has never before found its way onto the stage.

Jansen was not an actor when he broke out. He was a designer of gowns, with an excellent clientele, in Paris. But stern warfare and gown designing are, somehow, incompatible, and so he left a very avenue of profit shut to him. Being a Dane he was not forced to enlist in the French army, and so came to America. His style shows have been not uncommon things in America, but they have been run purely as such, and not in conjunction with a theatrical performance. But Jansen knew that musical comedy and stage shows have run very much to elaborate dressing, in recent years, and so he devised the plan of designing on the stage. Although he was forced to design a gown in two minutes, this act is in a class quite by itself, and so he has played it hundreds of times. Women have invariably turned out to see the gown designing exhibition.

Miss Ethel Sharrow will receive a splendid reception here, during the week. Very well known here, and with a wide circle of friends, she is sure of creating considerable of an impression as one of the "Fashions of the Future." An act which has no parallel on the stage. Five young women, all accomplished players of the violin, play imitatively, and in that sort of way, the women of different nations, they invariably score a distinct hit. The five young women are: Misses Sharrow, Valela, Lewis, Glover and Anderson.

"The Fixer," is the title of a whimsical comedy to be played by Marion Buell & Co., and Miss Valela, the versatile actress, will make a distinct addition to the bill. Other acts on the bill are: Hilton & Roberts, singing and dancing; "The Musical Chef," and the Hearst-Settle News Pictorial. Good seats may be obtained in advance. Phone 2-1111.

Beginning Monday, May 10, the theatre will be devoted to a summer run of moving pictures of the highest possible grade. For the entire first week Marie Dressler, the famous character actress, will appear in "The Ragged Dicks," in six parts, the biggest film comedy ever produced. On the following week, for the first three days, Andrew Mack, in "The Ragged Dick," will be the feature, and for the last half "The Heart of Maryland," with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the leading role. Other, and shorter, pictures will also be shown. The prices will be 5, 10 and 15 cents.

THE OWL THEATRE

Leo Tolstol, the author, Herbert Theda, the producer, Nance O'Neil, Brenda Bara and William Shay, the performers, a marvelous combination, and "Kreutzer Sonata," the production, is all that could be expected for a motion picture play. This William Shay production will run for the first time in Lowell today and tomorrow at well known Owl theatre, New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and all the big centres of amusement. The charged enormous prices to see this particular play. Again be it remembered that Lowell can view the same attractions all will need her pet actress, Nance O'Neil, with open arms. She is known from coast to coast. A tragedienne with wonderful ability, her first picture appearance will give the pale attraction the current picture season. Of course, the Owl theatre does not go in much for frills, but for downright good shows they cannot beat this enterprise. It is proved daily, at all times of the year. In "Kreutzer Sonata," Count Leo Tolstol has written a wonderfully compelling story of the heart interest about the life of the heroine, Miriam, a young Russian girl. Through an unfortunate love affair Miriam is threatened with a scandalous marriage to a man named Gregor. Her father induces Gregor, a struggling musician, to marry her, for a money consideration. The couple go to America, where they are later loved by Miriam, including including her sister, between Celia and Gregor a clandestine love affair develops. Despite their secrecy the wife discovers the truth, and torn between love of her little boy and outraged pride she confronts her wicked husband and unnatural sister. Her revillings and the denunciation of her father are alike unavailing, and at last, driven to desperation, she takes vengeance into her own hands, and a play of unusual strength is ended in a most unexpected manner. Shouva Theda Bara plays the sister with that peculiar fascinating style all her very own. William Shay is the husband and a wonderful cast plays the lesser parts. Five other photoplays will complete a great program.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

"The Rose of the Rancho," with Bessie Bariselle, showing at the Academy of Music today, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a pictorialization of a powerful story of California about the year 1850.

when the government at Washington issued the order regarding the regulation of all ranch properties. Life in the far west at that period is beautifully portrayed in five wonderful reels and the settings and costumes are most picturesque. There are many tensely thrilling situations. Bessie Bariselle, who appears in the leading role, is a photo-play actress who occupies a very high position in the favor of the theatre-goers of the country. "The Black Box" will be shown, the episode, comprising two thrilling reels, and there will be other dramas and a good comedy.

THE JEWEL THEATRE

The cool and comfortable Jewel theatre will offer a program of pictures to-day and tomorrow, featuring four stars.

actors, Ben Wilson in "The Ladder of Fortune," Francis Ford and Anna Little in "The Outcast," a western play; Rosemary Dwyer, an ex-Villagraph star, in "Saved by a Dream." Other pictures will also be shown. To those who are suspicious or sceptical, we say, "Come to one of the performances." It is a well known fact in the world of motion pictures, that the Universal corporation is the biggest company in the states, and every picture shown at the Jewel is booked direct from their many studios. These pictures are always absolutely first shown in Lowell, and the roster of star actors employed by that company is a surprising one. Bowling in the Jewel basement. Come in and try the alleys.

OUR TRADE FUTURE

Even though one does not believe that the war is largely the result of trade rivalries between the leading nations of Europe, everybody knows that there are trade rivalries between countries as between competitors in any one nation. This was so before the war; it is not forgotten during the war; it will be so still more strongly when the war is over. At present German commerce is crippled, and English commerce is partly impeded in its struggle to end the war with victory for the allies. American commerce is also to some extent hampered by our inability to reach certain European markets and our shameful lack of shipping facilities.

While the war rages in all its terrible intensity, it is difficult for American business to realize that when it is over, we may be trade rivals with the victors. There is nothing in the prospect to alarm us in a political sense, but there is every inducement in it to prepare for trade rivalry in a thorough business sense. All are agreed that the ending of war will afford American farmers and manufacturers a wonderful opportunity for trade expansion, but few give prominence to the point that we will have to meet the active and able rivalry of other nations, as never before.

It is, therefore, most essential that our domestic policies be such as to afford every aid to business and that we take immediate steps to restore the American merchant marine. Already certain interests are busily striving to stir up agitations concerning the tariff, in order to influence the presidential election and the various state elections, but these interests might be more profitably striving for harmony and cooperation between the government and business. Should the next elections be carried on the tariff issue and followed by another congressional revision, business will be called upon to adjust itself to changed conditions when it ought to be left free to work for trade and commercial expansion in the markets of the world. Any great tariff change is followed by a temporary disorganization, and a coming tariff revision would prevent the expansion that should follow peace as the lack of ships prevented our taking full advantage of the war opportunities.

It should be, therefore, the aim and object of all our business and political leaders to work for a federal tariff commission which would take the tariff out of politics so far as possible, and the restoration of American shipping. Many of the leading papers of the country of all parties are seeing the matter in its true light and are issuing warnings to the political leaders against any policy that would hamper American trade when it ought to be helped.

American trade and commerce will not be helped by any political or partisan tariff revision or any political or partisan action in regard to the rehabilitation of our transportation. President Wilson pleaded for the elimination of party lines when proposing the administration shipping bill, but his plea was unheeded, and so the bill was killed by political opposition. The spirit that actuated those who opposed him and his policy is a dangerous spirit, wholly out of keeping with present necessities, and the future of American trade, at home and abroad demands the handling of tariff questions by a tariff commission and the restoration of the American merchant marine, whether under private or public ownership. Our commercial place in the markets of the world demands cooperation between all parties to this desirable end.

THE TAXATION QUESTION

It is pointed out by those who are now agitating for the reform of our taxation system that it is wholly out of date, being merely the survival of a system of taxation designed to meet different conditions. Since colonial times, property in Massachusetts has been taxed in accordance with the general property tax. One of chief characteristics of this tax is that all kinds and classes of property, whatever their nature may be, are assessed at their full value, and are taxed at a uniform rate. This rate applies to all classes of property in the same taxing district, or in the same municipality.

Many of the most progressive states have abandoned the general property tax or have so amended it as to make it workable under modern conditions. Rhode Island has a flat tax of four mills on the dollar upon intangibles; in Connecticut stocks of corporations are exempt and credits may be registered with the state treasurer and may pay a tax amounting to four mills on the dollar, the payment of which precludes all other taxation; in New Hampshire stocks of corporations are exempt; Maine has amended its constitution to permit of tax reforms and is now considering bills to the same end. In New York stocks are exempt, and bonds may be exempt upon the payment of an inconsiderable tax. All of these states have early seen the advantage of removing the burden of unfair taxation, and as a result they annually attract much business from Massachusetts.

It is not business alone which is moving out of the state. Many persons who are finding it more difficult than formerly to conceal property leave for other states every year. The tax commissioner is frank in his criticism of the law, but his department also pertinently urges that it be enforced. Last year the tax department was given a right to examine under oath any person having knowledge of the estate of a deceased person. This year a bill was favorably reported which provides for the compulsory return of personal property under heavy penalties, and a second bill which would compel companies to make a return of their bond holders to the state. With the general publicity that is now attendant on the ownership or holding of property, it is difficult for people to hide their securities and to escape the assessors, and instead they move out of the state in large numbers. Thus, any attempt to enforce the present law only makes the taxation system of Massachusetts more inadequate and injurious to the best interests of the state.

The Massachusetts Tax association openly declares that the present system opposes the poor more than the rich—not proportionally but directly. Those who have money invested in intangibles may either unjustly escape just taxation or may move out of the state, but the burden will fall all the heavier on the owner of the homes or the lesser owners of real estate. Even the tenant must pay it in higher rents.

The tax association declares: "The investor finds no real difficulty beyond inconvenience in shifting this load. He simply does not stay here to build houses and factories and run them. He goes away with his investments. It is harder to get money for those who stay. It is harder to get people to build now. It is harder to get a job. The states around Massachusetts know this. They have passed laws which make it easy for our wealth to go to them."

The justice of the points raised by Governor Walsh and those who support his views cannot be denied. Taxation reform is imperative, and it should be attended to without delay. Even those who, for selfish reasons, might be expected to block corrective legislation now favor a change in the taxation system, and the problems are, in some aspects, the most weighty before the commonwealth today. The progress of the state and all its communities depends in great measure upon the wisdom with which the system of taxation shall be amended so as to provide a method just alike to the state, the corporation and the individual, one that will remove the injustice that drives business from Massachusetts into other states.

ECHOES OF F-4 DISASTER

The recent publication by Secretary Daniels of the expert report on the condition of the sunken submarine F-4 vindicates him absolutely and shows how grossly unfair was the accusation of former Secretary Meyer, who unfeelingly intimated that the loss of the ship and the death of its crew were due to Mr. Daniels. It was an unjustifiable accusation indeed which no fair-minded American would believe on reflection, and its refutation is most acceptable. It remains for Mr. Meyer to make a fair apology, and even Mr. Gardner might pause from his military activities long enough to state that in this, at least, the secretary of the navy is blameless.

There are other developments, however, which suggest timely thoughts. It is now certain that sooner or later the submarine will be raised with its devoted crew. For a time it looked as though the F-4 would be their coffin until the sea gives up its dead. It is a melancholy satisfaction to know that they will be buried with the naval honors which are their due.

A recent issue of the Scientific American declares that the American government has never taken adequate measures to raise a sunken submarine in time to save the lives of the men imprisoned. This is also the case with most foreign governments. Within the past few years about a score of submarines have gone to the bottom at times of peace, carrying over three hundred to their death, and no nation with the exception of Germany has taken adequate measures to save the men so tragically imprisoned. The Germans, however, have proved that the sunken submarine is not necessarily a death trap, and this country should take immediate steps to provide for the salvage of any such vessels that might go the way of the F-4 in future.

The Scientific American gives a detailed description of the German lifting craft and says that one similar might be secured by this government and every other government which operates submarines. If it be possible to secure such a rescue machine, the American people will approve of any expenditure that would prevent the brave crew of any submarine sharing the sad fate of the crew of the F-4.

FOR DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

The only silver lining that may be seen in the war cloud that now hangs so darkly over the world is the probability that when it has passed the people of all nations will demand more democratic government. At present all of the respective peoples stand solidly behind their rulers, but had the will of the people prevailed in the principal European countries, it is doubtful if the war would have broken out. The emperors, dictators and despots make war without consulting the people, but when the horrors of war are understood, no people would invite them unless as a last resort. In a real sense, none of the nations now battling can win as much as they will lose, for war is essentially destructive, and its burden will be felt for years among the nations of the winning side as well as among those that will suffer defeat.

Nations, like individuals, get into certain ruts, but a war such as we are now seeing in all its harrowing miseries wakes the peoples from their lethargy and shows that the entire human race has rights which are greater than the rights of individual nations. It ought not to be possible for any ruler or despot to plunge the world in a war that will result in the death of millions and untold sufferings, and there is every probability that when sanity again returns, the power of the rulers will be so curtailed that for the future the masses of the people of all the nations will determine whether they want war or not. Words are ineffectual to describe the tragedy of willing multitudes who go so cheerfully to the slaughter of war brought about largely by the ambitions of one man. The return of peace ought to mean the establishment of democratic government in all the nations that have felt the blighting horrors of war's devastation.

NOW FOR CLEAN-UP

The official proclamation from city hall declares that the week of May 3 has been set apart for a concerted effort to clean up Lowell in every possible way. The city is ready to take one of the increased responsibilities, and nothing is needed but a hearty will to cooperate in everything that will make Lowell cleaner, healthier and more beautiful. It is to be hoped that the city authorities will give good example by cleaning the streets, alleys and other public places, and that each citizen will do something to make the aggregate praiseworthy. Every householder and property owner can find something to remedy. Now then for a concerted attack on civic uncleanness. Look over the attic, the cellar, the halls, the yards, the lawns, the garden plot, everything inside and outside. All together in an effort to make Lowell so bright and shiny that it will smile with joy at its fair reflection in the Merrimack river!

It is a matter for gratification that the differences between the railroad officials at Springfield and the trolleyman promise a settlement without a strike. A strike in any industrial difference at this time should be regarded as desirable only in the most extreme necessity, as unemployment is passing and labor as well as capital is recovering from a period of depression. Let us have peace and prosperity if at all possible, and let us have arbitration instead of strikes.

It ought not to be difficult for the board of trade to secure the $2,000 needed for the proper celebration of Lowell Day. Such an amount would come back with interest to the merchants of the city, and it would entail only small contributions from individuals and firms. The opening of the white way gives the city a very unique opportunity to attract patronage for many miles surrounding.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is hard for some people to keep straight and make both ends meet.

"Are you the editor of the paper?" asked the lady with the drab slacks, calling.

"I am," replied the man with the pointed pencil.

"Well, I called to ask you if you wouldn't get larger type. My head was in your paper five times last week and a neighbor of mine told me she never saw it!"—Yonkers Statesman.

NOT A "COWARD"

The supreme court of Illinois, in Auker vs. the People of Illinois, 31, 111, held that the following was not a challenge to fight a duel, but seemed, rather, to invite one:

"We, it appears, as a life is your favorite of settling fuses and it so be the case you can consider that it will suit me you are a coward and dastard to except of my offer, I want the same chance of sharpening my knife you can set your day and I will be on hand."

... come up like a man chase your man, an I will chase mine. This thing must be settled and not a coward."—Chicago Tribune.

ONE OF LOWELL'S CENSUS TAKERS IS A JOKER

He can't help it—it is a habit. The other day he stopped at a house in never ending procession of the city—and the party responding to the doorbell, after answering his questions readily and intelligently, told him that the ancestors of the family had come over in the Mayflower. "What was the matter—did they miss the first boat?" said the "taker" as he slid down the steps and quick-footed it to the next house where, to the question, "How many males are there in your family?" he received the astonishingly intelligent reply: "Two. One in the forenoon and one in the afternoon."

GOING DOWN

The Missouri pastor looked over his glasses and shook his head. "Crying out my original declaration," he said, "I am about to call the names of those persons who are now asleep in this congregation. John Stackpole."

There was no response.

John Stackpole.

The fat man in the second pew stirred.

GOOD FOR CHILDREN

As true Spring tonic and pure blood-making food for growing children, Scott's Emulsion has distinguished itself with the medical profession because it is pure, mild and non-alcoholic. Every child has it. Good substitutes.

HIT WITH A "BRICK"

A woman interested in charity work was accustomed each day to pass by the door of a Chinese laundry where there were employed two Chinese. Each time she passed the charity worker would stop for an instant and speak to the boss.

"Hello John," he would call out, to which salutation the Celestial would reply, "Hello lady."

One day she saw only one Chinese man where there had been two, and she asked: "Where is the other, John?"

"Him in hospital," said the laundryman. "Christian gentleman struck him in the head with a brick."

BACK TO THE OLDEN DAYS

I told the sweetheart woman, with tresses auburn bright, "As if this world, to show his love, had been made for all they're saying, and whirling on so fast."

It hasn't time to listen to the music of the Past.

POSITIVE RELIEF FOR CONSTIPATION

The progress of modern medical science is, perhaps, no more fully evident than in the simplifying of many of the old time remedies of past generations. For instance, the harsh cathartics and violent purgatives used by our forefathers to relieve constipation are now known to be not only unnecessary but really harmful. Constipation can be more effectively relieved without the discomfort and pain these old-time remedies occasion.

Pastor at St. Anne's

In the communion service at the First Baptist church, Sunday, the hand of fellowship was given to eleven new members. Rev. A. C. Archibald, pastor of the church, preached morning and evening and at the close of the evening sermon two persons were baptized.

In the evening, Mr. Archibald preached on the 21st verse of the 12th chapter of John, "Sirs, we would see Jesus."

"We need," said the preacher, "not only the salvation of Jesus but we need His life and His example. Our standard in all the ways of life should be: 'What would Jesus do?'" This question will help us decide right all the problems that come before us. Would Jesus go to a Sunday school? Would He play golf on Sunday? Would He stand at a public bar and take a social glass? Would He compromise on any moral question for temporary advantage?

We need imitation of the spirit of Jesus—of love as given in First Corinthians, 13th chapter. This gives the pattern of the perfect gentleman and the perfect lady. There is nothing that injures our churches and our church members more than a hasty temper. Love is not easily provoked. "By the example of Jesus to show us how to do Christian work. Let us share in this work, that we may share in His glory and power."

St. Anne's Church

Rev. Wm. H. van Allen, D. D., rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston, preached Sunday evening in St. Anne's church. His text was from Peter, fifth chapter, verse 10: "Whom resist steadfast in the faith."

After pointing out the plain, fundamental teaching of Christ as essential to the Christian life, he said: "In these essentials, the preacher said: 'Opinions and speculations come and go, and are matters of indifference. But if only we remain steadfast in the faith. There are people who say that there are other true teachers, Zoroaster, Confucius, Mr. Eddy, the Fox and the Quakers. But Jesus, the Son of God, is the only true teacher. He has many others with fancy names, and they think they must try all if they are going to be the fifth century people, and see how their lives turn out. It is like a person who has something wrong and does not know what it is, and instead of attending to the matter of his body, he gets into all sorts of medicine up on his shelf, and loses himself with them all. Beyond the fundamentally essential truths of religion, he gets into a room for the widest divergence in the world.'"

Highland Congregational

"Thoughtful Ground is Defenseless," was Rev. Chalmers B. Dyke's sermon subject at the Highland Congregational church Sunday morning. He said that a person must be either for God or against God. There is no half way mark.

The Junior U. S. C. E. met in the afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Pearl E. Ely as leader. The senior society met at 4 o'clock and discussed the topic, "Joys of the Christian Life."

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

If your vegetables or preserves scorch while cooking, says Cook, remove the kettle from the fire at once and set in a pan of cold water letting it remain there for ten or fifteen minutes; at the end of that time you will find the scorched taste has entirely vanished from the food, leaving it as nice as before.

Should a cake be burned on the outside through careless baking scrape the black parts very carefully and brush over with beaten white of egg. Then dust with castor sugar and put the cake back into the oven for five minutes when all signs of burn will have disappeared.

To prevent milk or food cooked in milk from scorching, rinse the sauce pan out in cold water and rub over with a little fresh butter or lard. If the sinews are removed from the legs when a fowl is drawn the meat of the leg will be as good as that of the second joint.

Cook contributes some moth preventives which she is sure will be welcome, just now. When storing clothing in the summer sprinkle whole cloves among the articles instead of moth-balls. This will keep the moths away and the odor is far from disagreeable.

To drive moths away, get some rock sulphur or brimstone from a druggist, and place small lumps among the things put away, after well brushing them. It will leave no smell or mark of any sort, and no moth will go near the box or drawer where brimstone is placed.

To prevent moths attacking furniture while away on holiday, soak pieces of cotton wool in turpentine and stuff into the corners of chairs and sofas.

Kerosene is a very necessary household accessory, says Cook. It will remove dyestuffs from brass. Apply with a flannel rag. It will remove fresh ink and paint stains. Added to cold soap suds it will remove blood stains. A spoonful added to boiled starch prevents its sticking. A soft cloth moistened with kerosene cleans the porcelain bathtub like magic.

Rub a mop moistened with kerosene over the hardwood or painted floor. Takes up all the dust and leaves a pleasant looking polish. It will take out grease or tar spots if put on while spot is fresh. Wash out in cold water, using no soap. A little kerosene added to water in which windows are to be washed makes them clear and easy to polish. Washing floors and windows with kerosene improves their looks.

The odor of kerosene keeps away flies, mosquitoes and moths. Applied frequently to wooden beds will keep away possible bugs. Applied about sink and waste pipes will keep away cockroaches and other bugs. It removes rust from the stove. It removes vaseline stains. To remove stain of kerosene, cover with oatmeal or corn meal. Leave it alone for two days. Brush well.

Cook says that red ink placed in rinsing water will keep the color in pink gingham. If you wash silk stockings after each wearing they will last much longer. A faded dress can be made white by washing it in boiling cream of tartar water.

After washing a white knitted jersey, put it on a coathanger to dry and hang it on a line in the air. It will keep a better shape than if pegged on the line.

The way to avoid wasting starch is simple, says Cook. Let the starch settle, pour off the water and dry the starch in a warm oven. It will form into a hard cake and you can use it again. To prevent the iron from sticking and to get a beautiful gloss to linen, add just a little soap to your starch.

Cook says when running dapples, figs or raisins through a food chopper, if a few drops of lemon juice are added it will prevent the fruit from clogging the chopper.

When pouring hot drinks into a thin glass, if a silver spoon is placed in the glass first it will prevent it from cracking. Melt broken crockery with white lead, putting a little on each piece and press together and let it stand for some time. Hot water will not affect it.

Blocks of camphor dispersed in all corners of damp rooms in a new house will effectively banish damp in a very short time, even when fires have proved ineffectual. They should be simply laid on paper, or on the bare shelves of a damp room or linen closet. The blocks gradually decrease in size, and when they finally disappear should be replaced until their purpose is served.

Pasteurized food, says Cook, is the best preventive of the dreaded summer complaint. If you cannot afford to buy the regulation pasteurizer, which will cost you three dollars or a trifle less, use this method: Fill jars or bottles with the milk or milk diluted with water or gruel, whatever formula you use in feeding the baby, and fasten the corks or lids tight.

Set the bottles into a deep pot of cold water, and bring the latter to the boiling point as rapidly as possible. Lift the pot from the stove and allow the bottles to remain in the water for twenty minutes.

Then set them in the sink and turn first warm and then cold water over them, making the change gradually. As soon as they are cool, set them on the ice until baby is to be fed and reheat the milk until it is just lukewarm.

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

MAKING A CAMISOLE

"Marie, do you know what a camisole is?" asked Marjorie with a puzzled expression as she walked slowly and abstractly into her aunt's house one morning. "Some of the girls were discussing camisoles the other day but aside from the fact that it is a lingerie of some kind I haven't the remotest idea what it is—but I want one."

"Why," answered Marie, "a camisole is no more or less than a corset cover of a unique shape; just the thing to wear now that the absolutely plain undershirt is in favor."

"The camisole is a yard long strip of sheer linen or lawn, hand-hemmed at the lower edge, embroidery or lace inserted across the upper edge, seamed at the middle of the back, and, of course, drawn on over the head."

"It is kept in place by ribbon streamers that are knotted on the tops of the shoulders and if these ribbon shoulder loops or arm-eyes are of the washable kind, they need not be removed before the garment goes to the laundress."

"Usually the camisole, while wide enough to be readily drawn on over the head and shoulders, fits almost smoothly over the bust and across the back, but if it is made of a very thin fabric like net, shadow lace or chiffon cloth, it would best be so wide that its fullness above the bust must needs be drawn in by a ribbon run through a beading at the top edge.

"This is nearly always done when a narrow edging finishes the top, for when drawn up, it will form a scant little rilling pretty definitely the lower limit of the square-cut neck."

"Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, but gradually widens until it reaches the base of the hips, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back."

"As this camisole fits closely over the bust, it can only be put on by undoing the placket which buttons half way down its back."

"The camisole will stand elaborate trimming and usually has a broad band of lace insertion or hand-embroidery edged with a fine frilling about the scalloped lower edge as well as outlining its square-shaped neck and entirely forming its arm-eye shoulder-straps."

"Surely, I must have one now," said Marjorie delightedly. "I can make one easily myself, Marie, can't I?"

"And you will find it a very pretty and useful addition to your wardrobe."

PRACTICAL TAILORED SUIT REQUISITE
FOR LADY'S COMPLETE WARDROBELATEST SKIRTS
New Style Cut to Form
Points at Lower Edges
—Four in All

Perhaps the newest and most interesting feature in the very full skirts that are cut uneven or to form points at their lower edges. They are not essentially practical for one can hardly think of applying them to anything but the exceptional costume and it is hardly probable that they will come into anything like general use, but they are interesting and smart and certainly a departure. A very beautiful gown that has just been unpacked, is made of faded shades of blue that is not quite so dark as navy. The skirt is cut in nine gores that flare most generously at their lower edge but are by no means narrow at the belt for at that point the skirt is gathered. Each gore is shaped to be longer at the edges than at the center and while the difference is not great, it gives a very novel line, the shape of each gore being put unlike that of an umbrella section. At the seams are sewed little drop ornaments and as a matter of course, the skirt is short. The shaped edge also means that the under side is apparent as the wearer walks, consequently the skirt is faced with white satin and the lower edges of this facing are finished with silver braid approximately one inch in width. The notice illustrates the tendency toward simplicity and reserve in trimming and at the same time gives evidence of the resourcefulness with which these simple models are relieved of over-severity. It is cut out at the front in the form of a rectangle and at the back it is surplused and the surplus ends are extended to form a rash. The gimp is of white satin with a high stock collar and two rows of tiny white satin buttons down the front outlining the edge of the bodice and on the white satin is a row of silver braid. The closing is made at the front where the edges are laced together with a silk lacing of brilliant cardinal red and in this touch of bright color, the artist's hand is felt. A dinner costume somewhat more elaborate than the preceding one but also suggesting the skirt that is shaped at the lower edge is made of two-toned taffeta and to obtain the peculiar shade, the wool is dull blue and the warp is a shade of rose. The skirt is cut to form four rather deep points, two at each side of the front and two at each side of the back. It is wide and much flared and on the lower edge is a gathered ruffle about three inches in width of the silk which is fringed out in a way to show the rose-colored edge and on the under side of the skirt is a soft deep puff of the rose-colored silk caught here and there with bunches of roses. The deep bodice portion shows a glimpse of white lace and there is an oddly shaped silk portion drawn up over the gimp at the lower edge which is finished with a tiny little fringed-out ruffle and there are also over-sleeves of the silk that extend from the wrists to about the elbows, only the lace appearing above.

An exceedingly handsome coat suit of taffeta adapted to afternoon visits and the like is made of striped silk, blue with dull rich coloring in contrast combined with plain blue. The skirt is wide and circular but is cut shorter at the front to drop at the sides, back and at the front to reveal an under skirt of black satin for a depth of four or five inches. There is a bodice of the striped silk trimmed with the plain with a chemise of fine lace and there is also a fancy trimming of the striped material. It makes an exceedingly beautiful costume, one because of the shaping of the skirt. While it is not at all likely that such a feature will be taken up for the costume of general wear, it undoubtedly will appear on those of more exceptional use and when well handled, it assuredly possesses a charm of its own.

For the most suits, plaited skirts and skirts of circular shaping have great vogue. A new one that has special value because of the use of the colors, is made of canvas cloth in a rich deep blue. The skirt is laid in a succession of rather narrow box-plaits and over each plait there is a little trimming of black braid to about yoke depth.

If there is nothing radically new to chronicle since the Paris openings there are a great many developments that are of interest and there are tendencies that it may be well to discuss, while details of the fashionable toilette are such that they may be either brilliantly successful or create a hopeless failure as they are selected with wisdom or without. Short, full skirts are so easily exaggerated into the absurd that that presents a danger. Whenever we have fancy footweare there are unlimited possibilities for the display of poor taste and this season, short skirts and fancy footweare make two all important features. The latest work from Paris asserts that the beautiful, carefully made high shoes of fine leather or cloth in color to match the costume are held smarter, more dignified and in better taste than the low shoes. Last week's mention was made of dancing shoes of white satin made on these lines and the same general idea will be carried out on the costumes of the best dressed women. Say what we will and defy convention as we may, the really well-dressed woman is never extreme and never allows her costume to degenerate into anything that touches vulgarity. Such unseemly exposure as results from thin hosiery and low shoes with skirts six or eight inches from the ground, is in bad taste and cannot be anything else no matter who may exploit it, no matter under what auspices it may appear. From a good authority comes the statement that one of the best known graces dames of Paris has never been seen upon the street in a low skirt and while that may be a little extreme in view of the possibilities

DAINTY FROCKS FOR TINY FOLKS IN
EFFECTIVE BUT SIMPLE DESIGNS

Nothing makes quite such dainty frocks for the tiny folk as fine white materials embroidered by hand, and here are two dresses that show most effective designs and at the same time are simple and easy to make. The baby's dress is made in panel effect and here the panel is hemstitched to the plain portion of the dress, but it can of course be joined in any way that may be liked. Often fine narrow lace insertion is applied over the seams. The material illustrated is handkerchief lawn, but there are numberless pretty ones that are in every way appropriate. To make the dress well fitted 2 1-2 yards of material 36 inch wide, 1 1-2 yards 44 inch wide. The short frock shown on the second figure is as simple as can be and absolutely charming and attractive. It is tucked to form its own yoke and made with straight lower edges, consequently the finish can be a hem, lace insertion as in this instance or hemstitching and the frock can be made of flouncing as indicated in the back view. The sleeves can be either short or long and the neck, square or high. The low neck frock of white lawn, embroidered, is a very dainty little garment, adapted to baby's most important occasions. The high neck dress with the long sleeves made of Dresden lawn or some similar material becomes a prosaic one adapted to the morning, but it will always be pretty, always becoming. For the 2 year size will require 2 1-2 yards of material 36 inches wide, 1 1-2 yards 44 inches wide with 3 yards of insertion to trim as shown in the front view; 1 7-8 yards of flouncing 29 inches wide, 3-8 yard of material 36, to make as shown in the back view.

AGE AND THE HANDS

Sometimes we are obliged to wonder where all the "old ladies" are living, in this world of tango, war, and women's suffrage. We can no longer find the old lady with the bonnet and shawl in the big cities and even in the smaller towns she is quite a rarity. If women but only realized it, they would find that there is more necessity for fussing and caring for one's grooming when one is fading, than when possessed of radiant youth.

The hands need attention as we climb the years. Neglected hands frequently show evidence of a woman's age before the face to which later she gives more attention. To conceal the age lines at the wrist long cuffs and soft lace ruffles should be worn that come well down toward the knuckles.

The nails should receive care, especially if one has to do housework. Both household tasks and age make the nails brittle, but if one is thoughtful about the nightly rub of cold cream, and the daily use of good soap, the nails will remain young even after their day of youth has sped.

over the departure of the extremely low bodices and the excessively distasteful treatment thereof so much in evidence recently. The fashionable gown of the summer is made with the round neck and the short, puffed sleeves and it is pretty, becoming and modest without.

Just now Monte Carlo is in its height strange as they may seem with the sound of the cannon almost within hearing and we learn that the necklines are almost invariably a trifle slightly lower at the back than at the front and that the waistline.

Taffeta is a pronounced favorite and really the taffetas are so lovely that it would seem impossible to grow weary thereof. The chameleon taffetas are especially smart and especially beautiful and there are combinations of mauve and rose that are in the very height of style, but no matter how beautiful the colors may be there are always a generous number of black and white costumes to be met wherever fashionable folk are to be found. Often the white is much more conspicuous than the black, yet in spite of that fact, it is evident that that particular color scheme is suggested by the general condition abroad.

White silk with black velvet bands used as trimming for the full skirts is far from quiet in effect, but it is inherently beautiful and possesses a charm that is distinctly its own. Black with touches of color is much in evidence too and women of quiet taste will like the idea of a black taffeta gown with a wide girdle enriched with color and with embroidery.

Spats are being extensively worn, perhaps more extensively worn than is altogether desirable, for they are by no means always becoming and there is a strange, inexplicable tendency of human nature to choose the thing least suited to the need. We often see the lightest colored, most conspicuous spats worn by the women with the thickest ankles and least shapely feet and after all, the inconspicuous shoes are the best for general wear and there are a sufficient number of attractive ones shown to provide variety.

From shoes to the corsage is something of a jump perhaps, but in the round neck and in the drooping shoulders are to be found the second conspicuous evidences of the period from which prevailing fashions have been developed. If we have nothing else for which to be thankful, we should surely sound a pean of praise

CATHOLIC NEWS FIGHT PICTURES

Notes of the Services Arguments Began in at Local Churches— Society Meetings

A two weeks' mission will be opened at St. Peter's church next Sunday by members of the Oblate order. The first week will be for the women of the parish and the second for the men. The high mass yesterday was celebrated by Rev. P. L. Crayton, while the sermon was given by the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher. The pastor spoke on the approaching mission and the Forty Hours' devotion, and urged all to attend. At the offertory Miss Mary E. Whiteley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria."

Forty Hours' devotion will be started at this church Friday morning with a solemn high mass. Masses on Friday and Saturday will be celebrated at 5, 7 and 9 o'clock. The devotion will be brought to a close Sunday morning at the parish mass.

President Bernard D. Ward of the Holy Name society, headed by a big delegation from the parish, attended the Catholic Federation meeting in Boston yesterday. Great plans will be made for the Federation meeting in Lowell on May 16, when Cardinal O'Connell will speak.

Sacred Heart
The parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was celebrated by Rev. William P. Haley, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while Rev. James J. Gallagher, O. M. I., delivered a forceful sermon on "The End of Man." The members of the Holy Rosary sodality attended communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass. Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., are conducting a mission at Holliston, while Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., is preaching a mission at Cadyville, N. Y.

St. Columba's
The parish mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Buckley, who also delivered the sermon. The members of the Children's sodality attended communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass. The members of the Holy Name society will go to communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass next Sunday. First communion and confirmation classes are being instructed on Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings, respectively. It was announced that the Tabernacle society has in preparation an entertainment to be given in the near future.

St. Joseph's
The celebration of the parish mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday was the pastor, Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Telephore Malo rendered the harmonized Mass Royale. At the offertory Achille Javasse rendered a beautiful "O Salutaris."

St. Margaret's Church
At the Highland church yesterday the earlier masses were sung by Rev. Fr. Beardon, the pastor, Fr. Galivan officiating at the later services. At the masses a communication was read from the executive committee of the Catholic Federation of Churches, advancing the aims and purposes of the federation, and urging general organization throughout the archdiocese.

On Wednesday evening the grand May party will be held by the parish in Lincoln hall, and an exceptionally attractive program has been arranged. At a meeting held in the parish hall yesterday afternoon, the plans were perfected. The general management will be in charge of Miss Mollie Scanlon, while Miss Julia Driscoll will be floor marshal, assisted by a large corps of aids.

Immaculate Conception
Rev. James McCarthy, O. M. I., sang high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and the sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I. The members of the Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Owen P. McQuaid assisted in giving communion.

It was announced at all the masses that next Sunday will be communion day for the senior branch of the Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality. Speaking on this matter in a preface to his sermon at the 9 o'clock mass, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., urged all the unmarried women of the parish to go to communion with the sodality next Sunday. He recalled the time, he said, when over 800 women were present at communion days, and he hoped there would be a revival of the habit. During the month of May, and in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, it is most fitting that the women should show honor to Mary, the mother of God.

Fr. Sullivan gave a strong sermon on the dignity of the Blessed Virgin and the great honor that is hers in all ages since the foundation of the church. He expressed the hope that the church would be filled to capacity during the May devotions. He said that had the Catholic faith given the world nothing else except the ideal of womanhood summed up in the person of Mary, it would have been a great gift to mankind. This idea, he said, had been the inspiration of poet, painter, sculptor, and composer and to defend it the church has held councils and promulgated doctrines. He illustrated his sermon by many literary and historical allusions.

St. Patrick's
Rev. Timothy P. Callahan celebrated high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin who spoke of the significance of May which is set apart in honor of Mary, and urged the members of the parish to attend the May devotions.

There were large congregations at all the masses and the number of communicants at the early morning masses was unusually large. In the evening a meeting of the Propagation of the Faith society was held in the lower church, and the usual routine business was transacted. The Holy Name society is making plans for a large meeting in the near future, and the Ladies' Aid will soon reorganize for the work of next season.

UNITED STATES SENATOR JAMES A. O'GORMAN DEAF TO SUFFRAGISTS' PLEA FOR VOTES

Arguments Began in Court to Import Films—Decision Soon

After hearing argument on the validity of the law prohibiting the interstate shipment of the Johnson-Willard fight moving pictures, Judge Thomas G. Halght, sitting in the United States district court at Newark, recently took the matter under advisement. It is expected that he will render his decision about the middle of next week.

Representing L. Lawrence Weber of New York, owner of the films, Charles A. Towne and Benjamin F. Sullivan of New York argued on an application for a rule to show cause why an injunction should not be issued to prevent Fred S. Freed, deputy collector of the customs in Newark, a sub-part of New York, from refusing to permit the importation of the pictures. For the government United States District Attorney J. Warren Davis and Asst. Atty. Joseph L. Rodine appeared.

Lengthy argument was presented by counsel for Mr. Weber, whose principal contention was that the federal statute controlling the situation is unconstitutional, on the ground that the government cannot prohibit the importation of the reels so long as Mr. Weber intends to exhibit them. Even so, he argues, he has a right to exhibit them in his full possession. Counsel argued that inasmuch as Mr. Weber intends to retain the pictures and all rights to exhibit them, even to the extent of engaging theatre in which to show them, they cannot be construed as commerce in the accepted sense.

A baseball team traveling around a league circuit was used as an illustration by Mr. Weber's lawyers. They argued that while congress could legally pass a law prohibiting the interstate shipment, or the importation of baseball bats, balls, gloves and paraphernalia to be sold or traded as commerce, it could not prevent the members of the team from carrying the implements about from state to state, retaining possession of them and merely using them for exhibition purposes.

In reply Mr. Rodine argued that it has been generally accepted that such pictures as those involved are had for public morals, and that such may be kept out of the country by an act of congress. He asked permission to submit a supplemental brief, and Judge Halght directed counsel on both sides to submit briefs next Tuesday, when he will give the application consideration. His decision will follow shortly, it is expected.

LACK OF PLAYERS Eastern Assn. Couldn't Possibly be Started— 22 on Reserve List

BRIDGEPORT, May 3.—It was stated here Saturday, upon what is regarded as the best of authority, that the Eastern association will make no attempt to start the season this year. Discouraging reports, have been received by President O'Rourke from prospective promoters in two of the states, and it is believed that the league will be abandoned.

One of the main handicaps tending to work against the re-opening of the league was the fact that of the 113 players who were given official records by St. Charles, only 22 were of the Eastern association campaign last year, only the wildest stretch of the imagination can conceive of more than 22 remaining on the combined reserve lists of the eight clubs. Of the three clubs, whose franchisees have been forfeited, the league cannot benefit from players on their reserve lists to the extent of more than 19 men at the outside and it is likely there isn't that many left for Jim O'Rourke to make a grab at. Hartford, Waterbury and Pittsford stock is worth much now to the league, as the entire squads of each club have long since passed out of Eastern Association control.

PEACE ESSAY CONTEST

PASTOR, DR. ATKINS, PROVIDENCE RIGBY AWARDS GETS $1000 PRIZE

NEW YORK, May 3.—The prize winners in the peace essay contest under auspices of the Carnegie Church Peace union, which closed on Jan. 1, were announced yesterday.

The first prize of $1000 goes to the Rev. Dr. Gailus Glenn Atkins, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Columbus, O. The prize was awarded among Congregationalists in New England.

The judges were Robert Underwood Johnson, formerly editor of the Century; Canon George William Douglas of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O. The prize that Dr. Atkins won was offered to "any pastor of any church in the United States."

The prizes offered to students in theological seminaries were awarded to the following: R. W. Nelson, Phillips University, East End, Ok.; Paul B. Blanchard, Andover seminary, Cambridge, Mass.; and St. Nicholas, Yale school of religion, Lincoln, Ill.

The 16 prizes offered to church members were all awarded to men. They were: Hoyt R. Hudson, Couer d'Alene, Ida.; Bryant Smith, Boulder, Col.; Oliver C. Moles, Edgewater, Cal.; Philip Arnold, Cranston, Ill.; Benjamin J. Knicker, Iowa City, Ia.; Robert C. Howes, Palo Alto, Cal.; Arthur Lockwood Johnson, San Jose, Cal.; Charles L. Stewart, Urbana, Ill.; Walter B. Brock, Bethesda, Md.; and Clyde Earleston, Oxford, Tex.

Dr. Atkins' essay was entitled "The Causes of War."

NEW YORK, May 3.—The first big gun in the national suffrage campaign has been spiked. Withstanding a volley of arguments presented by six of New York's noted suffragists, United States Senator James A. O'Gorman frankly told a big deputation of women who called upon him that he would not vote for the federal suffrage amendment or any other change in the constitution unless such a proposed change was made imperative by the people of the state. Disappointment on the part of the 200 suffragists was not disguised when Senator O'Gorman came out with the frank statement that he was unable to respond to their call to support the Susan B. Anthony amendment. This statement was met with audible sighs from all parts of the big office of the senator at No. 37 Wall street. The call upon Senator O'Gorman represented the first step in a nation wide campaign begun by the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage to interview every one of the 531 members of congress before this body convenes in December.

HELD UP BY BRITISH

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Provisions Tied Up—Ships Carrying U. S. Cargoes Seized

LONDON, April 29 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—With millions of dollars' worth of provisions tied up by the British admiralty and virtually no opportunity to ship foodstuffs to Norway, Denmark and Sweden, European representatives of American packers are no longer disposed to accept in good faith the promises of the British foreign office and admiralty that immediate steps would be taken to facilitate neutral trade with neutral countries.

The refusal of Sir Samuel Evans, judge of the prize court to grant immediate trial to the Norwegian ships Alfred Nobel, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, Kim and Fridland, which were seized at Kirkwall in November, was the worst blow which neutral ships and shipping have had so far. The hearing was fixed for June 7 on the request of the counsel for the crown, who pleaded for more time to investigate the cases.

Attorneys for the Norwegian shipowners argued that their clients would be ruined by further delay and that sufficient time has been allowed already for investigation. However, Sir Samuel Evans exonerated the procurator general who has charge of the prize court investigations, from all charges of unnecessary delay and insisted that such complicated cases cannot be rushed through.

Errors Costly and Hitting Weak Against Cushing Academy

Lowell Textile was shut out by Cushing Academy Saturday in a well played diamond contest at Ashburnham. Errors by the local team and timely hitting scored Cushing's runs. The locals outhit their opponents but did not connect safely in the pitcher's box. Harris pitched a good game for Lowell letting them down with but four hits. He was wild at times, however. Clancy, the Cushing twirler, had the game well in hand at all times. The score:

INABILITY TO CHOOSE

"RIGHT WORD" CAUSES EMBARRASSMENT—STUDY OF DICTIONARY PROFITABLE

Inability to choose the right word often places a speaker in an embarrassing position. Many business men lose much valuable time because they find it difficult to express what they want to say when they dictate their correspondence. Greater freedom and accuracy in speaking and writing can be acquired by studying a dictionary. A few minutes devoted to the study of words and their meaning each day will in a short time result in great benefit to anyone who will put that practice to test.

The New Universities Dictionary being offered to readers of this paper is particularly adapted to aid those who wish to acquire greater familiarity with the English language. It contains all the new words which have come into common and proper use in recent years. Its definitions are simple and accurate, making it possible to choose words that will best serve the purpose of correct speaking and writing. Many of the new words that have been brought into use through special activities as war, aviation, golf, baseball and other forms of sports have been conveniently classified in supplementary dictionaries.

CHARITY RACING

Proceeds of the Belmont Track Will Go to War Sufferers

Every horseman who attends the opening of the regular racing season at Belmont park on May 9 will have the satisfaction of contributing in a substantial manner to the relief of the sufferers from the European war. The Westchester Racing Association, which will conduct the first meeting of the year in New York under the auspices of the Jockey club, has voted to donate a portion of the receipts on the first day of three of the relief funds. One of the charity organizations that will benefit by the race day is the Blue Cross association, of which Lord Londonderry is president. This appears to the officers of the Westchester Racing association to be an especially worthy and appropriate charity for the attention of lovers of the horse, as it is organized for the benefit of horses used in the European war. The other funds to be included in the donations are the Lafayette fund and the Committee of Mercy.

Every one from boxholders to the occupants of the field stand will contribute, and even a proportion of the money from the sale of the relief programs will be set apart for the charities. The biggest slice of all will come from the boxholders, for subscribers who have bought boxes for the season have surrendered their holdings for May 2 to be disposed of for the relief funds. Not only have the boxholders given up their boxes but practically all the other patrons of the track have again for the day at the liberal price of $50. Every cent taken in from the boxes will be turned over to the funds. In addition to the money from the sale of boxes 25 cents will be taken from each admission ticket, 50 cents from the sale of each grand stand ticket and 11 cents from each club ticket and 50 cents from the sale of each ladies' ticket. As a big attendance is expected, it is quite likely that the donations to the charity funds will mount up into thousands of dollars.

FRANCIS WOODROW SAYRE

PRESIDENT WILSON'S GRANDSON CHRISTENED AT WILLIAMSTOWN PRESIDENT ONE OF GODFATHERS

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 3.—In pretty little St. John's Episcopal church here yesterday afternoon the 11th baby born to the White House, was christened, with its grandfather, President Wilson, acting as one of its godfathers. Francis Woodrow Sayre is the name given to the baby, the three months' old child of Francis B. Sayre and Mrs. Sayre, formerly Miss Jessie Wilson.

No one outside the two families knew that this christening was to be a milestone in the lives of the ceremonial inquiry by the Rev. J. Franklin Carter, rector of St. John's, at the baptismal font, the boyish-appearing father of the baby gave the name. A few days after the baby's birth in Washington it was announced throughout the length and breadth of the country that the child was to be named Francis Sayre. This, it was stated, was decided upon by Mr. and Mrs. Sayre in deference to the desire of President Wilson that the individuality of his little grandson should not be lessened by giving him either the name of Woodrow or Wilson.

We have decided that baby shall not be remembered through his life by bearing a presidential name," said the proud father, at that time. While none of the family group would tell yesterday just how it came about that it was decided to bestow upon the little one the additional name of "Woodrow," it was learned from an intimate friend of the Sayres that the change to Mr. Wilson when he was in an especially happy and agreeable mood in his brief holiday in this peaceful town, and that he readily agreed to it. Be that as it may, soon after leaving Williamstown for his Washington home Mr. Wilson was told that the name given his grandchild was by no means due to a misunderstanding by the rector at the christening, but that everybody concerned, including himself, had heartily agreed to include "Woodrow" in the child's name. The christening took place at 2:30 o'clock, in the presence of members of the families and a few intimate friends.

The American Car Sprinkler Co. has seen fit to break its street watering contract with the city of Lowell rather than to accede to the demands of local 280, Street Railway Men's union. ## AS IT SHOULD BE

tive This Month Helps Destitute Parents

An act relative to the support of destitute parents, which becomes operative the 12th day of this month, having been signed by the governor April 12, is one of the most humane acts passed by the legislature for many moons. The act provides that any person above the age of 21 years, who, being possessed of sufficient means, unreasonably neglects or refuses to provide for the support and maintenance of his parent, whether father or mother, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Just what effect the act will have as applied locally remains to be seen. Supt. Conley of the Chelmsford Street hospital allows that it will affect that institution, inasmuch as there are people there who have children who are able to support them. He says, however, that the number of such cases is limited.

Text of the Act

Section 1. Any person, above the age of 21 years, who, being possessed of sufficient means, unreasonably neglects or refuses to provide for the support and maintenance of his parent, whether father or mother, residing in this Commonwealth, when such parent through misfortune and without fault of his own is destitute of means of subsistence and unable by reason of old age, infirmity or illness to support and maintain himself or herself, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. No such neglect or refusal shall be deemed unreasonable as to a child who shall not during his or her minority have been reasonably supported by such parent, if the parent was charged with duty so to do, nor as to any child who, being one of two or more children, has made proper and reasonable contribution toward the support of such destitute parent.

Section 2. Before the trial, with the consent of the defendant, or at the trial, on entry of a plea of guilty, or after conviction, the court may, in its discretion, make such orders and require such conditions for the benefit of such destitute parent as are provided for in the case of a wife or a minor child by Chapter 456, of the acts of the year 1911, and acts in amendment thereof, in which the defendant, and the plaintiff, thereby established shall, so far as it is applicable, apply to proceedings under this act.

Section 3. Complaints under the provisions of this act may be made by any such parent, by any child of such a parent, by the overseers of the poor of the city or town in which the defendant resides, or by any other public relief officer. Proceedings under this act may be begun in the municipal district or police court having jurisdiction of the place where the defendant lives, and if there be no such court, then in any municipal district or police court in the county, or in the municipal district or police court having jurisdiction over the place where the parent lives; and if there be no such court, then in any municipal district or police court in the county.

PIERCED AND CRUSHED ENTIRE RUSSIAN LINE

Germans Sink Three More Ships—
Sharp Fighting in Flanders—Investigate Sinking of U. S. Ship—German
Airship Over Dover Driven Off

The reported sinking of the American steamer Gulllight in the North sea by a German submarine, is regarded as a serious matter at Washington and the government is awaiting official details of investigation before taking action.

An imposing victory of Austrian arms over the Russian forces in western Galicia was announced today by the German war office. It is said the Austrians in the presence of their commander-in-chief, Archduke Frederick pierced and everywhere crushed the entire Russian line.

An attack from this quarter has been predicted in Petrograd despatches as an offset to Russian efforts further east on the Carpathian front. The direction in which this new and sudden stroke has been made, evidently in great force, lies to the south of Russian Poland. The line, along which the Austrian advance was made stretches for about 50 miles north and south through Galicia, something more than 50 miles east of Cracow.

Sharp Fighting in Flanders
Sharp fighting has been resumed in Flanders. French, German and British official statements tell of German attacks near hill 60 which the British recently captured and in the vicinity of St. Julien, both in the Ypres region. The Paris and London communications say the German onslaughts failed but their characterizes the movements as successful.

Allied Ships Damaged
The Turkish war office announced that the allied forces which landed on Gallipoli peninsula had been prevented from making headway. It is said the British battleship Vengeance, previously reported damaged, and the French battleship Henry IV were struck by shells.

German Airship Driven Off
A German aeroplane appeared over Dover today but was driven off. London heard a report that a zeppelin was flying over the North sea in the direction of the English coast.

Germans Sink Three Ships
The sinking of three more vessels in the North sea by German submarines in their new campaign is reported today. The Swedish steamer Elidra went to the bottom in less than three minutes after she was torpedoed but the 13 persons on board escaped. Travelers reaching Aberdeen report that two vessels of a fishing fleet were sunk yesterday less than 50 miles off that port.

Negotiations With Italy
It is believed in Rome that Austria and Germany have decided on another effort to prolong the negotiations between Italy and the central empires in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement of the territorial dispute. For this purpose it is said that Count Goluchowski, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, will go to Rome from Vienna.

Italian Cabinet
The Italian cabinet has decided not to postpone the assembling of parliament on May 12 and it is thought in Rome that the parliament may assist the cabinet in reaching a decision which now appears to be almost inevitable.

N. E. LEAGUE SEASON OPENED HERE TODAY

While threatening rain clouds hovered over the diamond, and chill, damp breezes sapped the baseball enthusiasm of all but the most hardy fans, the Lowell club, led by Manager Cuke Barrows and morally supported by Owners Roach and Kennedy, early this afternoon took their way Spalding parkward and hustled on to the grassy surface for a short preliminary practice before the arrival of Jesse Burkett's Worcester warriors. It was the opening day of the New England league in this city. It was the clarion call of the national game to the fans for the 1915 season. Baseball is with us again!

The local management was unfortunate in having a poor day for the opening of the 1915 season. Although the weather today was better than Friday's scheduled opening over in Worcester, the weather man was not exactly generous in his appointments for the Lowell fans.

On account of the unfinished condition of the grandstand it was decided not to engage in any ceremonies this season at the opening game. The usual auto parade, band, etc., were missing, but it is probable that Worcester will be entertained here in the height of fashion at a future date when Spalding park is once more in shape to extend hospitality to a gala day crowd.

Great Sendoff Saturday
Wasn't that a great sendoff that the team received Saturday? It would have been sufficient for the fans if Cuke and his boys had only beaten Doughty Jesse and his cohorts, but Matty Zieser took a hand in the ceremonies and was so stinging with his base bingles that a flock of microscopes failed to reveal a single marker in the hit column. Yes, it was a very propitious opening for any club to receive.

Manager Burkett came to town for a two days' stay. Jesse beamed upon everybody until something was said about Saturday's disaster to his opener. It was plain to be seen then that Jesse had come to Lowell for the sole purpose of taking back to Worcester a couple of ball games.

"Don't worry about me," said Jesse to the writer, "and tell the rest of 'em not to worry. My ball club's all right and we'll take care of ourselves this season." In other words, Jesse didn't want to brag but at the same time he felt that Worcester is better than a fair ball club. And so do we. Burkett has a fine aggregation with him this season.

But, by the same token, so have we. With Myers at first and McMahon at third, the two uncertain positions of a week ago, the local club seems to be as well fixed to win many games as any of the others.

but the district attorney declined to discuss this report.

Mrs. Carman, sitting beside her husband, seemed to be undisturbed and confident of the outcome as the case proceeded.

CARMAN TRIAL

Mrs. Carman Placed on Trial for Second Time
on Murder Charge

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 3.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman was placed on trial today for the second time on the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey at Freeport on the night of June 20 last. The jury in the first trial disagreed and Mrs. Carman has been at liberty under bond since then.

Accompanied by her husband, Dr. Edward Carman, Mrs. Carman motored from her home in Freeport to the courthouse here today. She was pale but smiling and seemed to be in better health than when she was tried before.

Justice Blackman presided over the court at this second trial. In selecting the jury each side will be allowed 20 peremptory challenges and District Attorney Smith intimated that it might require a week to present the state's case alone. Several new witnesses, it is reported, will be called by the state and the district attorney declined to discuss this report.

Mrs. Carman, sitting beside her husband, seemed to be undisturbed and confident of the outcome as the case proceeded.

Tutor Rohrbach, Jr., village clerk of Scituate, the ninth takerman examined, was the first juror selected. The eight men who preceded him were dismissed for various reasons.

When recess was taken three jurors had been selected. Mrs. Carman, it was noted today, asserts the right to accept or reject a talesman. At her previous trial a juror she objected to was accepted by her lawyer. That juror, it was stated, was one of the two to vote for conviction.

Mrs. Carman was not locked up during the recess. She and her husband, however, had luncheon in the jail dining room in order to escape attentions from a furious crowd that flocked about the courthouse.

GOOD WORK FOR CATHOLIC CHILDREN

A meeting of the members of the Knights of Columbus Guild, a recently formed organization was held at the K. of C. headquarters in Anne street yesterday afternoon and listened to a most interesting report on the work done and results accomplished up to date, the report being given out by the chaplain and organizer of the guild, Rev. W. George Mullin.

In the course of his report Fr. Mullin said 55 cases of Catholic children had been taken care of by the guild and brought before the police court.

Of this number only seven have been sent away by order of the court, the remainder being taken in charge and their welfare looked after by Mrs. Mary Kiernan, a registered nurse, who has been especially engaged for this work. Mrs. Kiernan has made 150 visits to the homes of the children and has not only assisted in making life more pleasant for the little ones, but their parents as well.

Ten children have been clothed while food has been provided in ten other cases. Six children have been placed in orphan asylums and two have been boarded out. One has been sent to a corrective institution in Boston.

At the close of the meeting Fr. Mullin spoke to the members of the K. of C. his subject being "The Church, the Mother of Liberty."

WITNESS FOR DEFENCE CALLED IN LIBEL SUIT

Son of Late Senator Platt Arrives
Barnes-Roosevelt Case

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 3.—That William Barnes told him Charles F. Murphy of Tammany hall had asked for help in 1911 to defeat a direct primaries bill in the state legislature and that the then chairman of the republican state committee had answered him would refuse the aid asked and had remarked that he would not pull the Tammany leader's "chestnuts from the fire," was the sworn testimony given in the supreme court here today by Walter T. Arndt, formerly Albany correspondent of a New York newspaper.

Mr. Arndt was one of several witnesses who today were placed upon the stand by the defense in the libel suit of William Barnes, Jr., against Theodore Roosevelt. Among them was Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, and described in previous testimony as "the key boss." Mr. Platt produced several bundles of letters taken from the files kept by his father from 1899 to 1905.

George H. Dickinson of Washington, D. C., another former correspondent of a New York newspaper in Albany, testified regarding a conversation he had with Mr. Barnes in which the subject of Governor Hughes and race track legislation was freely discussed.

WITNESSES FOR THE DEFENSE
SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 3.—The securing and execution in Albany of contracts for public printing were the subjects upon which a number of witnesses summoned by Theodore Roosevelt, defendant in the libel suit of William Barnes, Jr., were to testify in the supreme court today. It is claimed by the defense that much money belonging to the state and the city and county of Albany was wasted in the printing of public documents and that Mr. Barnes benefited thereby.

The colonel further alleged that so great was the control exercised over printing contracts that more than one occasion the Albany Journal, in which Mr. Barnes is reported as being interested received a percentage from Albany printing concerns to which it "firmed out" contracts.

Justice William S. Andrews, presiding at the trial, pointed out, however, that Mr. Barnes as a stockholder in the Journal company is not responsible for the acts of that corporation.

Unless Mr. Barnes himself is in some manner actually connected with the securing and execution of contracts it is possible the court has intimated that all testimony regarding the printing situation in Albany may be stricken from the records.

It was planned to have Michael Dolan, general manager of the Argus company of Albany, complete today his story of the relations between his employer and the Journal company. Mr. Dolan was on the stand when a week-end recess was taken Friday.

Among the new witnesses who appeared at the court house today was Lafayette B. Gleason, clerk of the state senate, whose office witnesses have testified, Mr. Barnes talked to various republican and democratic organization senators, principally the former, while direct primaries legislation was under consideration in 1910.

Son of Late Sen. Platt
Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, arrived here late last night in answer, lawyers here to a subpoena. It was presumed that Mr. Platt had with him some more correspondence taken from his father's files. This, however, Mr. Platt declined to affirm or deny. He furnished copies of the scores of letters which were put in evidence while Colonel Roosevelt was on the stand under direct and cross-examination.

Dolan Questioned
Mr. Dolan resumed the stand promptly upon the opening of court. He was questioned at length by John M. Bowers, chief counsel for Colonel Roosevelt upon contracts awarded by the common council of Albany.

Mr. Dolan explained in detail the repeated use of the same type composition. In some cases, he said, the company figured on a profit of 25 cents a page for printing such documents as the proceedings of the common council. In others where the bid was $1.25 per page and the same type composition was used profits of $1.10 per page was figured upon.

In testifying about reports at the board of education, Mr. Dolan said the contract with the board was for printing at $1.55 a page, its regular bi-monthly report. An item in the books of the Argus company showed that one thousand copies of an annual report, although from the weekly reports had been billed to the Journal company.

These reports, said the witness, were furnished to the board of education for mailing. Mr. Dolan told how the type from which the bi-monthly reports were struck off was kept in forms until the order for the 1000 copies of the annual report was received.

Now wasn't the report of the board of education also printed in the proceedings of the common council?" asked Mr. Bowers.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"So that the report in full or part was printed on three separate occasions from the same type?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Did you charge the fair market price for your work?"

"There was no market price."

"Were you under an agreement with the Journal company to give 15 per cent for all orders received from the common council?"

"We agreed to pay 15 per cent if we should get the work of printing their extras."

"Were you printing for the board of education under contract?"

"Yes."

"And did you pay 15 per cent upon your contracts?"

"I do not recall," replied Mr. Dolan.

"Didn't that check you put in evidence include 15 per cent on your contract with the board of education?"

"I do not recall."

"Did you produce a book which had upon it the imprint, 'Printed by the Journal Company'?"

"Who printed it?" he asked the witness.

"The Argus company."

"In 1903 and 1904 didn't you pay the Journal company 15 per cent for all money you received from the city?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

Coming down to 1911, the year in which the Barnes committee investigated the printing business in Albany, the books of the company, according to excerpts read from them by Mr. Bowers seemed to indicate that the practice of entering commissions given to the Journal company was discontinued.

The word "net" began to appear along with entries for printing bills to the Journal company.

"So the time came, when instead of giving the Journal a discount you reduced your charges?" asked Mr. Bowers.

"I cannot recollect."

Platt Called
Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, was called to testify.

Mr. Bowers asked Mr. Platt whether he would mind allowing one of his associates to go over the letters and pick out what was wanted.

The witness requested Justice Andrews to rule that all the letters be admitted to evidence if any one of them were. Mr. Lyons argued in favor of the witness having his way and that every letter mentioned in the subpoena be put before the jury.

The court suggested that representatives of both sides go over the letters outside of court with Mr. Platt so as to expedite matters. Both sides agreed and Mr. Barnes, for the plaintiff, and Mr. Van Benschoten, for the defense, were named to accompany the witness out with the letters. Mr. Platt said there were 300 original letters.

George H. Dickinson, formerly Albany correspondent of the New York Herald and now diplomatic representative for the Panama-Pacific exposition with office in the state department, was then called. He then told of talking with Mr. Barnes in Albany in 1908.

Racetrack Bill
"Mr. Barnes told me," the witness said, "that partly success was his paramount aim. Mr. Barnes told me also that he had a talk with Gov. Hughes about racetrack legislation in which Mr. Barnes was interested."

The witness said Mr. Barnes had told him Gov. Hughes would not be re-nominated because he had hurt the party. Witnesses also said Mr. Barnes told him about persuading State Senator Gratton to cast his decisive vote against the race track bill.

Walter T. Arndt of New York, Albany correspondent of the New York Evening Post, testified. He was asked about an interview he had with the plaintiff in 1911 with regard to direct primaries legislation.

Lowell Manufacturers, Engineers and Firemen Interested in Bill Soon to Become Law

The new bill for the regulation of licenses for engineers and firemen of stationary boilers is now taking its final passage through the senate and will be on the calendar for engrossment today or tomorrow.

Manufacturers in Lowell and other cities are very much interested in this new act and it is hoped that it will bring about a harmonious relation between manufacturers and their stationary engineers. The act is largely technical, but it gives the engineers what they have been contending for, the maintaining of a licensed engineer at all times in charge of the engine and boiler in all manufacturing establishments, and prohibits the employment of an unlicensed person as a time server. Everybody at the state house will be gratified when this act is at last on the governor's desk, which now seems likely to happen very soon.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for the woman who would be beautiful, says Hortense, depends on the daily habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise, will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food.

Those who have very little exercise should never eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

Walking is just as essential to health in warm weather as cold. Only do not walk too rapidly or too far. The early morning is decidedly the best time. The air is purer and more bracing and the sun not so hot.

To fatten a thin face, Hortense says if you have the time and money, go to a skillful masseuse and have her treat your face and use a good massage cream. Cleanse the face every night with a cleansing cream. Apply it to the face and throat with the tips of the fingers and wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then massage the face for ten minutes with a massage cream.

In the morning dampen a portion of a towel with toilet water and wipe the face with it. Use no other water on the face. Take a hot tub bath daily, use good soap and scrub the entire body from the chin down to the toes.

If you can't secure a professional to treat your face, massage it yourself once a week. First use cleansing cream, then steam for ten minutes. Dry and massage gently but firmly, wipe cream all off and use toilet water.

Large pores on the face skin are almost sure to result, thinks Hortense, if you wash your face in hot water and do not afterward dash it with cold water. If you do not take this precaution, you are almost sure to have large pores as the hot water opens them up and if left open they will spread and fill up and become permanently large.

Cold water will help to close them and so will an astringent. Benzoin is an astringent and I would advise you to get ten cents worth of tincture of benzoin and every time you wash your face with hot water, finish up with cold water into which you have poured a few drops of benzoin.

Another cure is to use a cleansing cream every night before retiring as the pores must be clean before they will reduce. In the morning bathe with moderately hot water, then apply the following lotion: Elderflower water, 6 ozs.; Eau de Cologne, 1/2 oz.; tincture benzoin, 1 dram; cucumber juice, 1 oz.

For those who wish to reduce Hortense advises that you take every opportunity to walk when you can. If it is a matter of several blocks, do not take a car even when it is possible. Take every opportunity to walk, but walk as if you really enjoyed it; put some energy into this exercise. Really make it an exercise.

Do not eat more than one starchy food at a meal, drink plenty of water, but between meals, and, above all, eat enough to allay hunger, but stop there; do not continue as if you are never going to get another meal instead of one quite as heavy in another four or five hours.

Another thing, sleep with plenty of fresh circulating air in your sleeping room and if you are very stout do with just sufficient sleep, and above all omit the nap in the middle of the day.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights, Hortense made me, when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk, must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mental work must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air. Walk until you are tired. Do not avoid this, however, for sometimes the body will be too tired to sleep. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. General baths should be warm.

Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not eat immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk, sipped slowly, will help you to overcome insomnia after the other suggestions have been followed.

Many women, says Hortense, particularly those who do their own work, find it very difficult to keep their hands white and soft. The main cure is persistent treatment. Use soaps that have no strong caustic or alkaline ingredients in them. Do not subject your hands to sudden changes in water.

Be sure to remove all stains of fruit, paint, and so on as you can. Take a little time each night to take a cold cream will do this. Hortense gives a recipe below that will help you. Put into a bottle 2 ozs. of glycerine, 2 ozs. water, 4 table-spoons lemon juice and a few drops of carbolic acid. Shake well. After washing and drying the hands, rub a little of the mixture into them.

To keep your finger nails in good condition every night rub cold cream into the cuticle surrounding the nails. If you do not have a good cold cream on hand use the one for which the recipe is here given: Rosewater,

FR. JOHNSON BETTER

PASTOR OF GATE OF HEAVEN CHURCH STRICKEN AS RESULT OF HARD WORK.

BOSTON, May 3.—Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, who was hurried to St. Elizabeth's hospital Saturday night, supposed to be in a precarious condition, was last night much improved, according to the report of his friend, Dr. John R. Slattery, physician-in-chief of St. Elizabeth's.

As Fr. Johnson was completing his afternoon duties Saturday, he became dizzy, and was assisted into the parochial residence and later sent to the hospital. Contrary to reports yesterday, it was not a shock but the climax of hard work. Rev. Fr. Johnson has had only one vacation in 30 years and that 10 years ago, when he went abroad to secure windows and ornate decorations for his new church.

One of the oldest priests of the diocese, Fr. Johnson is widely known, and in many churches yesterday there were prayers for his speedy recovery.

Fr. Johnson, a Lowell Man

Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, is a native of this city, born and raised in St. Patrick's parish and a member of one of the oldest "Apostle" families. He has a sister in this city and is a relative of Dr. S. J. Johnson and Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist.

A FINE CONCERT

Lowell Orchestral Society Yesterday at Colonial Hall

The third and final concert of the Lowell Orchestral society for this season attracted a large audience yesterday afternoon to Colonial hall, and should have, attracted a larger one. It was an exceptionally fine musical event, reflecting serious preparation and general enthusiasm among the members. It demonstrated adequately that once again the Lowell Orchestral society has reached a high point of excellence and may be depended upon to give occasional concerts to the Lowell public which will be well worthy of general patronage. Those who have not attended any of the recent concerts may accept the fact that in the Lowell Orchestral society, Lowell has a musical aggregation actuated by the highest ideals and intelligently painstaking in the desire for the best concert presentation. Besides the orchestral numbers yesterday, the concert included vocal selections by Mrs. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert and violinello solos by

Frederick E. Mindt. Following is the program:

The opening overture "Egmont" was splendidly given. It is a very difficult composition and could have been interpreted so well only after long and tireless rehearsal, under the direction of the director, Mr. Rudolph Schiller. The general tone is gloomy and intense, permeated by a low and swelling rumble of the bass instruments, and this effect was well pictured within the limitations of the orchestra. The death of Egmont was feelingly indicated by a gradual swelling of the full orchestra which pictured the patriotism and determination of the Netherlands to fight for freedom to the end. Strongly contrasted with this number was the Mozart symphony with its rapid change of moods. The tone was smooth and full, especially with the string instruments, and the melody was delicately indicated through the volume of the orchestration. The "scenes from an imaginary ballet," by S. Coleridge Taylor was intensely interesting though not so generally satisfactory as the selections preceding. The broken rhythm and uncertain continuity made the effect confusing at times, and there seemed more monotony of treatment than in other parts of the program. Yet, as an example of modern composition, the selection was very gratifying. The "Dance of the Sylphs," from Berlioz was brief but very beautiful. The atmosphere of the piece was faithfully adhered to, and the subtle string effects of the dance and the disappearance of the beautiful maidens were pictured with great effectiveness. There was a Strauss feeling in the light waltz measure which ran in and out through the entire composition, and its sudden conclusion left a mood of expectancy in the listener. The "Dances from Henry VIII" by German were more direct in their appeal than any of the preceding numbers. They were not descriptive and were evidently intended to be dance measures. Full of life, gaiety and magnetism, they were strongly reminiscent of Irish folk dance tunes, some of the phrases suggesting passages in very common reels and jigs. Yet it is a historical fact that Irish harpers and musicians were much sought at the courts of Elizabeth and Henry VIII, and so the music for the Morris and Shepherd's dances may have been historically correct in its Celtic note.

Throughout the concert Mr. Rudolph Schiller had his orchestra in perfect control. As a conductor he was splendid, having no affectations, and simply attending to business without unnecessary frills or mannerisms. His direct and illuminating manner showed where most of the credit for the concert is due.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert has sung many times in this city, but she never sang here in better voice. Yesterday her tones were fresh and clear and she seemed to be equally at home in the upper and lower registers. The round, rich volume of her voice was controlled splendidly, and in the coloratura passages she showed fine mastery of technique. As if to give others the joy which seemed to thrill her, she sang for the most part songs of exalted moods. The morning song by Harriet Ware was beautifully sung, and "To the Moon" was given with appealing power. The Alda selection showed that Mrs. Calvert is equal to the most exacting operatic selection, and the songs of spring which she sang in response to demands for encores were full of suggestions of robins and flowers, and the joy of the season. Her singing was a delight in every sense.

Frederick E. Mindt proved a genuine surprise in his mastery of the violinello. His touch was sure and subtle and he seemed to strive for the meaning of the composition rather than for mechanical effect. The "Scherzo" was light and lovely, and the "Night of Urach" was almost too lovely in its wailing throaty. It pictured the night that hangs over Europe and was terribly like the cry of a sorrowing and desolate woman. Mr. Mindt was roundly applauded and gave a very effective encore.

Mr. Arthur C. Spaulding was the accompanist and he was equal to all demands. Whether in the full orchestration or with the soloists, his delicate touch, intelligent appreciation of values, and power of suggestion were felt. His influence added to that of Mr. Schiller will undoubtedly make the Lowell Orchestral society a vehicle of the highest in musical education and entertainment.

Following were the members of the orchestra:
Violins: Hannah M. Barrows, Florence F. Nix, William M. Sullivan, Irene B. White, Elizabeth Walsh, Madeline Kerstow, Mary M. Holmes, Madeline McAlon, Thomas A. D. Sullivan, Dr. Anna Howard, Edward W. At last you can get Legal Stamps in a bargain basement—Double stamps on Tuesdays. For years there has been a great demand for a bargain basement giving Legal Stamps. Today W. & A. Bacon Co. open a Self-Reducing Bargain Basement where prices will reduce themselves as follows:

One-third after six selling days
Two-thirds after twelve selling days
Given away after eighteen selling days

The first selling price on all merchandise offered in the Bacon Self-Reducing Bargain Basement is guaranteed by W. & A. Bacon Co. to be the lowest in Boston. And there will be a Legal Stamp Desk right in the Bargain Basement convenient for all.

This tells why!

Bacons' Self-Reducing Bargain Basement prices can be guaranteed lowest because.

No deliveries unless paid for—
No alterations—
No purchases charged—
No goods returned nor exchanged after forty-eight hours—

No goods returned nor exchanged without tags—
No C. O. D.'s without deposits—
No Mail nor Phone Orders—
BUT—Legal Stamps.

Every bargain advertised in the Bargain Basement must be a winner or we sustain a big loss by the Self-Reducing Prices.

We cannot quote prices today as this advertisement is written on Friday, April 30th, for the following Tuesday's selling. We are advertising some wonderful bargains in the Boston Sunday Papers and at the time you see this notice we will probably have a larger crowd than ever before congregated in a similar store to buy merchandise. But we have plenty of merchandise for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. We will have plenty for every day of every week and always at the lowest prices in Boston.

We suggest that you put the Bacon Self-Reducing Bargain Basement on your shopping list and get our prices every time you are down town. This will save you a lot of money.

Letter No. 4 From the Turner Centre Creamery

We have been selling our pasteurized milk at retail in Lowell about a month. The trade is steadily growing. Everyone likes the milk. There is some complaint because we cannot get to everybody before breakfast time. We find it hard to convince prospective customers that our milk will keep over night and be as sweet and fresh as those who have ice that we can give the best satisfaction to deliver at a time when you are up to receive it and take care of it. The milk will take more damage in an hour on the doorstep than it will in a day in an ice chest. Our milk is pasteurized. It will keep sweet and fresh in your ice chest for at least 48 hours. It has no "off" smell nor "off" taste. It is rich Jersey milk and it is SAFE.

KING GUSTAF OF SWEDEN

RULER IS SERIOUSLY ILL—UNDERWENT OPERATION FOR ULCERATION OF STOMACH

KING OF SWEDEN

LONDON, May 3.—King Gustaf was operated on for ulceration of the stomach by Prof. John Wilhelm Berg, the celebrated Swedish surgeon. The operation lasted 75 minutes. It was said that the ulcer was more or less superficial in nature and showed no signs of being malignant. The king, after he had sufficiently recovered from the operation, went to Carlsbad to recuperate. A despatch to the Central News from Stockholm says that the king is ill again, apparently with a recurrence of the trouble for which he underwent the operation.

CANADIANS LOST 6000

TWO BATTALIONS STOOD GROUND WHEN GERMANS RETOOK ST. JULIEN

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3.—Casualties among the Canadian contingent in the fighting at Ypres are now reported to have been nearly 6000. Of these, 2000 are reported missing, the missing being chiefly the 13th and 14th battalions of Montreal Highlanders, each 1000 strong. It is stated that 700 officers and men were killed and 3000 wounded. The totals thus given would indicate that more than one-fourth of the 21,000 men in the division were put out of action.

The Canadian official eye-witness reported the two battalions of Highlanders left behind in the fighting at St. Julien.

"The German line," the eye-witness said, "held over the deserted village, but for several hours after the enemy had become master of the village sullen and persistent rifle fire showed they were not yet master of the Canadian rear guard."

As Berlin reported a thousand Canadian prisoners, it is feared here that 1000 of these rear guards were killed from exhaustion of ammunition compelled the detachment to surrender.

OFFICERS INSTALLED
The Broadway Social and Athletic club held its regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at its room on Broadway, with President McCann in the chair. Considerable business of importance was transacted. Two applications for membership were received and admitted. The dance committee made its final report. The newly elected officers of the club were duly installed after which a smoke talk and a very enjoyable program was carried out. It included: Remarks by President McCann; piano solos, Mr. Varnek; Charles Miner; songs by Mr. Coughlin, William Meador, James Dowling and quartet selections by Andrew McLaughlin, George Mullin, William Madden, James O'Brien; duet, Sam Keegan and Frank Campbell. Mr. William Walsh had charge of the exercises.

SAVED BY U. S. CRUISER

BRITISH VESSEL'S $200,000 CARGO ABOUT TO BE CONFISCATED WHEN DENVER ARRIVED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 3.—With the British ship Cetriana's captain detained ashore the vessel's $200,000 cargo would have been confiscated by the military authorities at Ensenada, Mexico, had it not been for defiance offered by the ship's first officer, J. A. Seaborg of this city and the intervention of the United States cruiser Denver, according to Seaborg's story told here today of the Cetriana's escape. The vessel was towed into San Diego harbor by the Denver yesterday. Her bunkers were bare of coal and with neither food nor water aboard.

The Cetriana sailed from Seattle for Ensenada and San Diego April 14, despite the fact that the Mazatlan customs officials had refused the steamer clearance papers.

When the vessel arrived at Ensenada, Captain Kerr, according to Seaborg, was taken ashore by Mexican soldiers, placed in detention and requested to sign a statement turning over the Cetriana's cargo to the authorities.

Before the Mexican officer could return with more soldiers the cruiser Denver gave in sight.

Commander Ziegler of the Denver, after learning of the trouble went ashore, conferred with Ensenada officials and succeeded in having the men and vessel released, Seaborg said.

"The Denver then passed us a line and towed us in."

Card. O'Connell Talks Plainly to Convention of American Federation of Catholic Societies

BOSTON, May 3.—The severe scoring of the sectarian amendment, which has been before the present session of the legislature and the call upon all Catholics of the state to stand firm against the false Americanism which fanned it and for the civil rights of those of that faith by Cardinal O'Connell, were the features of the seventh annual convention of the Catholic Federation at St. Alphonsus hall, yesterday afternoon.

The cardinal was enthusiastically applauded when he declared that "if nothing were accomplished, we are not going to let the enactment of an amendment which would be as much a disgrace to Massachusetts as her Blue Laws."

He spoke at length on the amendment and said: "When all the mud and malice of these so-called Americans is stripped of their slander, the thing behind it all is simply selfishness and jealousy—the two greatest causes of all the evil in the world—the causes of the awful war which is now despoiling Europe. Now once for all let me say that we are not deceived by your talk. We are not going to let you stir our people to an anger of retaliation which will do us harm. We are going to keep our good humor because we know that hundreds of thousands of our non-Catholic friends are thoroughly ashamed of this miserable attempt to weaken all the best forces of order and law. But you are not going to let us for one minute.

Spite and Bitterness

"Now I am not going to talk about the men and measures behind such things. They are welcome to all their spite and bitterness. I want none of it. We are going to stand firm where we are, for all that belongs to us—not a hair's breadth less will we take, and we want not a shade more. And all the threats and insults and abuse will only serve to show that as usual we are welcome to fight and work for this country, but are not supposed to ask for our legitimate rights.

"All this talk about our religion and the pope and the Vatican is merely a cloak. They are merely trying by this meaningless twaddle to cover up the real point—that they want everything, including what is ours, for themselves alone. You may work in their sewers or mills, but you must never even hope that your children will take the honorable share of civic life which you are earning for them by your loyalty to this country, your industry, and your willingness to share the dangers and burdens which entitle you to reward."

"If you think our people are asking for anything undue, argue with us, but if you abuse us and attempt to browbeat us, you are wasting time and energy, and when you attempt to put all this vulgar, unjust and bitter bigotry and misrepresentation on the basis of religion, why all I can say is you do not even yet know what religion is."

"I stand on this platform today simply as an American citizen. I was born here in Massachusetts. My family has fought for the preservation of the Union, and has suffered for the cause of freedom. And as an American citizen, I call upon all you men here to stand firm against this false Americanism, stand firm for your faith and your civil rights, and true Americans will stand with you."

No Discrimination

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, declared that the Catholics asked for no special consideration, but that they would tolerate no discrimination. The sectarian amendment was a "disgraceful and a disgraceful thing," he said, "as it is to show a manifest fairness to all, but every word spoken by every advocate proved that it was aimed directly against Catholics in the express fear that by our constantly increasing numbers we should some time obtain control of the state and then give to Catholic institutions the public funds which for a century had been given to Protestant institutions, snuffing themselves in the language of one of the eminent advocates by depicting the past Massachusetts has once again vindicated religious freedom and has informed the world that intolerance must stop at her borders, and this commonwealth, beloved of Senator Hoar, has renewed her allegiance to his free stand."

Frederick W. Mansfield stated that if the Catholics ever intended to seize the government it would have been at the outbreak of the Civil war when the army and government were in a demoralized state. "We believe in tolerance, we are for ourselves. This is not an attempt to meet bigotry with bigotry, for this great movement is far broader than that."

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, reported for the legislative committee. Charles E. Fay told of the work of the Common Cause society in combating the enemies of religion and of the social and industrial relations committee of the federation.

The federation elected this list of officers: President, Henry V. Cunningham; vice presidents, Jeremiah E. Burke of Dorchester, James J. Lemmon of Lynn, Michael J. Powers of Stoughton, Timothy W. Haley of Cambridge; secretary, Charles T. Daly of West Medford; treasurer, Edwin Mulready of Rockland.

Steamer Vance Was Rudderless and Otherwise Damaged

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—While drifting rudderless and otherwise damaged by the storm which for three days raged along the coast the steamer Vance has been picked up by a tug, according to wireless information published today and is now being towed back to the city. She was found 150 miles off Santa Cruz, California.

During the height of the storm Friday the Vance's deckload of lumber was carried away. This evening she lost her tow, the Norwegian ship Agda, and because of the storm was unable to put her aboard the ship again. No fears are expressed for the Agda, as it is thought she will be able to make her way under sail without trouble. Other vessels delayed by the storm are safe in port.

JAS. F. HUDSON DEAD

WAS PRINCIPAL EDITORIAL WRITER OF PITTSBURGH DESPATCH FOR 33 YEARS

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—James F. Hudson, for 33 years the principal editorial writer of the Pittsburgh Despatch and the author of a number of works on economic subjects, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Denavon, a suburb yesterday. Mr. Hudson was 69 years old.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Lydia Parrish chapter has elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Dudley L. Page; vice president, Mrs. W. C. Hoyt; recording secretary, Mrs. R. H. Shaw; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. J. Alley; treasurer, Mrs. W. P. Putnam; historian, Mrs. G. B. Fuller; registrar, Miss Ella Wright; board of management, Mrs. L. K. Sprague, Mrs. Mary Coulam, Mrs. James McKinley. Refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

Central Council, A. O. H.

At yesterday's meeting of Central Council, A. O. H., held with John J. O'Neil presiding, James O'Sullivan and Patrick McCann were chosen a committee to meet the national president, Joseph L. McLaughlin, when he comes to Lowell Wednesday night to address the members of local A. O. H. divisions. Brother Mahoney of Div. 2, J. Barrett of Div. 5, and Martin Sullivan of Div. 23 were elected to secure entertainment for that evening. James O'Sullivan was chosen toastmaster of the banquet to be held at the Waverly hotel.

Going to the Exposition? Don't Miss Colorado Scenery

No one can be indifferent to the beauty and grandeur of the Colorado Rocky Mountain scenery, and visitors to the California Exposition should make a point of seeing it. Also Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City.

Now there is no extra charge for all this if you go via the Burlington Route (C. & N. Y.), because it so happens that the through service of that line has been planned so that you pass all these points by daylight, and you can view from the train a panorama of mountain scenery that is as celebrated as any in the world.

Surely on your way, you will not miss this opportunity and I would like to send you free, some pictures, maps and printed matter, not only of the Colorado wonders, but also of Glacier Park or Yellowstone Park, which, by all means, you should visit on the return trip. Please make use of me to let me help plan the trip for you. Call on or write.

TO COMBAT DIVORCE EVIL

CONSTITUTION APPROVED BY CATHOLIC LAWYERS WILL BE SENT TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL

BOSTON, May 3.—A number of lawyers of Greater Boston recently attended a meeting called by Frederick W. Mansfield and have organized a Catholic Lawyers' league, the purpose of which will be to combat the divorce evil. A constitution was constructed and will be sent to Cardinal O'Connell for his approval.

The organization of this league has been agitated by Mr. Mansfield for a long time, and it was his intention, he said, yesterday, to have it known as the Massachusetts Catholic Lawyers' league, but upon the recent receipt of a letter from a lawyer in France, the name of the league was dropped.

Mr. Mansfield stated that the French lawyer wrote that he had seen mention of the project in a newspaper from this country, and asked that he be allowed to join such an organization, if permissible. In his country he had been opposing divorce for years, he stated. The league members will take no cases dealing with divorce, except those in opposition to such action. "It is my hope that this league will eventually become a worldwide organization," said Mr. Mansfield.

KILLED BY AUTOS NOT A CANDIDATE

FALL RIVER, May 3.—A seven-passenger touring car, owned and operated by Manuel B. Pavan, a sausage manufacturer of 114 Ballard street, was wrecked when it crashed into a tree in South Somerset yesterday afternoon, and his 12-year-old daughter Mary was killed. She was thrown from the machine over a stone wall into a field.

Besides the father and daughter in the machine were the mother and six other children, whose ages range from 2 to 10 years. After crashing into the tree the automobile struck a telegraph pole and turned turtle. The father, mother and several of the children were injured.

The father, who sustained three fractured ribs and two very bad scalp wounds, is in a critical condition at the city hospital. Mrs. Pavan sustained an injury to her spine and an ugly wound on the left leg. She is also at the city hospital. The other children were cut and bruised, but not badly hurt.

Mary, the child who was killed, was sitting beside her father and she lived only 15 minutes after she was pitched from the machine.

BROCKTON COUPLE DIVORCED 35 YEARS AGO, MARRIED AGAIN—BOTH WEDDED AFTERWARDS

BROCKTON, May 3.—William S. Brainard, aged 65, of 733 North Montello street, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Arline A. Fletcher, aged 61, were married yesterday at the home of Rev. George Bolton (husband of the late Mrs. Titus) in the West Bridgewater Baptist church. The couple journeyed to Bridgewater in street cars and the only witness was the wife of the officiating clergyman.

The couple were married 45 years ago and 10 years later divorced. Since then both remarried. Mr. Brainard's second wife died four years ago and Mrs. Fletcher secured a divorce from her second husband last fall.

Children of the couple sought a reconciliation and remarriage, but Mr. Brainard would not consent to this when the subject was brought up to him. He took Mrs. Fletcher into his home as housekeeper, however, the culmination of the romance came yesterday when the couple were married, a new ring being used at the service, although the ring used nearly half a century ago is in possession of one of the daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Brainard will go to Haverhill, where they will spend a week's honeymoon with their daughter, Mrs. Alexander Roberts. A big reception has been planned for them there.

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS

Many people pay a terrible price for success, sacrificing for it health and happiness. Neurasthenia, a typically American disease, is due to worry over the struggle for success more than to any other one thing.

Neurasthenia is a condition of nervous exhaustion in which the system fails to recuperate after unusual demands upon its nervous energy. Its symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin the treatment today before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this newspaper.

BINAH PACKARD'S SUICIDE

FORMER LOWELL STABLE KEEPER ENDED HIS LIFE BY HANGING

Word has been received in this city of the suicide by hanging of Binah Packard, a former resident of this city, in a small town in Illinois. Mr. Packard formerly conducted a livery stable in Middle street and several years ago he left Lowell for Chicago, where he went into the horse trading business. It is believed he became despondent over illness.

LITTLEFIELD DEAD

Former Congressman From Maine Passed Away in N. Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, May 3.—Charles Edgar Littlefield, former congressman from Maine, who had lived in New York since he resigned from Congress in 1903, died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning at the Postgraduate hospital from an embolism following an operation performed about ten days ago.

Mr. Littlefield was elected to congress June 19, 1899, to fill out the unexpired term of Nelson Dingley, author of the Dingley tariff, who had died in office. He was an insurgent by temperament, not a political insurgent, such as those who broke away later when the Payne-Aldrich tariff was up for passage, but an insurgent according to his own views. His first speech was made in the case of the exclusion from the house of Brigham H. Roberts, the polygamist elected to a seat from Utah, and he took the unpopular side.

Then the republican organization put through its bill for a tariff with Porto Rico, and again Littlefield was an insurgent. He disagreed with the party's policy on the Cuban reciprocity bill, and by this time he was known as a man chronically unresponsive to orders from the machine, who, nevertheless, by the force of his personality, was making his own way and winning his own reputation. His district re-elected him to the 54th, 55th, 56th and 57th congresses, and he soon acquired a wide reputation through the vigor of his oratory and his finances in standing out for his own views.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

With a speed that will startle audiences Hugo Jansen, gown designer, formerly of the Rue de Paris, Paris, is called "The Fashion Show" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, just how he can create a new dress. He will use three live models—mannequins, they call them in Paris—and three dresses will be made on each one of them. No scissors will be used, only a few pins. While this is the piece de resistance of "The Fashion Show," a musical comedy, there will be other features which call for special mention.

Among these additional features are: Blanche Latell, a wonderfully clever character comedienne, who, for two seasons, was in a leading part in "Naughty Marietta," and Earl Carr, who is called "The Babe," a tub. Miss Latell will play the part of "Neuralgia," the daughter of the hayseed who goes to the style show, and who at once wants to emulate the splendidly clad "mannequins." Carr will have the role of "Hiram Corner," the retiring farmer who feels himself unduly spurred on to learn more about modern dressing. And then there will be singing and dancing, and special lighting and scenic effects.

But, as aforesaid, the big feature of the act, and the absolute novelty, will be the dressing of the "mannequins." And in this work Hugo Jansen presents something which has never before found its way onto the stage. Jansen was not an actor when the war broke out. He was a designer of gowns, with an excellent clientele, in Paris. But stern warfare and gown designing are somehow incompatible, and soon he found every avenue of profit shut to him. Being a Dane, he was not forced to enlist in the French army, and so came to America. Style shows have been an uncommon thing in America, but they have been run purely as such, and not in conjunction with theatrical performances. But Jansen knew that musical comedy and such like, have run very much to elaborate dressing, in recent years, and so he devised the plan of designing a dress quite by itself, and wherever it has played hundreds of women have invariably turned out to see the gown designing exhibition.

Miss Carr, who will receive a splendid reception here during the week. Very well known here, and with a wide circle of friends, she is sure of creating considerable interest as one of the "Five Violin Beauties," an act which has no parallel on the stage. Five young women, all accomplished players of the violin, play in this act, and that portion of their act where they impersonate the women of different nations, they invariably score a distinct hit. The five young women are: Miss Shaw, Violet, Lewis, Glover and Anderson.

"The Fixer" is the title of a whimsical comedy to be played by Marion Bush & Co. and Min. the versatile tramp and imitator, will make a distinct addition to the bill. Other acts on the bill are: Hilton Roberts, singing and dancing; Misses and Clements, grand opera singers; The Musical Chef, and the Heart-Song News Pictorial. Good seats may be obtained in advance at Phone 88.

Beginning Monday, May 10, the theatre will be devoted to a summer run of moving pictures of the highest possible grade. For the entire first week Marie Dressler and Charles Chaplin will appear in "Tillie's Punctured Romance," in six parts, the biggest film comedy ever produced. On the following week, for the first three days Andrew Mack in "The Ragged Earl" will be the feature, and for the last half "The Heart of Maryland," with Marie Dressler in the leading role. Other, and shorter pictures, will also be shown. The prices will be 5, 10 and 15 cents.

THE OWL THEATRE: Leo Tolstoi, the author: Herbert Breton, the producer: Nance O'Neil, Theda Bara and William Shay, the stars. A marvelous combination, and "Kreutzer Sonata," the product, is all that could be expected for a motion picture play. The film, for the first time in Lowell today and tomorrow at well known owl prices, New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, and all the big centres of theatre-going, has been charged enormous prices to see this particular play. Again he it remembered that Lowell can view the same attractions at unheard-of prices at the Owl. Low O'Neil, with her pet actress, Nance O'Neil, with open arms. She is known from coast to coast. A tragedienne with wonderful ability, her first picture appearance will prove the great attraction of the current picture season. Of course the Owl theatre does not go in much for trills, but for downright good shows they cannot beat this enterprising management. It is proved daily at all times of the year. In "Kreutzer Sonata," Count Leo Tolstoi has written a wonderfully compelling story of heart interest about the life of the heroine, Miriam, a young Russian girl. Through an unfortunate love affair Miriam is threatened with the loss of her father-in-law's fortune. A struggling musician, to marry her, for a money consideration. The couple go to America, where they are later followed by Miriam's family, including Cecilia, her sister. Between Cecilia and Gregor a passionate love affair develops. Despite their secrecy the wife discovers the truth, and, torn between love of her little girl and outraged pride, she confronts her fickle husband and unnatural sister. Her revellings and the denunciation of her father are alike unavailing, and at last, driven to desperation, she takes vengeance into her own hands, and a play of unusual strength is ended in a most unexpected manner. Sinuous Theda Bara plays the sister with that peculiar fascinating style all her very own. William Shay is the husband and a wonderful cast plays the lesser parts. Five other photoplays will complete a great program.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

"The Rose of the Rancho," with Besse Barriscale, showing at the Academy of Music today, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a pictureization of a powerful story of California about the year 1850.

when the government at Washington asked the order requiring the registration of all ranch properties. Life in the far west at that period is beautifully portrayed in five wonderful reels and the settings and costumes are most picturesque. There are many tensely thrilling situations. Besse Barriscale, who appears in the leading role, is a photo-play actress who occupies a very high position in the favor of the theatre-goers of the country. "The Black Box" will be shown, the episode comprising two thrilling reels, and there will be other dramas and a good comedy.

THE JEWEL THEATRE

The cool and comfortable Jewel theatre will offer a program of pictures today and tomorrow, featuring four great actors. Ben Wilson in "The Ladder of Fortune," Francis Ford and Anna Little in "The Outcast," a western play, Rosemary Thely, an ex-viagra play, in "Saved by a Dream." Other pictures will also be shown. To those who are suspicious or sceptical, we say, "Come to one of the performances." It's a well known fact in the world of motion pictures, that the Universal corporation is the biggest company in the states, and every picture shown at the Jewel is booked direct from their many studios. These pictures are always absolutely first shown in Lowell, and the offer of star actors employed by that company is a surprising one. Bowling in the Jewel basement. Come in and try the alleys.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

If your vegetables or preserves scorch while cooking, says Cook, remove the kettle from the fire at once and set in a pan of cold water letting it remain there for ten or fifteen minutes; at the end of that time you will find the scorched taste has entirely vanished from the food, leaving it as good as before.

Should a cake be burned on the outside through careless baking scrape the black parts very carefully and brush with beaten white of egg. Then dust with castor sugar and put the cake back into the oven for five minutes, when all signs of burn will have disappeared.

To prevent milk or food cooked in milk from scorching, rinse the sauce pan out in cold water and rub over with a little fresh butter or lard. If the skimmings are removed from the legs when a fowl is drawn the meat of the leg will be as good as that of the second joint.

Cook contributes some moth preventives which she is sure will be welcome, just now. When storing clothing for the summer sprinkle whole cloves among the articles instead of mothballs. This will keep the moths away and the odor is far from disagreeable.

To drive moths away, get some rock sulphur or brimstone from a druggist, and place small lumps among the things put away, after well brushing them. It will leave no smell or mark of any sort, and no moth will go near the box or drawer where brimstone is placed.

To prevent moths attacking furniture while away on holiday, soak pieces of cotton wool in turpentine and stuff into the corners of chairs and sofas.

Kerosene is a very necessary household accessory, says Cook. It will remove flyspecks from brass. Apply with a flannel rag. It will remove fresh ink and paint stains. Added to cold soap suds it will remove blood stains. A spoonful added to boiled starch prevents its sticking. A soft cloth moistened with kerosene cleans the floorboards of an oil stove.

Sub a mop moistened with kerosene over the hardwood or painted floors. Takes up all the dust and leaves a pleasant looking polish. It will take out grease or tar spots if put on while spot is fresh. Wash out in cold water, using no soap. A little kerosene added to water in which windows are to be washed makes them clear and easy to polish. Washing doors and window screens with kerosene improves their look.

The odor of kerosene keeps away flies, mosquitoes and moths. Applied frequently to wooden beds will keep away possible bugs. Applied about sink and waste pipes will keep away cockroaches and other bugs. It removes rust from the stove. It removes vaseline stains. To remove stain of kerosene, cover with oatmeal or corn meal. Leave it alone for two days. Brush well.

Cook says that red ink placed in rinsing water will keep the color in pink kingham. If you wash silk stockings after each wearing they will last much longer. A faded dress can be made white by washing it in boiling cream of tartar water.

After washing a white knitted jersey, put it on a coathanger to dry and hang it on a line in the air. It will keep a better shape than if pegged on the line.

The way to avoid wasting starch is simple, says Cook. Let the starch settle, pour off the water and dry the starch in a warm oven. It will form into a hard cake and you can use it again. To prevent the iron from sticking and to get a beautiful gloss to linen, add just a little soap to your starch.

Blocks of camphor dispersed in all corners of damp rooms in a new house will effectively banish damp in a very short time, even when fires have proved ineffectual. They should be simply laid on paper or on the bare shelves of a damp room or linen closet. The blocks gradually decrease in size, and when they finally disappear should be replaced until their purpose is served.

Pasteurized food, says Cook, is the best preventive of the dreaded summer complaint. If you cannot afford to buy the regulation pasteurizer, which will cost you three dollars or a trifle less, use this method: Fill jars or bottles with the milk or milk diluted with water or gruel, whatever formula you use in feeding the baby, and fasten the corks or lids tight.

Set these bottles into a deep pot of cold water, and bring the latter to the boiling point as rapidly as possible. Lift the net from the stove and allow the bottles to remain in the water for twenty minutes.

Then set them in the sink and turn first warm and then cold water over them, making the change gradually. As soon as they are cool, set them on the ice until baby is to be fed and reheated the milk until it is just lukewarm.

Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, but gradually widens until it reaches the base of the hips, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back.

"As this camisole fits closely over the bust, it can only be put on by undoing the placket which buttons half way down its back.

"The camisole will stand elaborate trimming and usually has a broad band of lace insertion or hand-embroidered edged with a fine frilling about the scalloped lower edge as well as outlining in square shaped neck and entirely forming its arm-eye shoulder-straps."

"Surely, I must have one now," said Marjorie delightedly. "I can make one easily myself, Marie, can't I?"

"You certainly can," answered Marie. "and you will find it a very pretty and useful addition to your wardrobe."

PRACTICAL TAILORED SUIT REQUISITE

—Four in All

Perhaps the newest and most interesting feature in the very full skirts that are cut uneven or to form points at their lower edges. They are not essentially practical for one can hardly think of applying them to anything but the exceptional costume and it is hardly probable that they will come into anything like general use, but they are interesting and smart and certainly a departure. A very beautiful gown that has just been unpacked, is made of faulle silk in one of the rich and beautiful shades of blue that is not quite so dark as navy. The skirt is cut in nine gores that flare most generously at their lower edge but are by no means narrow at the belt for at that point, the skirt is gathered. Each gore is shaped so that the edges are not at the center and while the difference is not great, it gives a very novel line, the shape of each gore being not unlike that of an umbrella section. At the seams are sewed little drop ornaments and as a matter of course, the skirt is short. The shaped edge also means that the under side is apparent as the wearer walks, consequently the skirt is faced with white satin and the lower edges of this facing are finished with silver braid approximately one inch in width. The bodice illustrates the tendency toward simplicity and reserve in trimming and at the same time gives evidence of the resourcefulness with which these simple models are relieved of over-severity. It is cut out at the front in the form of a rectangle and at the back, it is surplice and the surplice ends are extended to form a sash. The quimper is of white satin with a high stock collar and two rows of tiny white satin buttons down the front outlining the edge of the bodice and on the white satin is a row of silver braid. The closing is made of the front, where the edges are faced together with a silk lining of brilliant cardinal red and in this touch of bright color, the artist's hand is felt. A dinner costume somewhat more elaborate than the preceding one but also suggesting the skirt that is shaped at the lower edge is made of two-toned taffeta and to obtain the peculiar shade, the wool is dull blue and the warp is a shade of rose. The skirt is cut to form four rather deep points, two at each side of the front and two at each side of the back. It is wide and much flared and on the lower edge is a gathered ruffle about three inches in width of the silk which is fringed out in a way to show the rose-colored edge and on the under side of the skirt is a soft deep blue of the rose-colored silk caught here and there with bunches of roses. The deep bodice portion shows a glimpse of white lace and there is an oddly shaped silk portion drawn up over the gulf at the lower edge which is finished with a tiny little fringed-out ruffle and there are also over-sleeves of the silk that extend from the wrists to the elbows, only the lace appearing above.

An exceedingly handsome coat suit of taffeta adapted to afternoon visits and the like is made of striped silk, blue with dull rich coloring in contrast combined with plain blue. The skirt is wide and circular but is cut shorter at the front to drop at the sides, back and at the front to reveal an under skirt of black satin for a depth of four or five inches. There is a bodice of the striped silk trimmed with the plain with a chemise of fine lace and there is also a fancy little coat of the plain blue with trimming of the striped material. It makes an exceedingly beautiful costume and an especially interesting one, because of the shaping of the skirt. While it is not at all likely that such a costume will be taken up for the costume of general wear, it undoubtedly will appear on those of more exceptional use and when well handled, it assuredly possesses a charm of its own.

For the coat suits, plaid skirts and skirts of circular shaping have great vogue. A new one that has special value because of the use of the most of the canvas cloth in a rich deep blue. The skirt is laid in a succession of rather narrow box-plaits and over each plait there is a little trimming of black braid to about yoke depth.

If there is nothing radically new to chronicle since the Paris openings, there are a great many developments that are of interest and there are tendencies that it may be well to discuss, while details of the fashionable toilette are such that they will be best left to the successful or creative or hopeless failure as they are selected with wisdom or without. Short, full skirts are so easily exaggerated into the absurd that that presents a danger. Whenever we have fancy footwear, there are unlimited possibilities for the display of poor taste and this season, short skirts and fancy footwear make two all important features. The latest work from Paris asserts that the beautiful, carefully made high shoes of fine leather or cloth in color to match the costume are held smarter, more dignified and in better taste than the low shoes. Last week, mention was made of dancing shoes of white satin made on these lines and the same general idea will be carried out on the costumes of the best dressed women. Say what we will and defy convention as we may, the really well-dressed woman is never extreme and never allows her costume to degenerate into anything that touches vulgarity. Such unseemly exposure as results from thin hosiery and low shoes with skirts six or eight inches from the ground, is in bad taste and cannot be anything else, no matter who may exploit it no matter under what auspices it may appear. From a good authority comes the statement that one of the best known graces of Paris has never been seen upon the street in a low shoe and while that may be a little extreme in view of the possibilities

EFFECTIVE BUT SIMPLE DESIGNS

Nothing makes quite such dainty frocks for the tiny folk as fine white materials embroidered by hand, and here are two dresses that show most effective designs and at the same time are simple and easy to make. The baby's dress is made in panel effect and here the panel is hemstitched to the plain portion of the dress, but it can of course be joined in any way that may be liked. Often fine narrow lace insertion is applied over the seams. The material illustrated is handkerchief lawn, but there are numberless pretty ones that are in every way appropriate. To make the dress will be needed 2-3 yards of material 38 inch wide, 1-5 yards 44 in. wide. The short frock shown on the second figure is as simple as can be and absolutely charming and attractive. It is tucked to form its own yoke and these tucks can of course be either sewed by hand or by machine. It is made with straight lower edge, consequently the finish can be a hem, lace insertion as in this instance or hemstitching and the frock can be made of hemstitching as indicated in the back view. The sleeves can be either short or long and the neck, square or high. The low neck frock of white lawn, embroidered, is a very dainty little garment, adapted to baby's most important occasions. The high neck dress with the long sleeves made of Dresden lawn or some similar material becomes a prosaic one adapted to the morning, but it will always be pretty, always becoming. For the 3 year size will require 2-3 yards of material 38 inches wide, 1-3 yards 44 inches wide with 2 yards of insertion to trim as shown in the front view; 1-3 yards of hemstitching 29 inches wide, 3-5 yard of material 36, to make as shown in the back view.

AGE AND THE HANDS

Sometimes we are obliged to wonder where all the time and energy of the world of today, war and women's suffrage. We can no longer find the old lady with the bonnet and shawl in the big cities, and even in the smaller towns she is quite a rarity. If women but only realized it, they would find that there is more necessity for fussing and caring for one's grooming when one is fading, than when possessed of radiant youth.

Our hands need attention as we climb the years. Neglected hands frequently show evidence of a woman's age before the face, to which latter she gives more attention. To conceal the age lines at the wrist long cuffs and soft lace ruffles should be worn that come well down toward the knuckles.

The nails should receive care, especially if one has to do housework. Both household tasks and age make the nails brittle, but if one is thoughtful about the nightly rub of cold cream, and the daily use of good soap, the nails will remain young even after their day of youth has sped.

Of warm weather, the lesson might well be taken to heart. The new shoes are really most attractive. Besides these high ones, there are others that are laced some on the sides and some at the back and there are also a great variety of low shoes that are higher than pumps and when the skirts are not more than three or four inches from the ground, they are very pretty worn with low shoes.

Of course the idea of therewith of course the idea of therewith from which the full skirts and the flaring skirts and the drooping shoulders and the round necks are taken, but in the days when those costumes were new, there were no leather shoes for women's feet, they were all made of silk for dress occasions and of cloth for every-day wear, and were closed with lacing just after the manner of those just discussed. If they were less shapeless, less elegant, the improvement is of course due to growth and should be welcome, but the general idea remains the same. Not so very long ago, a leading bootmaker here in New York displayed in his window the shoes of a century. It was a most interesting exhibition and it is a most interesting exhibition to mind many things, for after all, the walking boots and the leather boots for women's wear are a comparative innovation. Our great grandmothers if not our grandmothers were no such thing and we cannot wonder that their hours of walking were limited when we consider the kind of covering provided for their feet. Shoes only were of leather and even the shoes were absurdly thin for outdoor wear.

Spats are being extensively worn, perhaps more extensively worn than is altogether desirable, for they are by no means always becoming and there is a strange, inexplicable tendency of human nature to choose the thing least suited to the need. So often see the lightest colored, the most conspicuous spats worn by the woman with the thickest ankles and least shapely feet and after all, the inconspicuous shoes are the best for general wear and there are a sufficient number of attractive ones shown to provide variety.

From shoes to the corsage is something of a jump, perhaps, but in the round neck and the drooping shoulders are to be found the most conspicuous evidences of the period from which prevailing fashions have been developed. If we have nothing else for which to be thankful, we should surely sound a pean of praise over the departure of the extremely low bodices and the excessively distasteful treatment thereof so much in evidence recently. The fashionable gown of the summer is made with the round neck and the short, puffed sleeves and it is pretty, becoming and modest without.

Just now Monte Carlo is in its height strange as they may seem, with the sound of the cannon almost within hearing and we learn that the neckline is almost invariably round, slightly lower, at the back than at the front and that the waistline and really the taffetas are so lovely that it would seem impossible to grow weary thereof. The chameleon taffetas are especially smart and especially beautiful and there are combinations of mauve and rose that are in the very height of style, but no matter how beautiful the colors may be, there are always a generous number of black and white costumes to be met wherever fashionable folk are to be found. Often the white is more conspicuous than the black, yet in spite of that, it is evidence of that that particular color scheme is suggested by the general condition abroad. White silk with black velvet bands used as trimming for the full skirts is far from quiet in effect, but it is inherently beautiful and possesses a charm that is distinctly its own. Black with touches of color is much in evidence too and women of quiet taste will like the idea of a black taffeta gown with wide girdle enriched with color and with embroidery.

REGARDED AS SERIOUS MATTER AT WASHINGTON

American Steamer Gulfight Sunk
by German Submarine With the Loss of Captain and Two of Crew

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The United States today awaited the results of an investigation into the case of the American steamer Gulfight, reported to have been torpedoed with the loss of her captain and two members of the crew. Pending the development of official acts, however, no action will be taken.

As viewed here the occurrence is regarded as a very serious matter and as one calling for some kind of representations to be made to the German government by the United States. Officials, however, decline to discuss the character of these representations.

In official circles it was thought that the inquiry probably would disclose the fact that the attack on the American vessel was an accident and not deliberate. In that event it was considered likely that no action would be taken by the American government beyond a demand for damages.

The United States some time ago in a note to Germany in reply to a proclamation of a war zone around the British Isles said that it would hold Germany to a strict accountability for loss of American lives or vessels.

The inquiry which will be made through American diplomatic channels will be directed with a view to ascertaining the manner of the torpedoing of the Gulfight and to fixing the responsibility for the attack. It is believed that several days will be required to finish the investigation.

Secretary Bryan said that a thorough inquiry would be made but before official reports will be issued the Washington government would make no comment.

Should another day pass without information from American officials abroad they probably would be instructed to get in touch with the remote localities where the Gulfight and her crew were taken. Officials assume that inasmuch as the first information concerning the attack came from London Consul General Skinner already has telegraphed his subordinate consular agents for reports.

On the face of the despatches officials admit that the attack on the ship is a serious matter but they intend that a very thorough investigation shall be made and no hasty action taken.

LOST ON U. S. SHIP

Chas. Schort of Chicago and Eugene Chapanaeta went Down With the Gulfight.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The two Americans in addition to Capt. Gunther, who lost their lives when the American steamer Gulfight was torpedoed off the Selly Islands were Chas. C. Schort of Chicago, the wireless operator, and Eugene Chapanaeta of Port Arthur, Tex., a seaman, according to a cablegram received today by the Gulf Refining Co., owners of the vessel.

PRESIDENT IS INFORMED

News of Torpedoing of Gulfight Reaches Him at New Haven, on Way to Washington.

NEW HAVEN, May 3.—News of the torpedoing of the American steamer Gulfight was communicated to President Wilson last night, on his special car, en route from Williamstown, Mass., to Washington. He declined to make any comment.

ITALY FOR WAR

All Ready to Begin
Hostilities—To Enter
Conflict Soon

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Such advances as have come to the United States government through official and unofficial channels within the last few days indicate that Italy's preparations clearly tend to her participation in the war at an early date.

Aside from her extensive military preparations and orders for war supplies the expected public appearance of King Victor Emmanuel at the Garibaldi celebration in Rome Wednesday is looked upon there as of much significance and demonstrations then in favor of war would not be surprising. Heretofore all such popular outbursts have been given no official sanction and have at times been repressed but present indications are that the point is almost at hand when a final decision on Italy's policy will be reached.

American diplomats in Europe, some of whom are in touch with the Italian situation, believe the decision is now only a matter of days and arrangements already are being made to accommodate interests should the emergency arise.

If Italy should enter the war it is understood she would ask the American embassies in Vienna, Berlin and Constantinople to care for her diplomatic interests.

UNITED STATES SENATOR JAMES A. O'GORMAN DEAF TO SUFFRAGISTS' PLEA FOR VOTES

LOWER: CROWD OUTSIDE SENATOR O'GORMAN'S WALL STREET OFFICE.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The first big gun in the national suffrage campaign has been spiked. Withstanding a volley of arguments presented by six of New York's noted suffragists, United States Senator James A. O'Gorman frankly told a big deputation of women who called upon him that he would not vote for the federal suffrage amendment or any other change in the constitution unless such a proposed change was made imperative by the people of the state. Disappointment on the part of the 200 suffragists was not disguised when Senator O'Gorman came out with the frank statement that he was unable to respond to their call to support the Susan B. Anthony amendment. This statement was met with audible sighs from all parts of the big office of the senator at No. 37 Wall street. The call upon Senator O'Gorman represented the first step in a nation wide campaign begun by the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage to interview every one of the 531 members of congress before this body convenes in December.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The cruiser Brooklyn at Boston was today ordered to the Orient to relieve the Saratoga as flagship of the Asiatic fleet. The Saratoga will be brought home for overhaul.

Tucke, past grand masters of Masons in Massachusetts; Daniel W. Lawrence, W. H. H. Soule, Chas. E. Pierce, George H. Rhodes and Selon W. Stevens. The supreme council, A. A. S. R., was represented by Charles T. Gallagher, 33rd degree, active member and deputy for Massachusetts; A. G. Pollard, 33rd degree, active member; Lowell George W. Currier, 33rd degree, active member and deputy for New Hampshire; William E. Livingston, 33rd degree; Frank K. Stearns, 33rd degree; and Harry G. Pollard, 33rd degree, of Lowell. Past Grand Master W. H. H. Soule represented the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and appendant orders. In addition to the above delegations were representatives from Ancient York Lodge, Pentucket lodge, Kilwinning lodge, William North lodge, Mt. Calvary chapter of Rose Croix, Lowell council, Princes of Jerusalem, Lowell Lodge of Perfection, Mt. Herob, R. A. Chapter, Absconter, council R. and S. Masters, and Pilgrim commandery, No. 3, Knights Templar, all of Lowell. Delegations were also present from the Mechanics Savings bank, of which deceased was vice president; the Trades & Mechanics Insurance Co., of which Mr. Hutchinson was president, and also from the Lowell Gas Light Co., of which he was a director.

Among the mourners was the son of deceased of Philadelphia.

Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Appleton Grannis. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Arthur D. Price, who is the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

Not Because of Any Friction With Germany, However, Says American Commission for Belgian Relief.

LONDON, May 3.—The American commission for Belgian relief says there is no truth in the report published by the Daily Mail in a despatch from Rotterdam to the effect that houses loaded with the commission's supplies are being held at Rotterdam because of friction with the German authorities.

These houses have been diverted the commission explains because the warehouses in Belgium hold food for one month ahead. The cargoes now being discharged are to be restored in Rotterdam.

POLISH TAG DAY SUCCESS

Sum Collected Will Net About
$1500—The Committee Well
Pleased With Result

The Polish Tag day for the relief of the wounded in Poland was a complete success.

The bags of money turned in by the collectors Saturday night were left in a pile in the Five Cent Savings bank and as nearly as could be estimated it amounted to $1500.

Along the business streets Saturday a number of neat and polite Polish girls, equipped with boxes, were urging the purchase of little flags and cards worded "Help Poland." These found a ready sale as very few who heard the story of the terrible suffering in Poland could refuse.

The people in general showed a spirit of sympathy in the readiness with which they bought the tags. The Polish relief committee is highly gratified at the result.

The headquarters was made at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, and Dr. Clarence B. Livingston took special interest in the work.

O'Brien was a devout attendant of the Sacred Heart church.

SALTARY—Mrs. Alice V. (Mullen) Saltary, a well known and devout attendant of St. Michael's church, died this morning at St. John's hospital after a short illness. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband William and one daughter, Mary; also her mother, Mrs. Mary Mullen, four sisters, Mrs. John Mullen, Mrs. John Covey, Mrs. Peter Birchall, and Mrs. Mary Mullen, and one brother, James Mullen. Her remains were removed to her late home, No. 31 Stanley street.

BERNARD D. WARD ELECTED
At the convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies of the Archdiocese, an extensive report of which appears in another column, Mr. Bernard D. Ward, president of St. Peter's Holy Name society was elected a member of the executive board. Mr. Ward has taken a lively interest in the work of the federation and his election is an evidence of how his work is appreciated.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE
Oliver J. Coburn of Dracut, whose cattle were killed by the federal government some time ago on account of the foot and mouth disease, has been given permission to purchase one cow and keep her on his premises. If he does he must send her record to the authorities and use the cow as a test animal, permitting it to range his farm. If, at the end of a certain length of time, the animal is in a healthy condition, the government will give permission to keep a large number, and in this way remove the quarantine.

DEATHS
O'BRIEN—Mrs. Mary O'Brien died last evening at her home, 541 Gorman street. She was the widow of Daniel J. O'Brien and a daughter of the late Edward J. and Mary E. O'Connor of Dublin, Ireland. She will be mourned by a large circle of friends to whom she endeared herself by her kind nature and gracious hospitality. She is survived by two sisters and a brother, as well as several nephews and nieces, among them being Mrs. J. Joseph Farrell of Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. J. Henry O'Connor of New Hampshire and Miss Helen Farrell of this city. Mrs.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE
Oliver J. Coburn of Dracut, whose cattle were killed by the federal government some time ago on account of the foot and mouth disease, has been given permission to purchase one cow and keep her on his premises. If he does he must send her record to the authorities and use the cow as a test animal, permitting it to range his farm. If, at the end of a certain length of time, the animal is in a healthy condition, the government will give permission to keep a large number, and in this way remove the quarantine.

BERNARD D. WARD ELECTED
At the convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies of the Archdiocese, an extensive report of which appears in another column, Mr. Bernard D. Ward, president of St. Peter's Holy Name society was elected a member of the executive board. Mr. Ward has taken a lively interest in the work of the federation and his election is an evidence of how his work is appreciated.

TWENTY-SEVEN LIVES WERE LOST IN FLOODS WHICH SWEEPED THROUGH TEXAS

TROLLEY CAR WRECKED IN TEXAS FLOOD

AUSTIN, Tex., May 1.—This city bore the brunt of the spring floods. In the accompanying illustration is shown a trolley car at the bottom of a culvert. The rushing waters had loosened the supports of the structure on which the car was crossing, and it tumbled several feet. Many of the passengers were injured. Twenty-seven persons perished seeking escape from the rushing waters.

MISSION FOR MEN

Opened at St. Michael's Church by Dominican Fathers

A week's mission for the men of St. Michael's parish was opened at the beautiful church in Sixth street last night with an exceptionally large attendance. As the mission advances it will in all probability prove one of the most successful in the history of the parish. The mission is being conducted by Rev. Fr. Healey, Lector and Murphy, of the Dominican order, who have charge of the women's retreat which closed yesterday afternoon. All three priests are eloquent preachers and their subjects at the services to be held during the week will be of deep interest.

Fr. Healey preached a sermon on "Fidelity" last evening, and he also outlined the purpose of the mission and urged all to make it with a spirit of earnestness and perseverance. He announced that the morning services will be at 5 and 8 o'clock, each mass to be preceded by the rosary and followed by instructions. The evening services will be held at 7.30 o'clock. In opening Fr. Healey took occasion to compliment the men on their attendance and expressed the belief that the attendance and enthusiasm on the opening night would be surpassed before the end of the week.

The order of exercises last evening was as follows: Instructions, recitation of the rosary, congregational singing of mission hymns, sermon and benediction of the blessed sacrament.

Retreat For Children

A retreat for the children communicants of the parish was also opened at the church this morning, with a mass at 7 o'clock. The retreat will last three days with a mass which will be followed by the papal blessing. Confessions for the children will start tomorrow afternoon and all will receive communion at the mass Wednesday morning. The retreat is also conducted by the mission fathers.

Confessions for the men of the parish will start tomorrow night and will be continued throughout the week.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

MAN ARRESTED BY LIEUT. MAHER REFUSES TO GIVE AN ACCOUNT OF HIMSELF

In the arrest this forenoon by Lieut. Martin Maher of a man who gave his name as John Smith and address as South Boston, the authorities at the police station believe they have a character who is considered suspicious on account of his story and keen way of avoiding answering questions asked him at the station.

Smith was approached by Lieut. Maher while carrying two suspicious looking bundles under his arm along Central street. He was questioned and said that he purchased the parcels, which contained two pairs of shoes, from friends on Monday street for three dollars. Maher was not satisfied with the explanation offered by the suspect and took him to the police station, where he was put through the third degree by Supt. Welch.

In the bundle were found a pair of gentleman's shoes numbered 2555 and a pair of child's shoes known as the Walton shoe. Smith said he came to Lowell Saturday night with $15 and met several friends in a hotel with them for a while, and finally agreed to pay three dollars for the two pairs of shoes. Since Saturday night he told the police, he had stopped at a "50 cent" lodging house. The superintendent attempted to have the man under suspicion go out with an inspector and show him the house where he spent the past two nights, but the defendant was not agreeable to this and said he would not go.

He then informed the police chief that he earned the $15 found on him by working for a painter named Ingelstein in Boston. He also said that he resided in South Boston, but refused to give the name of any person with whom he was acquainted. On a card issued last month at the State hospital and found in the man's pocket was written "Patrick Dillon" no address. A skeleton key was also taken from the man's clothes and other small articles.

CITY HALL NOTES

The regular meeting of the municipal council will be held tomorrow forenoon at 11 o'clock and will be preceded by an industrial accident board hearing at 10.30 o'clock. The industrial accident board will hold another hearing on Friday forenoon at 10.30 o'clock. The Lowell Historical society will meet at city hall on May 12, at 7.30 p. m.

The street department is testing samples of sand brought in from North Chelmsford by Percy Parker and William Drapau. Both men have sand banks in North Chelmsford and Commissioner Caruana stated today that he thought the sand would probably be all right. The commissioner wants 5000 tons of mineral sand to be used in connection with the filtration plant at the boulevard. He thought it might be necessary to go to Nashua, N. H. to get the right kind of sand and he says he will be "fished to death" if the right kind of sand can be produced nearer home.

Francis Connor, inspector of buildings, was passing around the stairs this forenoon. The cause of Frank's unusual generosity could be found at home where a hounding baby boy arrived early today.

FEES FOR SIGNS

City Council Will Discuss New Sign Act Tomorrow

Each and every member of the city council believes in signs of some description, but when it comes to advertising signs they are all at sea. They have been reading the new act relative to signs, awnings and other projections in public ways, and they will discuss the proposition at their meeting tomorrow.

There are all in favor of assessing "ad" taxes, but they are not in favor of taxing the fellow who has his name on his store awning. Commissioner Putnam says the men who derive revenue from a sign should be made to pay a tax, and he does not think that the price named in the new act, $1 for each permit, is sufficient. The average number of signs permits in a year is 250 and would mean only $250 a year. Commissioner Putnam inclines to the belief that the assessors should include the signs in their valuations and assess them accordingly. The new act which will become operative in August, reads as follows:

Section 1.—The municipal officer, board, commission or other municipal authority having charge of the laying out of public ways in cities and towns, is hereby authorized to grant permits for the use of any building, building, and other structures projecting into, or placed on or over the public highways, and to make rules and regulations relating thereto, and to prescribe the penalties for a breach of any such rules and regulations. Not exceeding $5 for each day during which any sign, advertising device, clock, marquee, permanent awning or other structure is placed or maintained contrary to the rules and regulations so made, after five days' notice to remove the same has been given by the said officer, board, commission or other municipal authority.

Section 2.—All signs, advertising devices, clocks, marquees, permanent awnings and other like structures projecting into, or placed on or over the public highways, shall be connected therewith in accordance with the requirements of the official drawings showing building, and other structures, and other municipal authority having charge of the laying out of public ways in cities and towns.

Section 3.—This act shall not apply to signs or other structures projecting into or over the highway a distance of less than six inches, nor to poles, wires, cables, and appurtenances of steam railroads, electric railway, telephone and power companies.

Section 4.—Chapters 222 and 280 of the acts of the year 1913 and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed, but such repeal shall not affect any permit already granted under the provisions of such acts.

Section 5.—This act shall take effect three months after its passage. (Approved April 13, 1915.)

THE ROYAL THEATRE

Again the magical name of George Kleine is brought to Lowell. This time the attraction bearing the world famous name is a three act drama of the early Roman days, "Spartacus" or "The Revolt of the Roman Gladiators" another gripping and dramatic showing, battle scenes with blood-thirsty lions rushing on unsuspecting martyrs. What stirring days they were, and the motion picture brings them before you as you calmly sit in a comfortable chair, after parting with a small sum for admission. Surely the wonders of the twentieth century will never cease. To try to describe the entire plot of "Spartacus" and give it justice, it would take at least a column of newspaper space, so we will not attempt to do so. However, we can say that it is another "Cabrera" play of gigantic scenery, wonderfully realistic fighting scenes, with thousands of actors engaged, and a plot that keeps the interest keyed up from start to finish. The big metropolitan papers have said of this play, "Old Rome lives again in 'Spartacus'."

ATTACK ON U. S. STEAMER

AMBASSADOR GENERAL INSTRUCTED TO ASK GERMAN GOVERNMENT FOR ITS VERSION

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Ambassador Gerard has been instructed by Secretary Bryan to ask the German government for its version of the attack by German airmen on the American steamer Cushing last week. The report of the American consul at Amsterdam was forwarded to Ambassador Gerard with their request that he show it to the German government and ask for whatever facts it might have concerning the incident. Upon the explanation made by it as well as the statements of the crew of the Cushing representations of the United States probably will be based.

LATE WAR NEWS

damaged three vessels off the Selby Islands, one of the victims being the American oil tank steamer Gulflight. No further official announcements have been made concerning fighting in the Dardanelles, but unofficial despatches agree that the allies are progressing toward the Narrows under cover of the fire of their naval guns, which are inflicting great damage on the Turkish defenses, including the reported total destruction of the town of Dardanelles.

Turks Claim Victory

A late Turkish official announcement claims a victory near Gabara Tepe on the Gallipoli peninsula which is said to have resulted in the retreat of the Colonial British troops to the shelter of their warships. This account, however, does not agree with the British official report published Saturday which declared that the British were resuming the offensive after a stubborn resistance on the part of the Turks.

German Advance

Petrograd continues to assert that the advance of German troops in the direction of Riga is only an aid but an uneasy feeling is growing in London that these invaders are in force sufficiently strong seriously to threaten Russian communications.

Other sectors on the eastern front record only minor engagements, while the western front is evidently again taking a breathing spell after the strenuous activity of the last fortnight.

EMPEROR WILLIAM AND PRINCE HENRY OF PRUSSIA AT ANTWERP LAST WEEK

LONDON, May 3.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. says that Emperor William and Prince Henry of Prussia, his brother, were at Antwerp the end of last week and visited the harbor fortifications and the submarine yards. Subsequent to this they returned to Luxembourg.

The local newspapers were forbidden to mention this visit until such time as the emperor was back in Luxembourg. The few persons who recognized his majesty say he looked well but aged.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT NOT TO CHANGE PLANS FOR REOPENING PARLIAMENT

ROME, May 2, 7.30 p. m.—The government has decided unless there are unforeseen happenings not to change the plans for reopening parliament on May 12, the date originally fixed. It is believed the chamber may offer valuable assistance to the cabinet in arriving at a decision which now appears to be almost inevitable.

SWEDISH STEAMER ELUIDA TORPEDOED BY GERMANS IN NORTH SEA

LONDON, May 3.—The Exchange Telegraph Co. has received a despatch from its correspondent at Copenhagen saying that the Swedish steamer Eluida, timber laden, from Helsingborg for Hull, has been torpedoed in the North sea by a German submarine. She went to the bottom in less than three minutes.

The 16 men and two women on board the vessel barely had time to make their escape in one of the small boats. After cruising about for two hours they were picked up by a Danish schooner and landed at Lemvig, Denmark.

TWO TRAWLERS SUNK BY GERMANS 50 MILES OFF ABERDEEN, SCOTLAND

ABERDEEN, Scotland, May 3.—Trawlers making port today declare that a German submarine sunk two trawlers within 50 miles of Aberdeen, Sunday.

The crews of the two vessels, it is believed, were lost.

It would appear as though the submarine ran amuck among the Aberdeen fishing fleet. In addition to sending two to the bottom it chased three other trawlers for 20 miles. A patrol boat was then seen approaching whereupon the submarine submerged.

AN IMPORTANT AUSTRIAN VICTORY IN EASTERN CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED

BERLIN, May 3.—An important Austrian victory in the eastern campaign is announced in the communication issued today from German army headquarters.

The statement is made that the Austrians have pierced and broken the entire Russian front in West Galicia.

SPECTACULAR ADVANCE OF GERMAN ALONG 100 MILE FRONT CONTINUES

PETROGRAD, May 3.—The spectacular advance of German forces along a hundred mile front extending from the Baltic sea near Libau in a southerly direction to the northern tributaries of the river Niemen continues unchecked. It has not disturbed Russian activity in the region south of the Niemen, where, according to information received here, consistent successes are being won by the troops of Emperor Nicholas.

The German movement in the Baltic province which is designed to sever communications with Libau and thus cripple the Russian right wing is not regarded seriously by the Russians inasmuch as the flooring of the Niemen entirely separates the Germans from their base and from the other German armies. The two fields of operations, one each side of the river, are as though they were a thousand miles apart, although actually they are adjacent.

Russian observers characterize the German advance north of the Niemen as a "comic opera affair" designed to induce the Russians to transfer hurriedly troops to that region.

As points to the southward, particularly Ostrolenka, Serafin, Ednorovitz and the whole region between the rivers Skwa and Pless the German offensive has assumed a more formidable character. It is marked by intense and prolonged artillery fire. On Friday the Germans fired 50,000 shells in the district. This was followed by infantry battles in which the Germans, after suffering heavy losses, reached the Russian trenches only to be finally repulsed.

FRENCH REPORT GERMANS MADE TWO ATTACKS WITH ASPHYXIATING GASES

PARIS, May 3.—The French official report of this afternoon follows: "The Germans yesterday made two attacks with asphyxiating gases. One was to the north of Ypres near St. Julien and the other was to the south of Ypres near Hill number 60. Neither one accomplished anything.

"There is nothing to report from the rest of the front."

GERMAN ATTACKS NEAR YPRES REPULSED, SAYS BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT

LONDON, May 3.—There was given out today a British official statement dated May 3 reading as follows: "At 7 p. m. May 1, the Germans attacked Hill number 6, southeast of Ypres, and yesterday evening they attacked in the neighborhood of St. Julien. These attacks were both repulsed. We lost no ground and we inflicted heavy casualties upon the enemy in spite of the fact that he again used poisonous gases, emitted both from tubes in the trenches and from especially manufactured shells. A German aeroplane yesterday was chased by one of our machines, and within rifle range of our trenches and then brought down by our fire."

TURKISH WAR OFFICE CLAIMS FURTHER SUCCESSES ON GALLI POLI PENINSULA

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 3.—The Turkish war department today gave out the following official statement: "In consequence of the attacks proceeding successfully for us the enemy has not succeeded in improving his position on the coast of the Gallipoli peninsula. The fire of our batteries directed against the enemy at Seddul Bahr shows good results."

The statement claims that the French battleship Vengeance have been damaged by shells from the guns of the Turkish forts, and says that the Russian Black sea fleet demonstrated for an hour off the Bosphorus and then retired rapidly in a northerly direction.

U. S. WORSTED COMPANY

IT WINS PRAISE OF BRITISH WAR OFFICE FOR DUPLICATION OF FABRICS FOR THE ARMY

The United States Worsted company has received a splendid testimonial from the British war office for the despatch and perfect workmanship with which the company filled an order for fabric for army uniforms. Special praise is given for the ingenious shown in duplicating jacket serge from samples submitted by the war office. In this case the company has shown how closely it can imitate or reproduce any worsted fabric from a sample.

MATRIMONIAL

Oswald Milbourne and Miss Juliette Blanchette were married last evening, the ceremony being performed at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Joseph Penick, O. M. I. The witnesses were Joseph Blanchette and Theophile Jette. At the close of the ceremony the bridegroom, 122 Tucker street, where a reception was held.

CAR SPRINKLER CO.

Continued

Lowell and the men operating the arms were receiving $14 a week. Mr. Perry said he would be willing to put uniformed conductors in their places at $15.54 a week. The tail end boys were receiving $8 a week and Mr. Perry declared that his company could not afford to pay uniformed conductors $15.54 a week to take the place of $8 a week boys. The contract with the city was of seven months' duration and Mr. Perry figured that to grant all of the street railway men's demands would mean an added expense to the company of about $912, and the contract price, he said, would mean a loss of $1,000 a week. The employment of a uniformed conductor to operate the arm would make an additional expense of about $102.00, and this, Mr. Perry said, the company would be willing to stand for, but the difference for the seven months as represented by the substitution of uniformed conductors for the tail end boys would mean $500, and that, Mr. Perry said, the company would not stand for.

Buy Automobile Sprinklers

It was Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, who made the announcement at city hall today that the sprinkler company had broken its contract with the city. He called at the mayor's office to inform the mayor of what had happened and Mr. Morse said it was up to his department to sprinkle the streets regardless of the car sprinklers.

"I am not taking any sides in this controversy one way or the other," said Mr. Morse, "but I know that it is up to me to get busy with the horse-drawn carts. The contract for street watering has been sealed, signed and delivered and the city has had no part in any trouble that has taken place since the contract was signed. The sprinkler company knew that the trouble was brewing, but they went ahead and signed the contract. The contract is signed by the president of the company, Matthew J. Whittall, and the city has had no hand in the breaking of the contract. I am not familiar enough with the wording of the contract to say just what will happen if the company for breaking the contract. The thing that most concerns me is to find another way of watering the streets. We have 14 watering carts and I guess they will do the trick.

MR. H. W. ALKINS AND MISS LEMIRE BOTH ILL ON DAY SET FOR THEIR MARRIAGE

Many friends of Miss Olive Lemire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemire, of 54 Branch street, and a popular young resident of the Highlands, will be grieved to learn that she is confined to her home by severe illness, on account of which her marriage to Mr. Howard William Atkins of Concord, N. H., which was scheduled to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street, has been indefinitely postponed.

A rather strange coincidence is that Miss Lemire's fiancé, Mr. Atkins, is also confined to his home by illness. All arrangements for the marriage were completed a couple of weeks ago at which time the date of the event was set for today. Just at that time Miss Lemire was taken seriously ill and Mr. Atkins was notified of the illness. The young man came to this city a few days later and visited his fiancée. He returned to his home the same evening and the following day he was also taken ill. Miss Lemire recuperated and then she was informed of the illness of Mr. Atkins and in company with a member of her family she went to Concord, N. H., last week. When she returned she had a relapse and has since been confined to her bed. A day will be set for the marriage as soon as both recover.

U. S. WORSTED COMPANY

IT WINS PRAISE OF BRITISH WAR OFFICE FOR DUPLICATION OF FABRICS FOR THE ARMY

The United States Worsted company has received a splendid testimonial from the British war office for the despatch and perfect workmanship with which the company filled an order for fabric for army uniforms. Special praise is given for the ingenious shown in duplicating jacket serge from samples submitted by the war office. In this case the company has shown how closely it can imitate or reproduce any worsted fabric from a sample.

MATRIMONIAL

Oswald Milbourne and Miss Juliette Blanchette were married last evening, the ceremony being performed at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Joseph Penick, O. M. I. The witnesses were Joseph Blanchette and Theophile Jette. At the close of the ceremony the bridegroom, 122 Tucker street, where a reception was held.

CAR SPRINKLER CO.

Continued

Lowell and the men operating the arms were receiving $14 a week. Mr. Perry said he would be willing to put uniformed conductors in their places at $15.54 a week. The tail end boys were receiving $8 a week and Mr. Perry declared that his company could not afford to pay uniformed conductors $15.54 a week to take the place of $8 a week boys. The contract with the city was of seven months' duration and Mr. Perry figured that to grant all of the street railway men's demands would mean an added expense to the company of about $912, and the contract price, he said, would mean a loss of $1,000 a week. The employment of a uniformed conductor to operate the arm would make an additional expense of about $102.00, and this, Mr. Perry said, the company would be willing to stand for, but the difference for the seven months as represented by the substitution of uniformed conductors for the tail end boys would mean $500, and that, Mr. Perry said, the company would not stand for.

Buy Automobile Sprinklers

It was Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, who made the announcement at city hall today that the sprinkler company had broken its contract with the city. He called at the mayor's office to inform the mayor of what had happened and Mr. Morse said it was up to his department to sprinkle the streets regardless of the car sprinklers.

"I am not taking any sides in this controversy one way or the other," said Mr. Morse, "but I know that it is up to me to get busy with the horse-drawn carts. The contract for street watering has been sealed, signed and delivered and the city has had no part in any trouble that has taken place since the contract was signed. The sprinkler company knew that the trouble was brewing, but they went ahead and signed the contract. The contract is signed by the president of the company, Matthew J. Whittall, and the city has had no hand in the breaking of the contract. I am not familiar enough with the wording of the contract to say just what will happen if the company for breaking the contract. The thing that most concerns me is to find another way of watering the streets. We have 14 watering carts and I guess they will do the trick.

"It is barely possible that we may purchase one or two automobile sprinklers. With the number of streets that are being filled I feel that I could handle the street watering proposition with the 14 watering carts, but we must not lose sight of the fact that each horse-drawn cart is operated at an expense of $5 a day. If we could do the work cheaper with automobile sprinklers, I would be in favor of purchasing one or two of them. I would like to hear from the whole council on this matter and we can discuss it at the meeting tomorrow forenoon."

Worcester Shut Out 4-0
Without a Hit in the
Opening GameManager Barrows
Abuses Horsehide and
Three Runs Result

WORCESTER, May 3.—Manager "Cuke" Barrows lifted the ball high over the right field fence at Boulevard park Saturday afternoon as the lowest inhabitant said, for the most terrific smash ever seen here. There were two on bases and two out when the Lowell manager decided to make his New England magnate debut in this manner. These three runs, or in fact any one of them would have been enough to clinch the victory. "Cuke" Zieser who along in 1913 was invincible, but did not show his stuff in the spring, came through with a no-hit, no-run game that was without a breath of suspicion.

Just two Climbers reached the initial sack and their transportation was issued free.

In the fourth, Donahue, first up, walked Cooney with the count two and two, went after a wide curve and popped weakly to Mayer. Gardella's shirt was grazed by a pitched ball and he ambled to first.

Pottfeger, the former Lowell player, rated as the best batter on the Worcester club, barely topped one of Zeiser's fast ones and Greenhalgh threw him out at first, both runners advancing.

With men on second and third and two down Zeiser faced the only trouble of the entire game. His solution of the difficulty was marvelous. Cabrera, the Cuban, was up. With the count two balls and one strike Zeiser curved two sharp benders over the Worcester batsman not even offering at either. That was the only time Zeiser was in trouble.

A man close to the Red Sox, not a scout, said that Carigan could use a twister right now who could bend them over the way Zeiser did. The twister was remarkable. McChuskey, who went to his right hand side and Dee, who from deep short robbed Young of an almost hit, being particularly bright. Gardella, while his error was the only one of the game, paved the way for the runs that came on Barrow's drive. Cooney and Stinson also played beautiful ball in the field.

Stacy George M. Wright threw the first ball into the field and the usual ceremonies featured by music of a band and quartet, marked the opening of the league season here. The day was cold and dark. Manager Burdett was in no way disheartened by the defeat and promises a come-back in Lowell.

Arguments Began in Court to Import Films
—Decision Soon

After hearing argument on the validity of the law prohibiting the interstate shipment of the Johnson-Willard fight moving pictures, Judge Thomas G. Halahit, sitting in the United States district court at Newark, recently took the matter under advisement. It is expected that he will render his decision about the middle of next week.

Representing the exhibitors of New York, owner of the films, Charles A. Towne and Benjamin F. Spellman of Towne argued on an application for a rule to show cause why an injunction should not be issued to prevent Fred S. Fred, deputy collector of the customs in Newark, a sub-part of New York, from refusing to permit the importation of the pictures. For the government, United States District Attorney J. Warren Davis and Asst. Atty. Joseph L. Deane appeared.

Lengthy argument was presented by counsel for Mr. Weber, whose principal contention was that the federal statute controlling the situation is unconstitutional on the ground that the government cannot prohibit the importation of the reels so long as Mr. Weber intends to exhibit them in his full possession. Counsel argued that inasmuch as Mr. Weber intends to retain the pictures and all rights to exhibit them, even to the extent of making copies, which he intends to show them, they cannot be construed as commerce in the accepted sense.

A baseball team traveling around a league circuit was used as an illustration by Mr. Weber's lawyers. They argued that while congress could legally pass a law prohibiting the interstate shipment of the importation of baseball bats, balls, gloves and paraphernalia to be sold or traded as commerce, it could not prevent the members of the team from carrying the implements about from state to state, retaining possession of them and merely using them for exhibition purposes.

In reply, Mr. Deane stated that it has been generally accepted that such pictures as those involved are had for public morals, and on that score may be kept out of the country. Mr. Deane asked permission to submit a supplemental brief, and Judge Halahit directed counsel on both sides to submit briefs next Tuesday, when he will give the application consideration. His decision will follow shortly, it is expected.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Alpine A. C. would like to play some amateur baseball next Saturday afternoon. The Alpines are some club. R. Woods, their manager, is a hustling young man and one of the greatest ticket takers in the city. B. Woods says that the Alpines are the greatest run getters that you ever saw. The Alpines are not from Switzerland. B. Woods lives at 75 Hampshire street.

The St. Michael Juniors would like to play the Immaculate Conception Juniors for a quarter ball, May 8. They are also desirous of playing any 11 or 12 year old team in the city the Saturday afternoon following. The personnel of the team is as follows: R. Burns, c; J. Touhey, p; L. Mullerkey, 1b; J. Tobin, 2b; J. Tully, ss; J. Foley, 3b; L. Leelan, lf; Garvey, rf. Send challenges through this paper.

Jack Hennessy and Edwin Landers have been signed to play with the Tom club against the Warren club on May 30. Hennessy is an infielder, while Landers is an experienced man behind the bat.

The Eustis Avenue baseball team would like to challenge any four-year-old team in the city. C. C. Macdonald, c; C. Sanford, p; King, 1b; E. Fox, 2b; Walker, 3b; V. Duffy, ss; Nuthall, lf; M. Sanford, cf; E. Duffy, rf; M. Fox, 3b. Send all challenges to W. Roman, 23 Boynton street.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLF

Eastern Asso. Couldn't

22 on Reserve List

BRIDGEPORT, May 3.—It was stated here Saturday, upon what is regarded as the best of authority, that the Eastern association will make no attempt to start the season this year. Discouraging reports have been received by President O'Rourke, from prospective promoters in two of the cities and Danbury is known to be one of them. O'Rourke, however, continues to make it known that there will be a league in the field, but his assertions are not treated seriously.

One of the many handicaps tending to work against the reopening of the league was the fact that of the 143 players who were given official records by Sid Challenger at the close of the Eastern association campaign last year, only the widest stretch of the imagination can conceive of more than 22 remaining on the combined reserve lists of the eight clubs. Of the three clubs, only the Hartford, Waterbury and Pittsfield clubs isn't worth much now to the league, as the entire squad of each club have long since passed out of Eastern Association control.

POWERS AND CARR

Frank Powers, first baseman, and Eddie Carr, third baseman, cannot play with the Lowell club this year. It was learned yesterday. Secretary Farrell of the national commission in a letter to President Carr stated that the Colonial league must be respected and that these two players must be returned to that league.

Powers and Carr are both promising youngsters. Carr played with the initial sack for Lowell while Billie McMahon, the local infielder, will be used at the hot corner.

Lowell Textile was shut out by Cushing Academy Saturday in a well played diamond contest at Ashburnham. Errors by the local team and timely hitting scored Cushing's runs.

The locals out-hit their opponents but did not connect safely in the pinches. Harris pitched a good game for Lowell, letting them down with but four hits. He was wild at times, however. Clancy, the Cushing twister, had the game well in hand at all times. The score:

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

The Loomfitters' union will meet tonight in Carpenters' hall.

George Lynch, a popular young resident of this city has returned after spending several months in Florida.

The Lyon Carpet Co. maintains its prosperous stride and the operatives are steadily employed.

Chester Hartigan, the well known athlete, is working on the night shift at the U. S. Cartridge Co.

Edwin Landers of the Federal Shoe Co., is said to be thinking of entering the catering business.

The Moulders' union has a meeting scheduled for tonight at Cotton Spinners' hall.

James McEvoy, of the Bigelow Hartford Carpet Co., made a very capable presiding officer at the meeting held yesterday.

Patrick Flannery, of the Bigelow Hartford Carpet Co., says the row will be on hand at the outing to be held May 30.

Billy MacCortie states that the John Pilling shoe shop baseball team is out to take the championship of the city in amateur circles this year.

Organizer Daniel E. Whelan of the Boot & Shoe Workers returned this morning from Brockton where he spent Sunday with his family.

The mills and shoe shops of this city are running as well if not better than similar industries in other New England centers.

It is understood that the Street Railway Men's union will not allow upon motorists to take out the sprinkling cars until the present difficulty over conductors is settled.

Bill Lane, the well known athlete employed by the Mulhoney plumbing company, states that the overalls won't stand up alone. Bill tried the trick yesterday and it proved a dismal failure.

The labor forward committee has a busy week planned, and the members will be kept hustling every minute. A number of open meetings will be held, and speeches at the mill gates will be in order every day.

Michael Wrenn of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co. stands fourth on the list for appointment to the police force. Mr. Wrenn is out with a challenge to any fresh water swimmer in the country for a distance of three miles. Should he be appointed to the police force he will make a valuable acquisition as a life saver. No person could escape him by the water route.

James Burns, of the A. G. Pollard Co., was forced to withdraw from the minor league conducted by the Princeton club last Friday evening on account of throat trouble. Mr. Burns was slated to sing at the end of the show and many of the employees of the store who made the trip to the hall in the rain especially to hear him were deeply disappointed. Jim says he'll be in condition for the next appearance of the troupe, which will be at a local theatre.

The first prize of $1000 goes to the Rev. Dr. Gallus Glen Atkins, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Providence, R. I., known as a leader among Congregationalists in New England.

The judges were Robert Underwood Johnson, formerly editor of the Century; Canon George William Douglas of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O. The prize that Dr. Atkins won was offered to "any pastor of any church in the United States."

The prize offered to students in theological seminaries were awarded to the following: R. W. Nelson, Phillips university, East Andover, Mass.; Paul B. Blanchard, Andover seminary, Cambridge, Mass.; and R. Niebuhr, Yale school of religion, Lincoln, Ill.

The 10 prizes awarded to men, they were all awarded to men. They were: Hoyt R. Hudson, Couer d'Alene, Ida.; Bryan Smith, Boulder, Col.; Oliver C. Moles, Edgewater, Col.; Philip Arnold, Cranston, Ill.; Benjamin Lloyd Knight, Iowa City, Ia.; Roy Francis Howes, Palo Alto, Cal.; Arthur Lockwood Johnson, San Jose, Cal.; Charles L. Stewart, Urbana, Ill.; Walter B. Brock, Bethesda, Md., and Clyde Eastleton, Oxford, Tex.

Dr. Atkins' essay was entitled "The Causes of War."

FRANCIS WOODROW SAYRE

PRESIDENT WILSON'S GRANDSON
CHRISTENED AT WILLIAMSTOWN
PRESIDENT ONE OF GODFATHERS

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 3.—In pretty little St. John's Episcopal church here yesterday afternoon the 11th baby born in the White House, was christened, with its grandfather, President Wilson, acting as one of its godfathers. Francis Woodrow Sayre is the name given to the baby, the three months' old child of Francis B. Sayre and Mrs. Sayre, formerly Miss Jessie Wilson.

No one outside the two families knew that the child was to have a middle name until, in response to the ceremonial inquiry by the Rev. J. Franklin Carter, rector of St. John's, at the baptismal font, the boyish-appearing father of the baby gave the name. A few days after the baby's birth in Washington it was announced throughout the length and breadth of the country that the child was to be named Francis Sayre. This, it was stated, was decided upon by Mr. and Mrs. Sayre in deference to the desire of President Wilson that the individuality of his little grandson should not be lessened by giving him either the name of Woodrow or Wilson.

"We have decided that baby shall not be encumbered through his life by hearing a presidential name," said the proud father, at that time.

While none of the family group would

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

THE FAIRY PRINCE

Once upon a time a great many years ago a little girl lived with her father in a small cottage. The cottage was in the deepest part of the woods and, each morning, her father went out and cut down the trees and then chopped the wood into pieces to sell to men who came each month to buy it. In this way he earned a small sum of money, but it was very hard work and he often wished some kind fairy would help him.

One day, as he was chopping, he said out loud: "I wish I was rich if only for a little while." "What would you give to be rich?" asked a voice near by and, as he looked up, he saw a tiny little man standing beside him. He was very ugly and the wood-cutter was frightened so he could hardly answer, but he managed to say: "Almost anything." "Very well, your wish is granted if you will promise in ten years to return and give to me the first thing that you meet when you go home tonight," continued the voice.

Now as the wood-cutter's dog always came to meet him, he was willing to promise, which he did and the man gave him a small box filled with gold pieces, saying: "There will always be gold in the box so spend as much as you wish but don't fail to return in ten years to me." The wood-cutter ran home as fast as he could to tell his little daughter and who should come to meet him but the little girl instead of the dog. This made the old man feel very badly but as he had promised he could not help it now.

Just as the man had said the box was always filled with gold and he bought lovely things for his little daughter and for ten years they had everything they wanted and the little girl grew to be very lovely and good.

At last the time came for him to go to the old man, and he told his daughter that they must go back to their old home and she must go with him into the woods where he used to chop wood. At first the girl was very sorry but when she saw how grieved her father was she tried to cheer him and they went together to the woods and there was the little ugly old man waiting for them.

The father handed back the box and the little old man took hold of the girl's hand and as soon as he had touched her hand he changed into a beautiful prince and they all lived happily together ever after.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Notes of the Services at Local Churches—Society Meetings

A two weeks' mission will be opened at St. Peter's church next Sunday by members of the Oblate order. The first week will be for the women of the parish and the second for the men. The high mass yesterday was celebrated by Rev. P. L. Crayton, while the sermon was given by the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. A. Kehler. The pastor spoke on the approaching mission and the Forty Hours' devotion, and urged all to attend. At the offertory Miss Mary E. Whiteley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria."

Forty Hours' devotion will be started at this church Friday morning with a seven o'clock mass. Masses on Friday and Saturday will be celebrated at 6, 7 and 9 o'clock. The devotion will be brought to a close Sunday morning at the parish mass.

President Bernard D. Ward of the Holy Name society, headed by a delegation from the parish, attended the Catholic Federation meeting in Boston yesterday. Great plans will be made for the Federation meeting in Lowell on May 16, when Cardinal O'Connell will speak.

Sacred Heart

The parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was celebrated by Rev. William P. Haley, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while Rev. James J. Gallagher, O. M. I., delivered a forceful sermon on "The End of Man." The members of the Holy Name society attended communion at 7:30. O. M. I. Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., is conducting a mission at Holliston, while Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., is preaching a mission at Cadyville, N. Y.

St. Columba's

The parish mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Buckley, who also delivered the sermon. The members of the Children's sodality attended communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass. The members of the Holy Name society will go to communion at 7:30. O. M. I. Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., is conducting a mission at Holliston, while Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., is preaching a mission at Cadyville, N. Y.

St. Joseph's

The celebrant of the parish mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday was the pastor, Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of the soprano soloist, Miss Marie Scully, rendered a beautiful "O Salutaris."

St. Margaret's Church

At the Highland church yesterday the earlier masses were sung by Rev. Fr. Reardon, the pastor, Fr. Gallagher officiating at the later services. A communication was read from the executive committee of the Catholic Federation of Churches, advancing the aims and purposes of the federation, and urging general organization throughout the archdiocese.

On Wednesday evening the grand May party will be held at the parish in the Highland hall, and an exceptionally attractive program has been arranged. At a meeting held in the parish hall yesterday afternoon, the plans were perfected. The general management will be in charge of Miss Mollie Scully, while Miss Julia Driscoll will be floor marshal, assisted by a large corps of aids.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. James McCartin, O. M. I., sang high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and the sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence P. Egan, O. M. I. The members of the Holy Name sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Owen P. McQuaid assisted in giving communion.

It was announced at all the masses that next Sunday will be communion day for the senior branch of the Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality. Speaking on this matter in a preface to his sermon at the 9 o'clock mass, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., urged all the unmarried women of the parish to go to communion at the time, he said, when over 500 women were present on communion days, and he hoped there would be a revival of the habit. During the month of May, and in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, it is most fitting that the women should show honor to Mary, the mother of God.

Fr. Sullivan gave a strong sermon on the dignity of the Blessed Virgin and the great honor paid her in all ages since the foundation of the church and he expressed the hope that the church would be filled to capacity during the May devotions. He said that had the Catholic faith given the world nothing else except the ideal of womanhood summed up in the person of Mary, it would have done a great service to mankind. This ideal he said, has been the inspiration of poet, painter, sculptor, and composer and to defend it the church has held councils and promulgated doctrines. He illustrated his sermon by many literary and historical allusions.

St. Patrick's

Rev. Timothy P. Callahan celebrated high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, who spoke of the significance of May which is set apart in honor of Mary, and urged the members of the parish to attend the May devotions.

There were large congregations at all the masses and the number of communicants at the early morning masses was unusually large. In the evening a meeting of the Propagation of the Faith society was held in the lower church, and the usual routine business was transacted. The Holy Name society is making plans for a large meeting in the near future, and the Ladies Aid will soon reorganize for the work of next season.

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Provisions Tied Up—Ships Carrying U. S. Cargoes Seized

LONDON, April 20 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—With millions of dollars' worth of provisions held up by the British admiralty and virtually no opportunity to ship foodstuffs to Norway, Denmark and Sweden, European representatives of American packers are no longer disposed to accept in good faith the promises of the British foreign office and admiralty that immediate steps would be taken to facilitate neutral trade with neutral countries.

The refusal of Sir Samuel Evans, judge of the prize court, to grant immediate trial to the Norwegian ships Alfred Nobel, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, Klm and Friland, which were seized at Kirkway in November, was the worst blow which neutral ships and shipping have had so far. The hearing was fixed for June 7 on the request of the counsel for the crown, who pleaded for more time to investigate the cases.

Attorneys for the Norwegian shipowners argued that their clients would be ruined by further delay and that sufficient time has been allowed already for investigation. However, Sir Samuel Evans exonerated the procurator general who has charge of the prize court investigations, from all charges of unnecessary delay and insisted that such complicated cases cannot be rushed through.

All four of these Norwegian ships carry extensive American cargoes, chiefly packers' products. Wheat cargoes on these ships have been taken over by the English government and paid for. The same is true of copper cargoes but the packing house products have been detained indefinitely in spite of efforts to have them released. In addition to these four ships 12 others which carried packers' products have been thrown into the prize court. Frederick Uron of Chicago, the legal representative of the Chicago packers, who has been in London since January in an effort to effect the delivery of packing products to neutral countries, said:

"Prize court authorities have definitely refused to release our goods except upon the terms of the consignors undertaking to sell the goods in Great Britain and to give English bill in full value of the seized cargoes. The first of these conditions is impossible because most of the goods have been packed for continental markets and are unsalable here."

"The suggestion that American packers give English bill for their own goods is unreasonable. English coal is allowed to move freely into Holland, Denmark and the Scandinavian countries. American packers' goods are virtually tied up in England and their products that it does to its own coal."

U. S. GUN BEST, DANIELS

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Critics who claim that the American navy's 14-inch rifles are inferior to the 15-inch type mounted on the great British battleship Queen Elizabeth, were answered in a statement issued last night by Secretary Daniels, declaring that the bureau of ordnance had developed a 14-inch gun "that will shoot farther, shoot straighter and hit harder than any gun now in use or known to be designed by a foreign country."

While conceding that the Queen Elizabeth's guns throw a larger shell, Mr. Daniels points out that the 14-inch gun of the Pennsylvania will pierce the maximum armor afloat so far as our knowledge goes, at a range of 12,000 yards. The Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch guns will do a little more than that. If our information is correct as to the velocity of the British 15-inch gun, the 14-inch guns on the Pennsylvania will range a little farther than the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch gun. The flatter trajectory of the 14-inch gun gives it increased probability of hitting in comparison with the 15-inch gun.

"The Pennsylvania mounts 12 guns to the Queen Elizabeth's eight. Therefore the volume of fire of our ship exceeds that of the British ship by 50 per cent."

"The navy department has built and proved a 16-inch gun superior to both the 15-inch and 14-inch so far as penetration of armor at fighting range is concerned. If the Pennsylvania were to be armed with the 16-inch gun she could carry only eight, as against the 12 of the Pennsylvania. If we adopted the 15-inch calibre we would have to make a sacrifice in the number of guns as great or nearly as great as was made in the design of the Queen Elizabeth."

EARTHQUAKES AT AVEZZANO

AVEZZANO, Italy, via Paris, May 3.—Since the last great earthquake the shocks have continued with more or less frequency. Yesterday morning the vibrations were so great that they caused alarm among the whole population, who were camping in the fields, owing to the fact that almost the entire town had been levelled. The shocks yesterday were strong enough to cause some of the old walls to collapse.

GEO. WOOD'S 1 CENT SALE

If you were not one of the crowd that attended the great 1 cent sale at Geo. H. Wood's Saturday, don't miss the opportunity this week as the sale will be continued and several new articles have been added to take the place of those sold Saturday. Remember you can buy two articles for the price of one, plus 1¢, at this sale. For instance, 25¢ Jars of silver polish cost 23¢. Wood, 135 Central street, opp. American house.

POLICE COURT DOCKET

SMALL NUMBER OF OFFENDERS AND ALL WERE IN FOR DRUNKENNESS

This forenoon's police court list was made up wholly of drunks and of the dozen or more arraigned before the court only one was sentenced, he being James H. Fahey who was on probation at the time of his arrest. Fahey appealed from a three months' sentence to jail. Another man, making his second appearance, told that he met some supposed friends on the South common and they offered him a drink from a bottle which they carried. He accepted the drink and later found that he had been robbed of $12, all the money he had in his possession. A $5 fine was imposed. A neat appearing young man was given a suspended sentence to the state farm on condition that he keep away from his mother's home. In the other cases fines of $15 and $6 were imposed. Several first offenders were released by Probation Officer Slattery.

CAPT. JAS. M'GILL DEAD

WAS MEMBER OF BATTERY WHICH TOOK PART IN MANY FAMOUS BATTLES

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Capt. James D. McGill, aged 91, former commander of the famous Knapp battery, officially known as Battery E, Pennsylvania Light artillery, during the Civil war, died at his home in Ben Avon, near here, yesterday.

Capt. McGill, while a member of the battery, took part in many famous engagements, including the battles of Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Antietam and Chancellorsville and also participated in the Atlanta campaign with Gen. Sherman.

THE ALASKAN RAILROAD

WORK ON CONSTRUCTION OF FIRST SECTION BEGUN AT SHIP CREEK

SEATTLE, Wash., May 3.—Work on the construction of the first section of the government's Alaskan railroad has been begun at Ship Creek, according to word reaching here today. The first spike was driven Thursday by Martha White, the first white child born on Cook island.

Notice was posted at Ship Creek announcing that the engineering commission would not employ a large number of men this season and those going to Ship Creek with the idea of finding employment would be disappointed.

Squatters who staked claims on the Terminal tract have withdrawn from the land. Some of them, however, delayed removing their tents and took them when newcomers, bound over the trails for Ship Creek, read notices ordering the immediate removal of the tents and carried them away. The squatters had been notified by the commission that the town site would be located elsewhere, as the government intends to use the reserve for terminal purposes.

CHOKES EATING MEAT

WORCESTER, May 3.—While eating dinner with his family yesterday afternoon, Stanley Knolls, aged 50, of 8 Esther street, choked to death when a piece of meat became lodged in his throat. He was taken to the City hospital, but efforts to revive him failed.

CUB-CHewing ANIMALS BURNED

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Camels, giraffes, panas and other ruminants or cud-chewing animals will be barred from circuses appearing here this summer. Mr. George Totten, director of the United States bureau of animal industry, in a statement yesterday said that animals of this class would not be admitted to Allegheny county while the quarantine resulting from the epidemic of foot and mouth disease was in effect. He said, however, that the order would not affect Hens, geese, turkeys, leopards or other animals classed as flesh or herbivorous.

LOST FRIENDS

IN BELGIUM

Lowell Boy Heir to Estate, Thinks it Is Swept Away

Born in Lowell—He Inherited Interests in Stores in Belgium

Hector Sebillaud of 43 Farmland road is very anxious concerning the whereabouts of his business as soon as he becomes of age. The young man was 21 years of age last June and he had made up his mind to go to Belgium, dispose of his interests in the business and return to Lowell.

However, the war broke out and the young man had to give up all plans of going abroad. He wrote several letters to his guardian, Emile Lanoy at Nivelles, Belgium, but has received no reply. Later he wrote letters addressed to an uncle, Armand Lanoy at Brussels, Belgium and to an aunt, Mrs. Adele Sebillaud also at Brussels, but his letters remained unanswered.

A few weeks ago Mr. Sebillaud wrote to Bernard Mallet, registrar general of the general register for war refugees at London, Eng., asking information concerning the whereabouts of his guardian and relatives, for he believed they had made their escape to England, but a reply which was received a few days ago announced that the names asked for could not be found on the register. Similar replies were received from the American consul at Holland, to whom Mr. Sebillaud had written concerning his aunt and uncle.

Mr. Sebillaud now believes his relatives were killed and he is retaining very little hope of recovering the estate left him by his deceased father. In conversation with the writer he said he will go to Belgium as soon as hostilities cease in Europe and ascertain if he has lost all he possessed there.

CREW DESERTED

American Schooner Hit

Sunken Obstruction—One Man Killed

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 2, by radio to San Diego, Cal., May 3.—The American schooner Emma of San Diego has arrived at Mazatlan, Mexico, with only Captain Clark and the ship's cook on board and is being assisted by the United States cruiser Raleigh in repairing damages due to a storm.

The Emma sailed Feb. 2 from San Jose de Cabo, Lower California, for northern ports. She struck a sunken obstruction and then was driven by a storm to Socorro island. Dennis O'Keefe, the mate, died on board ship enroute and was buried at sea. The rest of the crew deserted on the arrival of the Emma at Mazatlan. The collector of the Emma has been directed by Admiral Howard to rescue the deserters.

STORE WAS ROBBED

BURGLARS ENTERED STORE OF CLARENCE E. STEVENS ON WESTFORD STREET

The local police are today investigating the break into the grocery store of Clarence E. Stevens at 349 Westford street, Saturday morning when the safe and cash register were rifled and the burglars got away with about $20 in money and a quantity of candy and other articles.

The early morning burglars gained entrance through a cellar window and then cut a hole in a panel of the door leading from the cellar to the store. Reaching through the hole the door was unlocked. A few bills and some change were taken from the cash register and the strong box was removed from the safe to the cellar where it was smashed open with a hammer and the contents were taken.

About 2 o'clock Saturday morning Mr. Stevens, who lives above the store, was aroused by a noise and arose and lighted the gas. Everything seemed quiet then, however, and he returned to bed only to find on opening his store in the morning that burglars had been operating there during the night.

CHANGE SAILOR'S GARB

SURGEON J. C. PRIOR OF NAVY RECOMMENDS THAT WHITE CLOTHING BE ABANDONED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Surgeon J. C. Prior of the navy, who is already on record as favoring the banishment of handkerchiefs, balloon trousers, and other sailor's garb distinctive, has now submitted a report recommending that the wearing of white clothing by naval forces be abandoned.

While admitting that white clothing has some advantages, Surgeon Prior thinks it affords the enemy a target easily distinguishable and in addition is impracticable, because so easily soiled. To escape snipers at Vera Cruz last year, he says, the American naval forces in many instances colored their uniforms with improvised dyes, coffee and even mud. Surgeon Prior believes khaki, olive drab or slate-colored material would make more practical uniforms.

STRANGER IS IDENTIFIED

Mysterious Individual at Chelmsford St. Hospital is Eugene S. Frost of Lynn

The man found wandering in a deplorable condition in the vicinity of Gosham street last Thursday by Patrolman Jack Conway and taken to the police station for safe keeping, has been identified as Eugene S. Frost of 62 Spring street, Lynn, son of L. P. Frost of White River Junction, Vt. The man is now at the Chelmsford Street hospital pending an investigation being made by Supt. Welch and Chief Burkes of the Lynn department.

While patrolling his beat Thursday, Patrolman Conway found Frost sitting on the steps of a house off Gosham street. The man was accosted by the officer and when questioned responded with absurd answers. He was then removed to the police station and told several different stories. He gave the names of Eugene Frost, Edward Scanlon and Eugene McKenna and mentioned Lynn and several other cities as his place of residence. In the man's pockets were found $35 in money and several Boston & Maine tickets which showed that he had traveled considerably during the past few weeks.

After sending the man to the Chelmsford Street hospital, Supt. Welch made further inquiries and finally learned the address of the man's father in Vermont. A communication was sent to the father and today an answer was received giving a full description of Eugene S. Frost, which tallied in detail with that of the man under observation at the city hospital.

Mr. Frost stated in his letter that his son recently visited White River Junction and said that he was suffering from an injury sustained when he fell and injured his head. Against his father's wishes the man left home a week ago today and it is believed that while on his way to Lynn he became confused and stopped off at Lowell. He is 45 years of age and single.

The younger Frost is a stationary engineer and Supt. Welch has also written the engineers' organization in Lynn in the hope of ascertaining something about the mysterious man. The father said in his letter that on account of poor health he would not be able to come to Lowell but asked to be kept in close touch with his son's doings.

FORMER LOWELL GIRL FALZONE IN DEATH HOUSE

MRS. MOORE BRIDE OF AXEL CHRISTIAN PREBEN WINCHFIELD OF DENMARK

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Mrs. Mahelle Swift Moore, one of the wealthiest of the women who were made widows by the Titanic disaster, was married Saturday afternoon to Axel Christian Preben Winchfield of Denmark, now living in New York and a nephew of the Danish minister, Constantin Frantz.

The ceremony was performed in the room of the bride, 1745 Massachusetts avenue, N. W., by Rev. Roland Colton Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, in the presence of the mother and children of the bride, Miss Francis Moore, daughter of the late Clarence Moore, by his first wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. Blair and the Danish minister.

A breakfast followed, after which the bride and bridegroom started for New York. The bride wore her traveling gown of dark blue cloth with dark blue hat and carried orchids. After passing a short time in New York city they will go to San Francisco and will remain a month in California, the Moore children remaining in their home here. The bride has four children, Jasper, Clarence, Fred and a baby who was only two months old when the Titanic went down.

The wedding came as a surprise to friends of the bride, although the attentions of the bridegroom had been marked for more than a year. He made frequent visits here and was in England last spring when the bride and Miss Moore were there. Mrs. Moore and Miss Moore were present at court in London and their return here Mrs. Moore introduced Miss Moore formally at the most elaborate ball ever given here.

Miss Mahelle Swift, daughter of the late E. C. Swift of Chicago and Boston, was married to Clarence Moore just 15 years ago next month. Mr. Moore was then a young widower with one daughter. He met his death on the Titanic after he had been to Chesapeake to get dogs for the Chevy Chase Hunt club, of which he was master of the fox hounds. He was bringing over two fine packs of English hounds on the Titanic.

Mr. Moore had a large estate in Virginia, near Leesburg, which Mrs. Moore sold after his death. They had only taken possession of a beautiful new home in Washington when the husband made his fatal trip. Since his death Mrs. Moore and daughter have taken several early summer trips to Europe and passed the remainder of the summer at the late Mr. Swift. Mrs. Swift spent the last season in Washington with her daughter and took an active part in the dances, dinners, luncheons and theatre parties which her daughter has given.

Nothing was known of the contemplated marriage until the issuance of the license, which was obtained by Woodbury Blair.

Mrs. Moore is well known in Lowell, having lived in this city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Swift.

BLIND ARTISTS COMING HERE

Mr. John and Miss Mary McGay, the blind artists, brother and sister, will give a concert in the Central hall, on Wednesday evening, May 14th. The McGays support themselves in this manner and give an entertainment of exceptional manner. Miss McGay has a pleasing soprano voice while her brother is a baritone of no mean ability. Despite their blindness both are accomplished pianists. Mr. McGay is also a clever impersonator of Irish character.

TO GIVE CRIPPLES AN OUTING

BOSTON, May 3.—Unanimously the Boston Newsboys Protective union yesterday afternoon at a meeting at 30 Hanover street decided on an action that has probably never been equalled in pure usefulness by newsboys anywhere in this country.

Instead of going ahead with their plans for a projected bazaar and reception to commemorate the 14th anniversary of the founding of their union, they agreed to use their assembled fund for an outing for the poor crippled children of Boston and vicinity. Irrespective of race and creed, on Memorial day.

The originator of the idea was Nathan S. Soderstrom, their ex-president who simply said in introducing it, "We must help these less fortunate than ourselves."

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Washington Cheered Over Conditions—Big Improvement

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Official Washington was cheered today over the business outlook throughout the country as disclosed in reports to the federal reserve board from its agents in each of the twelve reserve districts. Briefly summarized, these reports indicated an improvement in trade conditions and increasing confidence. A feature is the reported activity of industries supplying war needs.

LLOYD GEORGE MISTAKEN

LABOR LEADER IN HOUSE OF COMMONS DECLARES DRINK NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR CONDITIONS

LONDON, May 3.—Will Crooks, labor leader in the house of commons, declared in a newspaper interview published today that there is less drinking in England than before the war and that Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George was mistaken in the statements he made on the subject. Mr. Crooks asserts that if less work is being done at private shipyards some cause other than drink must be sought and that this accusation has been spread broadcast by employers to cover up their own shortcomings.

"I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the Liverpool arsenal could turn out a third more work than it is doing now," the interview declares. "The men have insufficient work to do because of lack of organization. Moreover, although the war has lasted nine months no accommodations yet have been provided for the men to get their meals."

INABILITY TO CHOOSE

"RIGHT WORD" CAUSES EMBARRASSMENT—STUDY OF DICTIONARY ABILITY PROFITABLE

Inability to choose the right word often places a speaker in an embarrassing position. Many business men lose much valuable time because they find it difficult to express what they want to say when they dictate their correspondence. Greater freedom and accuracy in speaking and writing can be acquired by studying a dictionary. A few minutes devoted to the study of words and their meaning each day will in a short time result in great benefit to anyone who will put that practice to a test.

The New Universities Dictionary being offered to readers of this paper is particularly adapted to aid those who wish to acquire greater familiarity with the English language. It contains all the new words which have come into common and proper use in recent years. Its definitions are simple and accurate, making it possible to choose words that will best serve the purpose of correct speaking and writing. Many of the new words that have been brought into use through special technical activities such as aviation, golf, baseball and other forms of sports have been conveniently classified in supplementary dictionaries.

The case of Julius H. Claussen, of Malden vs. the Boston Dye House, Inc., an action of contract by which the plaintiff seeks to recover on a promissory note the sum of $157.50, which was given by the defendant for the purchase of a benzine distilling machine, and which went to trial Thursday, was brought to a close this morning, but the presiding justice announced he would charge the jury in Cambridge later in the forenoon.

The next case to be called was that of the Converse Rubber Shoe Co. of Malden vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, and action of tort, the damages of which is $3,000.

In this case the plaintiff claims that on or about Feb. 2, 1911, a spark from a locomotive engine owned and operated by the defendant company, set fire to buildings owned by the plaintiff, and that the fire destroyed the store house of the company with its approach also certain merchandise, material tools and supplies. The defendant's answer is general denial of the charges.

The jury was empaneled and at 10:30 o'clock was escorted to the buildings of the plaintiff in Malden to take a view of the premises and at 2 o'clock the case was resumed at the East Cambridge court house.

Captain Died of Heart Failure

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The first official report of the torpedoing of the American tanker Gulf Light reached the state department today in an undated despatch from Consul Stephens at Plymouth, England, saying the attack was made Saturday but the vessel was still afloat and that patrol boats were attempting to tow her to the Scilly Islands.

Consul Stephens' message follows: "American tanker, steamer Gulf Light, torpedoed off Scilly Islands first instant. Captain died heart failure. Body landed. Two of crew drowned. 34 saved. Vessel afloat, patrol boats attempting to bring her into Scilly."

2 BODIES FOUND

Farm Hand and His Sister Found Dead in Building in Woods

WAKEFIELD, May 3.—The bodies of Morris M. Shrumpsman and his sister, Rosie Shrumpsman, employed on a farm on the outskirts of the town, were found in a building in the woods today with bullet wounds in their heads.

Reading the arrival of the medical examiner who was somewhat delayed in reaching the house the police were unable to determine whether it was a case of murder or suicide.

The body of the woman was found in a chamber, while that of the man was in an adjoining kitchen. On a table near the body was a revolver and a letter signed "Morris," in which the writer said that no one should be blamed and that he did it to "save her from further suffering."

The police recall that the woman came to the station last fall and wanted a divorce from her husband. Another letter was found in the kitchen signed "Sophia M. Leavitt, 57½ Billings street, Haverhill." The police refused to disclose its contents except to say that the word "murder" occurred several times. The letter was dated April 20, 1915.

The bodies were discovered by an Italian who had a room in the upper part of the building. He was unable to get into the house when he returned at noon and burst in the door. The neighbors recall that a strange man was seen in the vicinity on Saturday. Shrumpsman had worked on the farm and also as a teamster on the farm. His sister had made several visits to the house during the time but without her husband.

Morris Shrumpsman and his sister, Mrs. Bertha Krauser, found dead in Wakefield today, are brother and sister of Mrs. Israel Leavitt of Filling street, Miss Sophie O. Leavitt is their niece.

Israel Leavitt says his daughter wrote a letter to her relatives a few days ago. Miss Leavitt is 19 years old and has just been appointed census enumerator because of her knowledge of foreign languages. She is an expert linguist.

Relatives say Mrs. Krauser had separated from her husband. They say she had lived apart from him for about a year and until recently made her home in this city. Two weeks ago she went to Wakefield to visit her brother.

Supreme Court
WASHINGTON, May 3.—No arguments will be heard in the supreme court after May 14 until the court reconvenes after its summer recess, Oct. 12. From May 14 until the court recesses in June it will meet on alternative Mondays to announce decisions. No cases of wide importance were decided today.

Mrs. Mary J. Donnelly and her granddaughter, Mildred Durant of 135 Summer street, have returned from a visit to Frank J. Donnelly of Portsmouth, N. H. The latter formerly lived in Lowell.

PIERCED AND CRUSHED
ENTIRE RUSSIAN LINEGermans Sink Three More Ships—
Sharp Fighting in Flanders—Investi-
gate Sinking of U. S. Ship—German
Airship Over Dover Driven Off

The reported sinking of the American steamer Gulf Light in the North sea by a German submarine is regarded as a serious matter at Washington and the government is awaiting all details of investigation before taking action.

An imposing victory of Austrian arms over the Russian forces in western Galicia was announced today by the German war office. It is said the Austrians in the presence of their commander-in-chief, Archduke Frederick pierced and everywhere crushed the entire Russian line.

An attack from this quarter has been predicted in Petrograd despatches as an offset to Russian efforts further east on the Carpathian front. The direction in which this new and sudden stroke has been made, evidently in great force, lies to the south of Russian Poland. The line along which the Austrians advance was made stretches for about 60 miles north and south through Galicia, something more than 50 miles east of Cracow.

The victory in Western Galicia, reported in the German official announcement would appear to be of notable significance. From the junction of the Vistula with the Danube to the Hungarian frontier is about 60 miles. After the surrender of the Austrian fortress of Przemyśl in Galicia the Russian forces released from siege work in front of this position began moving to the south in the direction of Uzsok pass and to the west in the direction of Cracow.

A great battle was being fought in western Galicia was indicated in despatches sent out from Berlin several days ago. It was then revealed that the Russians in order to avoid the disastrous effect of the fire of the heavy Austrian artillery had evacuated all their positions at Tarnow which lies 135 miles to the west of Lemberg.

Official despatches from Petrograd under date of April 29 set forth that the Austrians were concentrating their forces at Cracow and also in western Galicia, evidently with the intention of undertaking a determined offensive movement against the Russians.

It is evidently the result of these various military activities that is reported in the announcement from Berlin. Sharp fighting in Flanders

Sharp fighting has been resumed in Flanders. French, German and British official statements tell of German attacks near hill 60 which the British recently captured and in the vicinity of St. Julien, both in the Ypres region. The Paris and London communications say the German onslaughts failed but Berlin characterizes the movements as successful.

German Airship Driven Off
A German aeroplane appeared over Dover today but was driven off. London heard a report that a zeppelin was flying over the North sea in the direction of the English coast.

Germans Sink Three Ships
The sinking of three more vessels in the North sea by German submarines in their new campaign is reported today. The Swedish steamer Ellida went to the bottom in less than three minutes after she was torpedoed but the 18 persons on board escaped. Trawlers reaching Aberdeen report that two vessels of a fishing fleet were sunk yesterday less than 50 miles off that port.

Negotiations With Italy
It is believed in Rome that Austria and Germany have decided on another effort to prolong the negotiations between Italy and the central empires in the hope of reaching a peaceful settlement of the territorial dispute. For this purpose it is said that Count Goluchowski, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, will go to Rome from Vienna.

Italian Cabinet
The Italian cabinet has decided not to postpone the assembling of parliament on May 12 and it is thought in Rome that the parliament may assist the cabinet in reaching a decision which now appears to be almost inevitable.

French troops are reported to have made another landing on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and to be advancing rapidly.

BARNES REFUSED TO AID
BOSS OF TAMMANY HALLWitness Tells of Interview With Barnes—Says Latter Refused to Help Murphy

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 3.—That William Barnes told him Charles F. Murphy of Tammany hall had asked for help in 1911 to defeat a direct primary bill in the state legislature and that the then chairman of the republican state committee had answered him would refuse the aid asked and had remarked that he would not pull the Tammany leader's "chestnuts from the fire," was the sworn testimony given in the supreme court here today by Walter T. Arndt, formerly Albany correspondent of a New York newspaper.

Mr. Arndt was one of several witnesses who today were placed upon the stand by the defense in the libel suit of William Barnes, Jr., against Theodore Roosevelt. Among them was Edward T. Platt, son of the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, and described in previous testimony as "the easy liar." Mr. Platt produced several bundles of letters taken from the files kept by his father from 1892 to

George H. Dickinson of Washington, D. C., another former correspondent of a New York newspaper in Albany, testified regarding a conversation he had with Mr. Barnes in which the subject of Governor Hughes and race track legislation was freely discussed.

BARNES CALLED
SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 3.—William Barnes was called as a witness by counsel for Col. CAR SPRINKLER COMP'Y BREAKS ITS CONTRACTRefuses to Accede to Demand of Railway Union for Uniformed
Man on Rear of Each Car

The American Car Sprinkler Co. has seen fit to break its street watering contract with the city of Lowell rather than to accede to the demands of local 250, Street Railway Men's union. The trouble hinged on the union's demand for a uniformed conductor on the rear end of the sprinklers. President Perry of the Sprinkler company was willing to have the arm controlling the sprinkler handled by a uniformed conductor, but refused to pay for a uniformed conductor on the rear end. President Perry told Commissioner Morse it would be a dangerous precedent to establish inasmuch as the company would have to follow suit in every city where the sprinklers are in operation. There were two cars operating in Lowell. (Continued to page nine.)

THE FILTRATION PLANT

WORK WILL PROBABLY BE FIN-ISHED BEFORE AUGUST 1 AS PER CONTRACT

That the contractor will have finished with the filtration plant at the boulevard before August 1, the time mentioned in the contract, was the statement made by Supt. Thomas of the water department today. Contractor Gow is pushing the work for all it is worth and everything is going along as smoothly as though the ways were oiled. The only possible holdup feared by Commissioner Carmichael will be on the city's end of the contract and will have to do with sand. The commissioner believes, however, that he will be able to get enough of the right kind of sand to go through with the job without causing a delay.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Lowell Manufacturers, Engineers and Firemen Interested in Bill Soon to Become Law

The new bill for the regulation of licenses for engineers and firemen of stationary boilers is now taking its final passage through the senate and will be on the calendar for engrossment today or tomorrow.

Manufacturers in Lowell and other cities are very much interested in this new act and it is hoped that it will bring about a harmonious relation between manufacturers and their stationary engineers. The act is largely technical, but it gives the engineers what they have been contending for, the maintaining of a licensed engineer at all times in charge of the engine and boiler in all manufacturing establishments, and prohibits the employment of an unlicensed person as a time server. Everybody at the state house will be gratified when this act is at last on the governor's desk, which now seems likely to happen very soon.

"LAST NIGHT AT 12.30"

"I was awakened," says a well-known Lowell man, "by a very sour stomach. I tossed about for an hour without being able to get to sleep, then I reached for my Dys-pep-lets, which I often keep close by the bed, and took two of them, chewing them very fine and swallowing them slowly. I could feel their sweetening effect almost instantly and in a short time I was sound asleep."

Dys-pep-lets are a source of comfort by day and of perfect rest by night. Contain only the best things for the stomach, without a particle of harmful drug.

hooves manufacturers employing 100 persons or more to provide "accommodations" for the treatment of and first aid to persons injured or taken ill on their premises. This was not exactly what the proponents of this act, the textile workers of Fall River and New Bedford wanted. They desired that the big factories should each have a regular emergency hospital room and they made their bill also particularly to include the small manufacturer employing as few as 25 persons. But the textile workers made their bill general to cover every manufacturer and that stirred up the shoemakers of Haverhill, Lynn and Brockton. Senator Wells of Haverhill carried the senate with him to the extent that the committee on social welfare to save the bill agreed to a compromise to substitute "accommodations" for "room or rooms" in the original bill and to increase the number of persons employed from 25 to "100." It was in that form that the bill was finally enacted without further opposition in the senate and the house agreed so that the law signed by the governor affects only manufacturers employing 100 persons or more and they, if they are required by the state board of labor and industries provide every contractor with a satisfactory to that board for the treatment of persons injured, or taken ill on the premises.

Another Good Law

Governor Walsh has also made law by his signature an act to provide that a justice of the peace, municipal or district court may, upon the application of any employee, issue a summons to an employer to appear and show cause why a warrant should not be issued against him for a violation of the provision of the labor act of 1909, chapter 514, section 112, which requires the weekly payment of wages by every manufacturing, mining, quarrying, mercantile, street railway, telegraph or telephone corporation, incorporated express company and every contractor, person or partnership engaged in any manufacturing business or any of the building trades. The board of railroad commissioners (now public service commission) was given the right to exempt any railroad corporation from paying weekly wages. Upon the return of such summons and after a hearing the justice may issue a warrant upon the complaint of any such employee. The penalty for violating this section of the labor act is not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each offense.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for the woman who would be beautiful, says Hortense, depends on the daily habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise, will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food. Those who have very little exercise should never eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

To fatten a thin face, Hortense says if you have the time and money, go to a skillful masseuse and have her treat your face and use a good massage cream. "Cleanse the face every night with a cleansing cream. Apply it to the face and throat with the tips of the fingers and wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then massage the face for ten minutes with a massage cream. In the morning dampen a portion of a towel with toilet water and wipe the face with it. Use no hot tub bath daily, use good soap and scrub the entire body from the chin down to the toes. If you can't secure a professional to treat your face, massage it yourself once a week. First use cleansing cream, then steam for ten minutes. Dry and massage gently but firmly. Wipe cream all off and use toilet water."

Large pores on the face skin are almost sure to result, thinks Hortense, if you wash your face in hot water and do not afterward dash it with cold water. If you do not take this precaution you are almost sure to have large pores as the hot water opens them up and if left open they will spread and fill up and become permanently large.

Cold water will help to close them and so will an astringent. Benzoin is an astringent and I would advise you to get ten cents worth of tincture of benzoin and every time you wash your face with hot water, finish up with cold water into which you have poured a few drops of benzoin.

Another cure is to use a cleansing cream every night before retiring as the pores must be clean before they will reduce. In the morning bathe with moderately hot water, then apply the following lotion: Elder-flower water, 6 ozs.; Eau de Cologne, 1-2 oz.; tincture benzoin, 1 dram; cucumber juice, 1 oz.

For those who wish to reduce Hortense advises that you take every opportunity to walk when you can. If it is a matter of several blocks, do not take a car even when it is possible. Take every opportunity to walk, but walk as if you really enjoyed it; put some energy into this exercise. Really make it an exercise. Do not eat more than one starch food at a meal, drink plenty of water, but between meals and, above all, eat enough to allay hunger, but stop there; do not continue as if you are never going to get another meal. Instead of one quite as heavy in another four or five hours.

Another thing, sleep with plenty of fresh circulating air in your sleeping room and if you are very stout do with just sufficient sleep, and above all quit the nap in the middle of the day.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights. Hortense made me, when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mineral water must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air. Walk until you are tired. Do not overdo this, however, for sometimes the body will be too tired to sleep. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. General baths should be warm.

"Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not eat immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk, sipped slowly, will help you to overcome insomnia after the other suggestions have been followed.

FR. JOHNSON BETTER

PASTOR OF GATE OF HEAVEN CHURCH STRICKEN AS RESULT OF HARD WORK

BOSTON, May 3.—Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, who was hurried to St. Elizabeth's hospital Saturday night, supposed to be in a precarious condition, was last night much improved, according to the report of his friend, Dr. John R. Statter, physician-in-chief of St. Elizabeth's.

As Fr. Johnson was completing his afternoon duties Saturday, he became dizzy, and was assisted into the parlor residence and later sent to the hospital. Contrary to reports yesterday, it was not a shock but the climax of hard work. Rev. Fr. Johnson has had only one vacation in 20 years and that 10 years ago, when he went abroad to secure windows and ornate decorations for his new church.

One of the oldest priests of the diocese, Fr. Johnson is widely known and in many churches yesterday there were prayers for his speedy recovery.

Fr. Johnson, a Lowell man, is a native of this city, born and raised in St. Patrick's parish and a member of one of the oldest "Acres" families. He has a sister in this city and is a relative of Dr. S. J. Johnson and Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist.

BROCKTON CHILD KILLED

BROCKTON, May 3.—John F. Flanagan, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas.

Flanagan of 57 Dover street, was knocked down by an automobile at Dover street and Warren avenue shortly after 5 yesterday afternoon and died a few minutes later at the Brockton hospital.

The automobile is owned and was operated by Miss Ruth Cosgrove of 599 Warren avenue. The police after an investigation held her blameless.

The boy was playing with several other children and it is said that he can directly in front of the car. Miss Cosgrove was unable to prevent the accident. At the hospital he was found to have sustained a crushed chest, broken ribs and internal injuries.

SECTARIAN BILL SCORED

Card. O'Connell Talks Plainly to Convention of American Federation of Catholic Societies

BOSTON, May 3.—The severe scoring of the sectarian amendment, which has been before the present session of the legislature and the call upon all Catholics of the state to stand firm against the false Americanism which fostered it and for the civil rights of those of that faith by Cardinal O'Connell, were the features of the seventh annual convention of the Catholic Federation at St. Alphonsus hall, yesterday afternoon.

The cardinal was enthusiastically applauded when he declared that "nothing else was accomplished, you have prevented the enactment of an amendment which would be as much of a disgrace to Massachusetts as her Blue Laws."

He spoke at length on the amendment and said: "When all the mud and malice of these so-called Americanists is stripped of their slanders, the thing behind it all is simply selfishness and jealousy—the two greatest causes of all the evil in the world. The cause of the anti-Catholic war which is now destroying Europe. Now once for all let me say that we are not deceived by your talk. We are not going to let you stir our people to an anger of retaliation which you well deserve. We are going to keep our good humor because we know that hundreds of thousands of our non-Catholic friends are thoroughly ashamed of this miserable attempt to weaken all the best forces of order and law. But you are not going to intimidate us for one minute."

Spite and Bitterness

"Now I am not going to talk about the men and measures behind such things. They are welcome to all their spite and bitterness—we want none of it. We are going to stand just where we are, for all that belongs to us—not a hair's breadth less will we take, and a hair's breadth more we will not. And all the threats and insults and abuse will only serve to show that as usual we are welcome to fight and work for this country, but are not supposed to ask for our legitimate rights."

"All this talk about our religion and the pope and the Vatican is merely a cloak. They are merely trying by this meaningless twaddle to cover up the real point—that they want everything, including what is ours, for themselves alone. You may work in their sewers or mills, but you must never even hope that your children will take the honorable share of civic life which you are earning for them by your loyalty to this country, your industry, and your willingness to share the dangers and burdens which entitle you to reward."

"If you think our people are asking for anything undue, argue with us, reason with us, but if you abuse us and lie about us and attempt to browbeat us, you are wanting time and energy, and when you attempt to put all this vulgar, unjust and bitter bigotry and misrepresentation on the basis of religion, why all I can say is you do not even yet know what religion is."

"I stand on this platform today simply as an American citizen. I was born here in Massachusetts. My family has fought for the preservation of the Union, and has suffered for the cause of freedom. And as an American citizen, I call upon all you men here to stand firm against this false Americanism, stand firm for your faith and your civil rights, and true Americans will stand with you."

No Discrimination

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, declared that the Catholics asked for no special consideration, but that they would tolerate no discrimination. The sectarian amendment was adroitly drawn, he said, "as if to show a manifest fairness to all, but every word spoken by every advocate proved that it was aimed directly against Catholics in the express fear that by our constantly increasing numbers we should some time obtain control of the state and then give to Catholic institutions the public funds which for a century had been given to Protestant institutions, stifling themselves in the language of one of the eminent advocates by deploring the past. Massachusetts has once again vindicated religious freedom and has informed the world that intolerance must stop at her borders, and this commonwealth, beloved of Senator Hoar, has renewed her allegiance to his free stand."

Frederick W. Mansfield stated that if the Catholics ever intended to seize the government it would have been in the outbreak of the Civil war when the army and government were in a demoralized state. "We believe in toleration. We concede it to them; we demand it for ourselves. This is not an attempt to meet bigotry with bigotry, for this great movement is far broader than that."

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, reported for the legislative committee. Charles E. Fay told of the work of the Common Cause society in combating the enemies of religion and of the social and industrial relations committee of the federation.

The federation elected this list of officers: President, Henry V. Cunningham; vice president, James J. Lemmon; secretary, Charles T. Daly of West Medford; treasurer, Edwin Mulready of Rockland.

QUARREL ENDS IN SUICIDE

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Woman Takes Poison After Religious Altercation With Her Father

WEST BURKE, Vt., May 3.—Following an altercation over religion, Miss Ida Smith, aged 30, daughter of Marshall Smith, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by taking poison.

She lived with her father and a brother and sister. About a year ago she joined the Seventh Day Adventists and since then the family has had trouble over religious matters. Saturday she called her father to task for working on what she called her Sabbath and at the dinner table yesterday Mr. Smith retorted by reminding her that her husband's work was being done in violation of his principles of keeping Sunday holy. Following a warm argument, Miss Smith entered the pantry and took the poison. Her family supposed she had taken something for a headache and learned her condition only when she called for help. She lived about an hour and a half.

Steamer Vance Was Rudderless and Otherwise Damaged

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—While drifting rudderless and otherwise damaged by the storm which for three days raged along the coast the steamer Edward H. Vance has been picked up by a tug, according to wireless information published today and is now being towed back to the city. She was found 150 miles off Santa Cruz, California.

During the height of the storm Friday the Vance's deckload of lumber was carried away. That evening she lost her rudder, the Norwegian ship Agni, and because of the storm was unable to put lines aboard the ship again. No fears are expressed for the vessel as it is thought she will be able to make her way under sail without trouble. Other vessels delayed by the storm are safe in port.

Going to the Exposition? Don't Miss Colorado Scenery

No one can be indifferent to the beauty and grandeur of the Colorado Rocky Mountain scenery, and visitors to the California Exposition should make a point of seeing it. Also Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City. Now there's no extra charge for all this if you go via the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q.) because it so happens that the through service of that line has been planned so that you pass all of these points by daylight, and you can view from the train a panorama of mountain scenery that is as celebrated as any in the world.

TO COMBAT DIVORCE EVIL

CONSTITUTION APPROVED BY CATHOLIC LAWYERS WILL BE SENT TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL

BOSTON, May 3.—A number of lawyers of Greater Boston recently attended a meeting called by Frederick W. Mansfield and have organized a Catholic Lawyers' league, the purpose of which will be to "combat the divorce evil." A constitution was constructed and will be sent to Cardinal O'Connell for his approval.

The organization of this league has been suggested by Mr. Mansfield for a long time, and it was his intention, he said, yesterday, to have it known as the Massachusetts Catholic Lawyers' league, but upon the receipt of a letter from a lawyer in France, the name of the state was dropped.

Mr. Mansfield stated that the French lawyer wrote that he had seen mention of the project in a newspaper from this country, and asked that he be allowed to join such an organization, if possible. In his country he had been opposing divorce for years, he stated. The league members will take no cases dealing with divorce, except those in opposition to such action. "It is my hope that this league will eventually become a worldwide organization," said Mr. Mansfield.

Worcester Shut Out 4-0
Without a Hit in the
Opening GameManager Barrows
Three Runs Result

WORCESTER, May 3.—Manager "Cuke" Barrows lifted the ball hit over the right field fence at Boulevard park Saturday afternoon as the oldest inhabitant said, for the most terrific smash ever seen here. There were two on bases and two out when the Lowell manager decided to make his New England magnate debut in this manner. These three runs, or in fact any one of them would have been enough to clinch the victory. "Matty" Zeiser who along in 1913 was invaluable, but did not show his stuff in the spring, came through with a no-hit, no-run game that was without a breath of suspicion.

Just two Climbers reached the initial sack and their transportation was issued free.

In the fourth, Donahue, first up, walked Cooney with the count two and two, went after a wide curve and popped up to Mayer. Gardella's shirt was grazed by a pitched ball and he ambled to first.

Pottier, the former Lowell player, rated as the best hitter on the Worcester club, barely topped one of Zeiser's fast ones and Greenhalgh threw him out at first, both runners advancing.

With men on second and third and two down Zeiser faced the only trouble of the entire game. His solution of the difficulty was marvelous. Cabrera, the Cuban, was up. With the count two balls and one strike Zeiser curved two sharp benders over the Worcester batsman not even offering at either. That was the only time Zeiser was in trouble.

A man close to the Red Sox, not a scout, said that Carrigan could use a twister right now who could bend them over the way Zeiser did.

The fielding was remarkable. McCluskey, who went to his right hand side and Dee, who from deep short robbed Young of an almost hit, being particularly bright. Gardella, while his error was the only one of the game, paved the way for the run that came on Barrow's drive. Cooney and Stinson also played beautiful ball in the field.

Major George M. Wright threw the first ball into the field and the usual ceremonies featured by music of a band and quartet, marked the opening of the league season here. The day was cold and dark. Manager Barrows was in no way disheartened by the defeat and promises a come-back in Lowell.

The score:

*Batted for Van Dyke in ninth.

Two-base hits: Barrows, Zeiser, Home run: Barrows. Sacrifice hits: Zeiser, Swaine, Mayer. Deo. Left on bases: Lowell 5, Worcester 2. First base on balls: Zeiser 1, Van Dyke 1. First base on errors: Lowell 1. Hit by pitcher: By Gardella, Mayer. Struck out: Zeiser 6, Van Dyke 2, Time, 1 hr. 23m. Umpire, Aubrey.

Notes of the Services at Local Churches—Society Meetings

A two weeks' mission will be opened at St. Peter's church next Sunday by members of the Oblate order. The first week will be for the women of the parish and the second for the men. The high mass yesterday was celebrated by Rev. J. J. Connelley, while the sermon was given by the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. J. Keleher. The pastor spoke on the approaching mission and the Forty Hours' devotion, and urged all to attend. At the offertory Miss Mary E. Whiteley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria."

Forty Hours' devotions will be started at this church Friday morning with a solemn high mass. Masses on Friday and Saturday will be celebrated at 7, 7 and 9 o'clock. The devotions will be brought to a close Sunday morning at the parish mass.

President Bernard D. Ward of the Holy Name society, headed by his delegation from the parish, attended the Catholic Federation meeting in Boston yesterday. Great plans will be made for the Federation meeting in Lowell on May 16, when Cardinal O'Connell will speak.

Sacred Heart

The parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was celebrated by Rev. William P. Haley, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while Rev. James J. Gallagher, O. M. I., delivered a forceful sermon on "The End of Man." The members of the Holy Name sodality attended communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., are conducting a mission at Holliston, while Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., is preaching a mission at Cayville, N. Y.

St. Columba's

The parish mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Buckley, who also delivered the sermon. The members of the Children's sodality attended communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass. The members of the Holy Name society will go to communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass next Sunday. First communion and confirmation classes are being instructed on Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings, respectively. It was announced that the Transcendental society has in preparation an entertainment to be given in the near future.

St. Joseph's

The celebrant of the parish mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday was the pastor, Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Telephore Mado rendered the "harmonized Mass Royale." At the offertory Achille Lavallee rendered a beautiful "O Salutaris."

St. Margaret's Church

At the Highland church yesterday the earlier masses were sung by Rev. Fr. Reardon, the pastor, Fr. Galligan officiating at the later services. At the masses a communication was read from the executive committee of the Catholic Federation, the Catholic Federation, the aims and purposes of the federation, and urging general organization throughout the archdiocese.

On Wednesday evening the grand May party will be held by the parish in Lincoln hall, and an exceptionally attractive program has been arranged. A meeting will be held in the parish hall yesterday afternoon, the plans were perfected. The general management will be in charge of Miss Mollie Scannell, while Miss Julia Driscoll will be floor marshal, assisted by a large corps of aids.

Immaculate Conception

Rev. James McCartin, O. M. I., sang high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and the sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O. M. I. The members of the Holy Name sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Owen P. McQuaid assisted in giving communion.

It was announced at all the masses that next Sunday will be communion day for the senior branch of the Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality. Speaking on this matter in a preface to his sermon at the 9 o'clock mass, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., urged all the unmarried women of the parish to go to communion with the sodality next Sunday.

He recalled the time, he said, when over 500 women were present on communion days, and he hoped there would be a revival of the habit. During the month of May, and in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, it is most fitting that the women should show honor to Mary, the mother of God.

Fr. Sullivan gave a strong sermon on the dignity of the Blessed Virgin and the great honor paid her in all ages since the foundation of the church and he expressed the hope that the church would be filled to capacity during the May devotions. He said that had the Catholic faith given the world peace, the ideal of the world would have been summed up in the person of Mary, it would have done a great service to mankind. This ideal he said, has been the inspiration of poet, painter, sculptor, and composer and to defend it the church has held councils and promulgated doctrines. He illustrated his sermon by many literary and historical allusions.

St. Patrick's

Rev. Timothy P. Callahan celebrated high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curran who spoke of the significance of May which is set apart in honor of Mary, and urged the members of the parish to attend the May devotions.

There were large congregations at all the masses and the number of communicants at the early morning masses was unusually large. In the evening a meeting of the Propagation of the Faith society was held in the lower church, and the usual routine business was transacted. The Holy Name society is making plans for a large meeting in the near future, and the Ladies Aid will soon reorganize for the work of next season.

HELD UP BY BRITISH

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Provisions Tied Up—Ships Carrying U. S. Cargoes Seized

LONDON, April 20 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—With millions of dollars' worth of provisions tied up by the British admiralty and virtually no opportunity to ship foodstuffs to Norway, Denmark and Sweden, European representatives of American packers are no longer disposed to accept in good faith the promises of the British foreign office and admiralty that immediate steps would be taken to facilitate neutral trade with neutral countries.

Refusal of Sir Samuel Evans, judge of the prize court, to grant immediate trial to the Norwegian ships Alfred Nobel, Bjornstjerne Bjornson, Kim and Fridland, which were seized at Kirkwall in November, was the worst blow which neutral ships and shipping have had so far. The hearing was fixed for June 7 on the request of the counsel for the crown, who pleaded for more time to investigate the cases.

Attorneys for the Norwegian shipowners argued that their clients would be ruined by further delay and that the British government has already agreed to indemnify them for the loss of their cargoes. However, Sir Samuel Evans exonerated the procurator general who has charge of the prize court investigations, from all charges of unnecessary delay and insisted that such four cases cannot be rushed through.

All four of these Norwegian ships carry extensive American cargoes, chiefly packers' products. Wheat cargoes on these ships have been taken over by the English government and paid for. The same is true of copper cargoes but the packing house products have been detained indefinitely in spite of efforts to have them released.

In addition to these four ships 12 others which carried packers' products have been thrown into the prize court. Frederick Urean of Chicago, the legal representative of the Chicago packers, who has been in London since January in an effort to effect the delivery of packing products to neutral countries, said:

"Prize court authorities have definitely refused to release our goods except upon the terms of the consignors undertaking to sell the goods in Great Britain and to give English bidders the full value of the seized cargoes. The first of these conditions is impossible because most of the goods have been packed for continental markets and are unsalable here."

The suggestion that American packers give English bidders for their own goods is unreasonable.

LOST FRIENDS IN BELGIUM

Born in Lowell—He Inherited Interests in Stores in Belgium

Hector Sebillaud of 43 Farmland road, is very anxious concerning his relatives in Belgium and the estate of his father, which was left him and which he was to take control of this year. The young man fears his relatives have lost their lives, while he believes the estate, which consisted of a string of stores in various cities of Belgium has been entirely wiped out.

Sebillaud's father was a Belgian, while his mother, who is a resident of this city, is of Canadian birth. The boy was born in this city but was brought up in Belgium, where his father was largely interested in a large concern, which conducted a number of department stores in several large cities of Belgium.

When the father died several years ago he left his estate to his only son, Hector, who was to take charge of the business as soon as he became of age. The young man was 21 years of age last June and he had made up his mind to go to Belgium, dispose of his interests in the business and return to Lowell.

However, the war broke out and the young man had to give up all plans of going abroad. He wrote several letters to his guardian, Emile Lanoy at Nivelles, Belgium, but has received no reply. Later he wrote letters addressed to an uncle, Armand Lanoy at Brussels, Belgium and to an aunt, Mrs. Adele Sebillaud also at Brussels, but his letters remained unanswered.

Five weeks ago Mr. Sebillaud wrote to Bernard Muller, registrar general of the general register for refugees at London, Eng., asking information concerning the whereabouts of his guardian and relatives, for he believed they had made their escape to England, but a reply which was received a few days ago announced that the names asked for could not be found in the register. Similar replies were received from the American consul at Holland, to whom Mr. Sebillaud had written concerning his aunt and uncles.

Mr. Sebillaud now believes his relatives were killed and he entertains very little hope of recovering the estate left him by his deceased father. In conversation with the writer he said that he had gone to Belgium as soon as hostilities ceased in Europe and ascertain if he has lost all he possessed there.

STRANGER IS IDENTIFIED

Mysterious Individual at Chelmsford St. Hospital is Eugene S. Frost of Lynn

The man found wandering in a demented condition in the vicinity of Gorham street last Thursday by Patrolman Jack Conway and taken to the police station for safe keeping, has been identified as Eugene S. Frost of 22 Spring street, Lynn, son of L. P. Frost of White River Junction, Vt. The man is now at the Chelmsford Street hospital pending an investigation being made by Supt. Welch and Chief Burekas of the Lynn department.

While patrolling his beat Thursday, Patrolman Conway found Frost sitting on the steps of a house off Gorham street. The man was accosted by the officer and when questioned responded with absurd answers. He was then removed to the police station and told several different stories. He gave the names of Eugene Frost, Edward Scanlon and Eugene McKenna and mentioned Lynn and several other cities as his place of residence. In the man's pockets were found $35 in money and several Boston & Maine railroad tickets which showed that he had traveled considerably during the past few weeks.

After sending the man to the Chelmsford Street hospital, Supt. Welch made further inquiries and finally learned the address of the man's father in Vermont. A communication was sent to the father and today an answer was received giving a full description of Eugene S. Frost, which tallied in detail with that of the man under observation at the city hospital.

Mr. Frost stated in his letter that his son recently visited White River Junction and said that he was suffering from an injury sustained when he fell and injured his head. Against his father's wishes the man left home a week ago today and it is believed that while on his way to Lynn he became confused and stopped off at Lowell. He is 35 years of age and single.

The younger Frost is a stationary engineer and Supt. Welch has also written the engineers' organization in Lynn in the hope of ascertaining something about the mysterious man. The father said in his letter that on account of poor health he would not be able to come to Lowell but asked to be kept in close touch with his son's doings.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Washington Cheerful Over Conditions—Big Improvement

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Officials in Washington were cheerful today over the business outlook throughout the country as disclosed in reports to the federal reserve board from its agents in each of the twelve reserve districts. Briefly summarized, these reports indicated an improvement in trade conditions and a returning confidence. A feature is the reported activity of industries supplying war needs.

LLOYD GEORGE MISTAKEN

LABOR LEADER IN HOUSE OF COMMONS DECLARES DRINK NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR CONDITIONS

LONDON, May 3.—Will Crooks, labor leader in the house of commons, declares in a newspaper interview published in England that there is less drinking in England than before the war and that Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George was mistaken in the statements he made on the subject.

Mr. Crooks asserts that if less work is being done at private shipyards some cause other than drink must be sought and that this accusation has been spread and broadcast by employers to cover up their own shortcomings.

"I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the Woolwich arsenal could turn out a third more work than it is doing now," the interview declares. "The men have insufficient work to do because of lack of organization. Moreover, although the war has lasted nine months no accommodation has yet been provided for the men to get their meals."

INABILITY TO CHOOSE

"RIGHT WORD" CAUSES EMBARRASSMENT—STUDY OF DICTIONARY PROFITABLE

Inability to choose the right word often places a speaker in an embarrassing position. Many business men lose much valuable time because they and it difficult to express what they want to say when they dictate their correspondence. Greater freedom and accuracy in speaking and writing can be achieved by studying a dictionary and several packages of them were brought by Deputy Warden Hendry.

His visitors were Warden Allen, Deputy Hendry, Mr. Michael J. Murphy, chaplain of the prison, and Fr. Vitti Gregori, pastor of the Sacred Heart church in the North End.

The prisoner hopes that his sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment and today his sister will visit him.

DONAT GERVAYS REPORTS ROBBERY ON LAKEVIEW AVENUE SATURDAY NIGHT

Donat Gervais, employed as a collector by Avila Desrosiers, who conducts a grocery store at 742 Lakeview avenue, has reported to the police that he was knocked down and robbed of $35 while unharnessing a horse in the stable in the rear of Mr. Desrosiers' place of business about 7 o'clock Saturday night.

According to Gervais, he had been collecting all Saturday afternoon and was about to put his horse in the stable when attacked by at least two men, whom he could not identify. He said he was struck in the face and while lying on the barn floor, the men went through his pockets. He then reported the matter to Mr. Desrosiers and later to the police.

Inspector Walsh visited the scene of the alleged robbery, but none of the persons living within a few yards of the barn had heard the scuffle or could give any information about men hanging around the vicinity.

RESERVE BOARD'S PAYROLL

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The federal reserve board's total annual payroll in force today, according to its announcement is $157,160. This does not include the division of issue, operated by the office of the comptroller of the currency.

The staff in addition to the seven members of the board so far comprises 51 paid employees, 10 of whom are employees exclusive of the staff and its personal staff who get a total of $85,600 based upon the present payroll is $1765 a year.

BLIND ARTISTS COMING HERE

Mr. John and Miss Mary McGay, the blind brother and sister, will give a concert in Colonial hall, on Wednesday evening, May 11th. The McGays support themselves in this exceptional manner. Miss McGay has a pleasing soprano voice while her brother is a baritone of no mean ability. They are accomplished pianists. The McGays are a clever impersonator of Irish character.

TO GIVE CRIPPLES AN OUTING

BOSTON, May 3.—Unanimously the Boston Newsboys Protective union yesterday afternoon at a meeting at 30 Hanover street, decided on an action that has probably never been equalled in pure unselfishness by newsboys anywhere in this country.

Instead of going ahead with their plans for a projected banquet and reception to commemorate the 15th anniversary of the founding of their union, they agreed to use their assembled fund for an outing for the poor crippled children of Boston and vicinity, irrespective of race and creed, on Memorial day.

The originator of the idea was Nathan S. Sedgwick, their ex-president, who simply said in introducing it, "We must help those less fortunate than ourselves."

STRIKE SPREADS

Hod Carriers and Building Laborers Join the Striking Bricklayers

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Demanding an advance of five cents an hour and eight hours a day, hod carriers and building laborers, today joined the striking bricklayers, virtually tying up operations in the building trades in the Pittsburgh district. Six thousand men were said to be affected.

U. S. GUN BEST, DANIELS

SECRETARY HOLDS OUR BATTLESHIP HAS 50 PER CENT. FIRE SUPERIORITY TO BRITISH

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Critics who claim that the American navy's 14-inch rifles are inferior to the 15-inch type mounted on the great British battleship Queen Elizabeth, were answered in a statement issued last night by Secretary Daniels, declaring that the bureau of ordinance had developed a 14-inch gun "that will shoot farther, shoot straighter and hit harder than any gun now in use or known to be designed for a foreign country."

While conceding that the Queen Elizabeth's guns throw a larger shell, Mr. Daniels points out that she carries only eight of the 15-inch rifles, compared with a main battery of 12 14-inch weapons on the United States battleship Pennsylvania.

For the main battery guns of our battleships," say the Secretary's statement, "is one that has received the most careful consideration on the part of the bureau of ordinance and the general board."

There is an axiom with regard to caliber which amounts to this: That a ship should mount the smallest big gun that will pierce the enemy's armor over vital at the maximum probable fighting range. The 14-inch guns of the Pennsylvania will cut through the maximum armor about so far as our knowledge goes, at a range of 12,000 yards. The Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch guns will do a little more than that. If our information is correct as to the velocity of the British 15-inch gun, the 14-inch guns on the Pennsylvania will range a little farther than the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch gun. The latter trajectory of the 14-inch gun increased probability of hitting in comparison with the 15-inch gun.

"The Pennsylvania mounts 12 guns to the Queen Elizabeth's eight. Therefore the volume of fire of our ship exceeds the volume of fire of the British ship by 50 per cent."

A new department has built and proved a 14-inch gun superior to both the 15-inch and 16-inch for far greater range of armor at fighting range is concerned. If the Pennsylvania were to be armed with the 15-inch gun she could carry only eight, as against the 12 14-inch guns now assigned her. If we adopted the 15-inch caliber we would have to make a sacrifice in the number of guns at great or nearly as great a cost as was done in the design of the Queen Elizabeth.

THE ALASKAN RAILROAD

WORK ON CONSTRUCTION OF FIRST SECTION BEGUN AT SHIP CREEK

SEATTLE, Wash., May 3.—Work on the construction of the first section of the government's Alaskan railroad has begun at Ship Creek, according to word reaching here today. The first spike was driven Thursday by Martha White, the first white child born on Cook inlet.

Notice was posted at Ship Creek announcing that the engineering commission would not employ a large number of men this season and those going to Ship Creek with the idea of finding employment would be disappointed.

Scouts who stalked claims on the Terminal tract here have withdrawn from the land. Some of them, however, delayed removing their tents and lost them when newcomers, bound over the trails for Ship Creek, read notices ordering the immediate removal of the tents and carried them away. The squatters had been notified by the commission that the town site would be located elsewhere, as the government intends to use the reserve for terminal purposes.

CHOKES EATING MEAT

WORCESTER, May 3.—While eating dinner with his family yesterday afternoon, Stanley Kuhn, aged 53, of 8 Esther street, choked to death when a piece of meat became lodged in his throat. He was taken to the city hospital, but efforts to revive him failed.

CUD-CHewing ANIMALS BURNED

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Cattle, horses, hams and other ruminants or cud-chewing animals will be barred from entrances appearing here this summer. Dr. George Totten, director of the United States bureau of animal industry, in a statement yesterday said that animals of this class would not be admitted to Allegheny county while the quarantine resulting from the epidemic of foot and mouth disease was in effect. He said, however, that the order would not affect horses, tigers, leopards, elephants or other animals classed as felines or herbivores.

POLICE COURT DOCKET

SMALL NUMBER OF OFFENDERS AND ALL WERE IN FOR DRUNKENNESS

This forenoon's police court list was made up wholly of drunks and of the dozen or more arraigned before the court only one was sentenced, he being James H. Fahey who was on probation at the time of his arrest. Fahey appeared from a three months' sentence to jail. Another man, making his second appearance, told that he met some supposed friends on the South common and they offered him drink from a bottle which they carried. He accepted the drink and later found that he had been robbed of $12. All the money he had in his possession. A $5 fine was imposed. A neat appearing young man was given a suspended sentence to the state farm on condition that he keep away from his mother's home. In the other cases fines of $15 and $6 were imposed. Several first offenders were released by Probation Officer Slattery.

WAS MEMBER OF BATTERY WHICH TOOK PART IN MANY FAMOUS BATTLES

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Capt. James D. McGill, aged 91, former commander of the famous Knapp battery, officially known as Battery E, Pennsylvania Light artillery, during the Civil war, died at his home in Ben Avon, near here, yesterday.

American Schooner Hit Sunken Obstruction—One Man Killed

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 2, by radio to San Diego, Cal., May 3.—The American schooner Emma of San Diego has arrived at Mazatlan, Mexico, with only Captain Clark and the ship's cook on board and is being assisted by the United States cruiser Raleigh in repairing damages due to a storm.

The Emma sailed Feb. 2 from San Jose Del Cabo, Lower California, for northern ports. She struck a sunken obstruction and then was driven by a storm to Socorro Island. Dennis O'Keefe, the mate, died on board ship enroute and was buried at sea. The rest of the crew deserted on the arrival of the Emma at Socorro. The admiral Nathan has been directed by Collier Howard to rescue the deserters.

STORE WAS ROBBED

BURGERS ENTERED STORE OF CLARENCE E. STEVENS ON WESTFORD STREET

The local police are today investigating the break into the grocery store of Clarence E. Stevens at 349 Westford street, Saturday morning when the safe and cash register were rifled and the burglars got away with about $20 in money and a quantity of gum, candy and other articles.

The early morning burglars gained entrance through a cellar window and then cut a hole in a panel of the door leading from the cellar to the store. By reaching through the hole the door was unbolted. A few bills and some change were taken from the cash register and the strong box was removed from the safe to the cellar, where it was smashed open with a set of 200 pound scales. There was nothing in the box except a key.

About 2 o'clock Saturday morning Mr. Stevens, who lives above the store, was aroused by a noise and arose and lit the gas. Everything seemed quiet then, however, and he returned to bed only to find on opening his store in the morning that burglars had been operating there during the night.

SURGEON J. C. PRIOR OF NAVY RECOMMENDS THAT WHITE CLOTHING BE ABANDONED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Surgeon J. C. Prior of the navy, who is already on record as favoring the banishment of lanterns, balloon trousers, and other habiliments which make the American sailor's garb distinctive, has now submitted a report recommending that the wearing of white clothing by naval forces be abandoned.

While admitting that white clothing has some advantages, Surgeon Prior thinks it affords the enemy a target easily distinguishable and in addition is impracticable, because so easily soiled. To escape snipers at Vera Cruz last year, he says, the American naval forces in many instances colored their white uniforms with improvised dyes, coffee and even mud. Surgeon Prior believes khaki, olive drab or slate-colored material would make more practical uniforms.

Adams & Co. have the celebrated White grass ruffs that are artistic, durable and low priced.

Lowell Manufacturers, Engineers and Firemen Interested in Bill Soon to Become Law

The new bill for the regulation of persons or more to provide "accommodations" for the treatment of and first aid to persons injured or taken ill on their premises. This was not exactly what the proponents of this act, the Lowell Manufacturers Association, had in mind. They desired that the big factories should each have a regular emergency hospital room and they made their bill also particularly to include the small manufacturer employing as few as 25 persons. But the textile workers made their bill general to cover every manufacturer and that stirred up the shoemakers of Haverhill, Lynn and Brockton. Senator Wells of Haverhill carried the senate with him to the extent that the committee on social welfare to save the bill agreed to a compromise to substitute "accommodations" for "room or rooms" in the original bill and to increase the number of persons employed from 25 to "100". It was in that form that the bill was finally enacted without further opposition in the senate and the house agreed so that the law signed by the governor affects only manufacturers employing 100 persons or more and they, if they are required by the state board of labor and industries provide accommodations satisfactory to that board for the treatment of persons injured, or taken ill on the premises.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for the woman who would be beautiful, says Hortense, depends on the daily habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise, will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work, they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food.

Those who have very little exercise should never eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

Walking is just as essential to health in warm weather as cold. Only do not walk too rapidly or too far. The early morning is decidedly the best time. The air is purer and more bracing and the sun not so hot.

To fatten a thin face, Hortense says if you have the time and money, go to a skillful masseuse and have her treat your face and use a good massage cream. Cleanse the face every night with a cleansing cream. Apply it to the face and throat with the tips of the fingers and wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then massage the face for ten minutes with a massage cream. In the morning dampen a portion of a towel with toilet water and wipe the face with it. Use no other water on the face. Take a hot tub bath daily, use good soap and scrub the entire body from the chin down to the toes.

If you can't secure a professional to treat your face, massage it yourself once a week. First use cleansing cream, then steam for ten minutes, dry and massage gently but firmly, wipe cream all off and use toilet water.

Large pores on the face skin are almost sure to result, thinks Hortense, if you wash your face in hot water and do not afterward dash it with cold water. If you do not take this precaution you are almost sure to have large pores as the hot water opens them up and if left open they will spread and fill up and become permanently large.

Cold water will help to close them and so will an astringent. Benzoin is an astringent and I would advise you to get ten cents worth of tincture of benzoin and every time you wash your face with hot water, finish up with cold water into which you have poured a few drops of benzoin.

Another cure is to use a cleansing cream every night before retiring as the pores must be clean before they will reduce. In the morning bathe with moderately hot water, then apply the following lotion: Elder-flower water, 6 ozs.; Eau de Cologne, 1 1/2 ozs.; tincture benzoin, 1 dram; cucumber juice, 1 oz.

For those who wish to reduce Hortense advises that you take every opportunity to walk when you can. If it is a matter of several blocks, do not take a car even when it is possible. Take every opportunity to walk, but walk as if you really enjoyed it; put some energy into this exercise. Really make it an exercise.

Do not eat more than one starchy food at a meal, drink plenty of water, but between meals, and above all, eat enough to allay hunger, but stop there; do not continue as if you can never going to get another meal instead of one quite as heavy in another four or five hours.

Another thing sleep with plenty of fresh circulating air in your sleeping room and if you are very stout do with just sufficient sleep, and above all omit the nap in the middle of the day.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights, Hortense made me when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mental work must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air. Walk until you are tired. Do not overdo this, however, for sometimes the body will be too tired to sleep. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. General baths should be warm.

Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not sit immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk, sipped slowly, will help you to overcome insomnia after the other suggestions have been followed.

Be sure to remove all stains of fruits, paints, and so on as you can. Take a little time each night to clean and soften the skin. Any good cold cream will do this. Hortense gives a recipe below that will help you. Put into a bottle 2 ozs. of glycerine, 2 ozs. water, 4 table-spoons lemon juice and a few drops of carbolic acid. Shake well. After washing and drying the hands, rub a little of the mixture into them.

To keep your finger nails in good condition every night rub cold cream into the entire surrounding the nails. If you do not have a good cold cream, hand use the one for which the recipe is here given: Rosewater,

FR. JOHNSON BETTER

PASTOR OF GATE OF HEAVEN CHURCH STRICKEN AS RESULT OF HARD WORK

BOSTON, May 3.—Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, who was hurried to St. Elizabeth's hospital Saturday night, supposed to be in a precarious condition, was last night much improved, according to the report of his friend, Dr. John R. Slattery, physician-in-chief of St. Elizabeth's.

As Fr. Johnson was completing his afternoon duties Saturday he became dizzy, and was assisted into the parochial residence and later sent to the hospital. Contrary to reports yesterday, it was not a shock but the elimination of hard work. Rev. Fr. Johnson has had only one vacation in 50 years and that 10 years ago, when he went abroad to secure windows and ornate decorations for his new church.

One of the oldest priests of the diocese, Fr. Johnson is widely known, and in many churches yesterday there were prayers for his speedy recovery.

Fr. Johnson, a Lowell Man
Rev. Robert J. Johnson, pastor of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, is a native of this city, born and raised in St. Patrick's parish and a member of one of the oldest "Aerie" families. He has a sister in this city and is a relative of Dr. S. J. Johnson and Michael J. Johnson, the well known organist.

BROCKTON CHILD KILLED
BROCKTON, May 3.—John F. Flanagan, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Flanagan of 57 Dover street, was knocked down by an automobile at Dover street and Warren avenue shortly after 5 yesterday afternoon and died a few minutes later at the Brockton hospital.

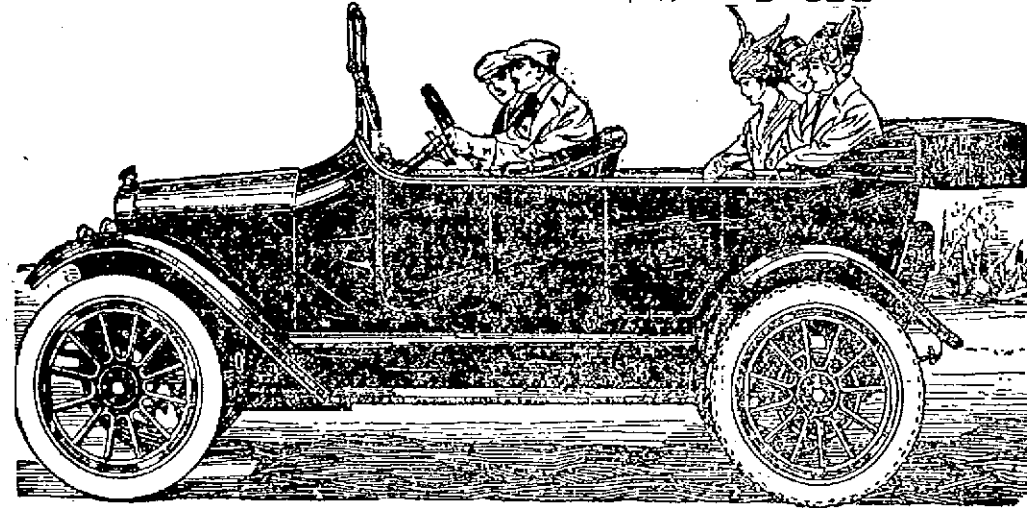

The automobile is owned and was operated by Miss Ruth Cosgrove of 933 Warren avenue. The police after an investigation held her blameless. The boy was playing with several other children, and it is said that he ran directly in front of the car. Miss Cosgrove was unable to prevent the accident. At the hospital he was found to have sustained a crushed chest, broken ribs and internal injuries.

A FINE CONCERT

Lowell Orchestral Society - Yesterday at Colonial Hall

The third and final concert of the Lowell Orchestral Society for this season attracted a large audience yesterday afternoon to Colonial hall, and should have attracted a larger one. It was an exceptionally fine musical event, reflecting serious preparation and general enthusiasm among the members. It demonstrated adequately that once again the Lowell Orchestral Society has reached a high point of excellence and may be depended upon to give occasional concerts to the Lowell public which will be well worthy of general patronage. Those who have not attended any of the recent concerts may accept the fact that in the Lowell Orchestral Society, Lowell has a musical aggregation actuated by the highest ideals and intelligently painstaking in the desire for first class concert presentation. Besides the orchestral numbers yesterday, the concert included vocal selections by Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert and violinello solos by

Frederick E. Mindt. Following is the program:

Overture, Egmont ..... Beethoven
Symphony, C Major ..... Mozart
Allegro Vivace
Minuetto
Songs: a—Dedication ..... Franz
b—To The Moon ..... Chamblade
c—Joy of the Morning, Harriet Ware
Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert.
Scenes From An Imaginary Ballet
1—Molto Vivace
2—Allegretto
3—Minuetto
Violoncello Solo
a—Scherzo ..... Von Goens
b—Night
Solo, Scene and Aria from Opera Aida
Verdi
Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert
Dance of the Sylphs—from Berlioz's
Dance of the Sylphs
Three Dances from Henry VIII, German.
1—Morris Dance
2—Shepherd's Dance
3—Torch Dance

The opening overture "Egmont" was splendidly given. It is a very difficult composition and could have been interpreted so well only after long and tireless rehearsal, under the direction of the director, Mr. Rudolph Schiller. The general tone is gloomy and intense, permeated by a low and swelling rumble of the bass instruments, and this effect was well pictured within the limitations of the orchestra. The death of Egmont was feelingly indicated, followed by a gradual swelling tone of the full orchestra which pictured the patriotism and determination of the Netherlands to fight for freedom to the end.

Strongly contrasted with this number was the Mozart symphony with its rapid change of moods. The tone was smooth and full, especially with the string instruments, and the melody was delicately indicated through the volume of the orchestration. The "scenes from an imaginary ballet," by S. Coleridge Taylor was intensely interesting though not so generally satisfactory as the selections preceding. The broken rhythm and uncertain continuity made the effect confusing at times, and there seemed more monotony of treatment than in other parts of the program. Yet, as an example of modern composition, the selection was very gratifying.

The "Dance of the Sylphs," from Berlioz was brief but very beautiful. The atmosphere of the piece was faithfully adhered to, and the subtle singing effects of the dance and the disappearance of the beautiful maidens were pictured with great effectiveness. There was a Strauss feeling in the illing waltz measure which ran in and out through the entire composition, and its sudden conclusion left a mood of expectancy in the listener. The "Dances from Henry VIII" by German were more direct in their appeal than any of the preceding numbers. They were not descriptive and were evidently intended to be dance measures. Full of life, gaiety and magnetism, they were strongly reminiscent of Irish folk dance tunes. Some of the phrases suggesting passages in very common reels and jigs. Yet it is a historical fact that Irish harpers and music were much sought at the courts of Elizabeth and Henry VIII, and so the music for the Morris and Shepherd dances may have been historically correct in its Celtic note.

Throughout the concert Mr. Rudolph Schiller had his orchestra in perfect control. As a conductor he was splendid, having no affectations, and simply attending to business without unnecessary frills or mannerisms. His direct and illuminating manner showed where most of the credit for the concert is due.

Mme. Wilhelmina Wright Calvert has sung many times in this city, but she never sang here in better voice. Yesterday her tones were full and fresh and she seemed to be equally at home in the upper and lower registers. The round, rich volume of her voice was controlled splendidly, and in the coloratura passages she showed fine mastery of technique. As if to give others the joy which seemed to thrill her, she sang for the most part songs of exalted moods. The morning song by Harriet Ware was beautifully sung, and "To the Moon" was given with appealing power.

The Adia selection showed that Mme. Calvert is equal to the most exacting operatic selection, and the songs of spring which she sang in response to demands for encores were full of suggestions of robins and flowers, and all the joy of the season. Her singing was a delight in every way, and a genuine surprise in her mastery of the violinello. His touch was sure and subtle and he seemed to strive for the meaning of the composition rather than for mechanical perfection. The Scherzo was light and lovely, and the "Night of Urach" was almost too lovely in its waiting, tenderness. It pictured the night that hangs over Europe and was terribly like the cry of a sorrowing and desolate woman. Mr. Mindt was roundly applauded and gave a very effective encore.

Mr. Arthur C. Spalding was the accompanist and he was equal to all demands. Whether in the full orchestration or with the soloists, his delicate touch, intelligent appreciation of values, and power of suggestion were felt. His influence added to that of Mr. Schiller will undoubtedly make the Lowell Orchestral Society a vehicle of the highest in musical education and entertainment.

Following were the members of the orchestra:
Violins: Hannah M. Barrows, Florence F. Nix, Lillian M. Sullivan, Irene B. White, Blanche M. Walsh, Madeline Kershaw, Mary M. Holmes, Madeline McAlonan, Thomas J. Sullivan, Dr. Emma Howard, Edward W. Daly, Edwin H. McLean, Robert M. Crawford, James H. J. Gilbride, Edmund L. Bailey, Charles E. O'Donnell, Frederick J. Gleason, Leo O. Bissonnette, Raymond Bourgeois.
Violas: Mary M. Pease, Paul P. Davis, Edward A. Moore.
Violoncello: Bernice M. Russell.
Basses: Hormidas J. Martel, Arthur W. Greeley.

KING GUSTAF OF SWEDEN CANADIANS LOST 6000 SAVED BY U. S. CRUISER

WENT OPERATION FOR ULCER-
TION OF STOMACH

KING OF SWEDEN

LONDON, May 3.—King Gustaf was operated on for ulceration of the stomach by Prof. John Wilhelm Berg, the celebrated Swedish surgeon. The operation lasted 75 minutes. It was said that the ulcer was more or less superficial in nature and showed no signs of being malignant. The king, after he had sufficiently recovered from the operation, went to Carlstad to recuperate. A despatch in the Central News from Stockholm says that the king is ill again, apparently with recurrence of the trouble for which he underwent the operation.

WHEN GERMANS RETOOK ST.
JULIEN

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3.—Casualties among the Canadian contingent in the fighting at Ypres are now reported to have been nearly 6000. Of these, 2000 are reported missing, the missing being chiefly the 13th and 14th battalions of Montreal Highlanders, each 1000 strong. It is stated that 700 officers and men were killed and 3000 wounded. The totals thus given would indicate that more than one-fourth of the 21,000 men in the division were put out of action.

The Canadian official eye-witness reported the two battalions of Highlanders left behind in the fighting at St. Julien.

"The German line," the eye-witness said, "rolled over the deserted village, but for several hours after the enemy had become master of the village, the men and persistent rifle fire showed they were not yet master of the Canadian rear guard."

As Berlin reported a thousand Canadian prisoners, it is feared here that 1000 of these rear guards were killed before exhaustion of ammunition compelled the detachment to surrender.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

The Broadway Social and Athletic club held its regular weekly meeting Sunday afternoon at its room on Broadway, with President McCann in the chair. Considerable business of importance was transacted. Two applications for membership were received and admitted. The dance committee made its final report. The newly elected officers of the club were duly installed after which a smoke talk and a very enjoyable program was carried out. It included: Remarks by President McCann; piano solos, Mr. Warwick; Charles Miner; songs by Mr. Clough; William Madden; James Dowling and quartet selections by Andrew McLaughlin, George Mullin, William Madden, James O'Brien; duet, Ed. Keegan and Frank Campbell. Mr. William Walsh had charge of the exercises.

When the vessel arrived at Ensenada, Captain Kerr, according to Seaborg, was taken ashore by Mexican soldiers, placed in detention and requested to sign a statement turning over the Cetriana's cargo to the authorities.

Captain Kerr refused, Seaborg says, and a second squad of soldiers came aboard and took the ship's radio operator and purser ashore.

After this, according to Seaborg, a Mexican colonel boarded the Cetriana and stated that he had received orders from the military commander of Lower California to unload the vessel's cargo.

Before the Mexican officer could return with more soldiers the cruiser Denver hove in sight.

Commander Ziegler of the Denver after learning of the trouble, went ashore, conferred with Ensenada officials and succeeded in having the men and vessel released, Seaborg said.

"The Denver then passed us a line and towed us in."

SECTARIAN BILL SCORED

Card. O'Connell Talks Plainly to Convention of American Federation of Catholic Societies

BOSTON, May 3.—The severe scoring of the sectarian amendment, which has been before the present session of the legislature and the call upon all Catholics of the state to stand firm against the false Americanism which fostered it and for the civil rights of those of that faith, by Cardinal O'Connell, were the features of the seventh annual convention of the Catholic Federation at St. Alphonsus hall, yesterday afternoon.

The cardinal was enthusiastically applauded when he declared that "if nothing else were accomplished, you have prevented the enactment of an amendment which would be as much of a disgrace to Massachusetts as her Blue Laws."

He spoke at length on the amendment and said: "When all the mud and malice of these so-called Americans is stripped of their shroud, the thing behind it is simply selfishness and jealousy—the two greatest causes of all the evil in the world—the causes of the awful war which is now destroying Europe. Now once for all let me say that we are not deceived by your talk. We are not going to let you stir our people to an anger of retaliation which you well deserve. We are going to keep our good humor because we know that hundreds of thousands of our non-Catholic friends are thoroughly ashamed of this miserable attempt to weaken all the best forces of order and law. But you are not going to intimidate us for one minute."

Spite and Bitterness
"Now I am not going to talk about the men and measures behind such things. They are welcome to all their spite and bitterness—we want none of it. We are going to stand just where we are, for all that belongs to us—not a hair's breadth less will we take, and we want not a shade more. And all the threats and insults and abuse will only serve to show that as usual we are welcome to fight and work for this country, but are not supposed to ask for our legitimate rights."

"All this talk about our religion and the pope and the Vatican is merely a cloak. They are merely trying by this meaningless talk to cover up the real point—that they want everything, including what is ours, for themselves alone. You may work in their sewers or mills, but you must never even hope that your children will take the honorable share of civic life which you are earning for them by your loyalty to this country, your industry, and your willingness to share the dangers and hardships which entitle you to reward."

"If you think our people are asking for anything undue, argue with us, reason with us, but if you abuse us and lie about us and attempt to browbeat us, you are wasting time and energy, and when you attempt to put all this vulgar, unjust and bitter bigotry and misrepresentation on the basis of religion, why all I can say is you do not even yet know what religion is."

"I stand on this platform today simply as an American citizen. My family has fought for the preservation of the Union, and has suffered for the cause of freedom. And as an American citizen, I call upon all you men here to stand firm against this false Americanism, stand firm for your faith and your civil rights, and true Americans will stand with you."

No Discrimination

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, declared that the Catholic Federation had no special consideration, but that they would tolerate no discrimination. The sectarian amendment was adroitly drawn, he said, "as if to show a manifest fairness to all, but every word spoken by every advocate proved that it was aimed directly against Catholics in the express fear that by our constantly increasing numbers we should some time obtain control of the state and then give to Catholic institutions the public funds which for a century had been given to Protestant institutions, stifling themselves in the language of one of the eminent advocates by deploring the past. Massachusetts has once again violated religious freedom and has informed the world that intolerance must stop at her borders, and this commonwealth, beloved of Senator Hearst, has renounced her allegiance to its free state."

Frederick W. Mansfield stated that if the Catholics ever intended to seize the government it would have been at the outbreak of the Civil war when the army and government were in a demoralized state. "We believe in toleration. We concede it to them; we demand it for ourselves. This is not an attempt to meet bigotry with bigotry for this great movement is far broader than that."

Henry V. Cunningham, president of the federation, reported for the legislative committee. Charles E. Fay told of the work of the Common Cause society in combating the enemies of religion and of the social and industrial relations committee of the federation.

The federation closed this list of officers: President, Henry V. Cunningham; vice presidents, Jeremiah B. Burke of Dorchester, James J. Lennon of Lynn, Michael J. Powers of Stoughton, Timothy W. Haley of Cambridge, secretary, Charles T. Daly of West Medford, treasurer, Edwin Mulready of Rockland.

QUARREL ENDS IN SUICIDE

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Woman Takes Poison After Religious Altercation With Her Father

WEST BURKE, Vt., May 3.—Following an altercation over religion, Miss Smith, aged 36, daughter of Macdonald Smith, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by taking poison.

She lived with her father and a brother and sister. About a year ago she joined the Seventh Day Adventists and since then the family has had trouble over religious matters. Saturday she called her father to task for working on what she called her Sabbath and at the dinner table yesterday Mr. Smith retaliated by reminding her that her household work was being done in violation to his principles of keeping Sunday holy. Following a warm argument, Miss Smith entered her room and took the poison. Her family supposed she had taken something for a headache and learned her condition only when she called for help. She lived about an hour and a half.

PICKED UP BY TUG

Steamer Vance Was Rudderless and Otherwise Damaged

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—While drifting rudderless and otherwise damaged by the storm which for three days raged along the coast the steamer Edward H. Vance has been picked up by a tug, according to wireless information published today and is now being towed back to the city. She was found 150 miles off Santa Cruz, California.

During the height of the storm Friday the Vance's deckload of lumber was carried away. That evening the lost her tow, the Norwegian ship Agat, and because of the storm was unable to put back aboard the ship again. No fears are expressed for the Agat, as it is thought she will be able to make her way under sail without trouble. Other vessels delayed by the storm are safe in port.

Going to the Exposition? Don't Miss Colorado Scenery

No one can be indifferent to the Colorado Rockies, mountain scenery, and visitors to the California Expositions should make a point of seeing it. Also Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, the Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City.

Now there is no extra charge for all this if you go via the Burlington Route. The service of that line has been planned so that you pass all of these points by daylight, and you can view the train a panorama of mountain scenery that is as celebrated as any in the world. Surely on your way, you will not miss this opportunity and I would like to send you some pictures, maps and printed matter not only of the Colorado wonders, but also of Glacier Park or Yellowstone Park, which by all means, you should visit on the return trip. Please make use of me to help plan the trip for you. Call on or write Alex. Stocks, New England Passenger Agent, C. B. & Q. R. R., 251 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

TO COMBAT DIVORCE EVIL

CONSTITUTION APPROVED BY CATHOLIC LAWYERS WILL BE SENT TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL

BOSTON, May 3.—A number of lawyers of Greater Boston recently attended a meeting called by Frederick W. Mansfield and have organized a Catholic Lawyers' league, the purpose of which will be to "combat the divorce evil." A constitution was constructed and will be sent to Cardinal O'Connell for his approval.

The organization of this league has been agitated by Mr. Mansfield for a long time, and it was his intention, he said, yesterday, to have it known as the Massachusetts Catholic Lawyers' league, but upon the recent receipt of a letter from a lawyer in France, the name of the state was dropped.

Mr. Mansfield had seen mention of the project in a newspaper from this country, and asked that he be allowed to join such an organization, if permissible. In his country he had been opposing divorce for years, he stated. The league members will take no cases dealing with divorce, except those in opposition to such action. "It is my hope that this league will eventually become a worldwide organization," said Mr. Mansfield.

KILLED BY AUTOS NOT A CANDIDATE

FALL RIVER, May 3.—A seven-passenger touring car, owned and operated by Manuel B. Pavo, a sausage manufacturer of 114 Ballard street, was wrecked when it crashed into a tree in South Somerset yesterday afternoon, and his 12-year-old daughter Mary was killed. She was thrown from the machine over a stone wall into a field.

Besides the father and daughter in the machine were the mother and six other children, whose ages range from 2 to 10 years. After crashing into the tree the automobile struck a telegraph pole and turned turtle. The father, mother and several of the children were pinned under the car.

The father, who sustained three fractured ribs and two very bad scalp wounds, is in a critical condition at the City hospital. Mrs. Pavo sustained an injury to her spine and an ugly wound on the left leg. She is also at the City hospital. The other children were cut and bruised, but not badly hurt. Mary, the child who was killed, was sitting beside her father and she lived only 15 minutes after she was pitched from the machine.

Bird Decides to Remain Out, He Informs Ex-Governor Foss

OSTON, May 3.—Charles S. Bird of Walpole will not be a progressive-republican candidate for governor in the next primary election. He has written a letter to ex-Gov. Eugene N. Foss in which he says that after giving the suggestion careful consideration he has decided to remain out of the contest. Mr. Bird gives his reasons in the following letter:

"April 30, 1915.
"Dear Mr. Foss—I have read your letter in which you ask me to become a progressive-republican candidate for governor in the next primary election.
"To your suggestion and to others of the same nature that I have received during the past few months I have given careful consideration and I have decided that I shall not be a candidate.
"There are many personal reasons why I should not, which I would only disregard if there were some very strong public duty calling me, and I do not feel that there exists any such duty. Whenever such a duty exists I shall be the first to do my share in the fight. Yours very truly,
"Charles S. Bird."

SEPARATED 35 YEARS FOUR OF CLUBS EVENTS

BROCKTON COUPLE DIVORCED 35 YEARS AGO, MARRIED AGAIN, BOTH WEDDED AFTERWARDS

BROCKTON, May 3.—William S. Brainard, aged 65, of 783 North Montello street, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Aroline A. Fletcher, aged 61, were married yesterday at the home of Rev. George Boice Titus in Bridgewater. Mr. Titus is pastor of the West Bridgewater Baptist church. The couple journeyed to Bridgewater in street cars and the only witness was the wife of the officiating clergyman.

The couple were married 45 years ago and 10 years later divorced. Since then both remarried. Mr. Brainard's second wife died four years ago and Mrs. Fletcher secured a divorce from her second husband last fall.

Children of the couple sought a reconciliation and remarriage, but Mr. Brainard would not consent to this when the subject was brought up to him. He took Mrs. Fletcher into his home as housekeeper, however. The culmination of the romance came yesterday when the couple were married, a new ring being used at the service, although the ring used nearly half a century ago is in possession of one of the daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Brainard will go to Haverhill, where they will spend a week's honeymoon with their daughter, Mrs. Alexander Roberts. A big reception has been planned for them there.

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS

Many people pay a terrible price for success, sacrifice for it health and happiness. Neurasthenia, a typically American disease, is due to worry over the struggle for success more than to any other one thing.

Neurasthenia is a condition of nervous exhaustion in which the system fails to recuperate after unusual demands upon its nervous energy. Its symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin the treatment today before your condition becomes chronic.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

TO TENDER BANQUET TO LADY FRIENDS MAY 30—BIG MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

The Four of Clubs held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting at the Temple club, Willow Dale, yesterday afternoon at which it was decided to tender a banquet to the lady friends of the members on May 30. The festivities will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and an excellent program will be arranged for the enjoyment of the members and their guests.

President James McEvoy of the Falcon club was in the chair and opened the meeting with a short address in which he told of the good fellowship prevailing among the members of the Four of Clubs, which he said, was founded on the social times held in the past. Lawrence Bourke was then appointed secretary and considerable business of importance was transacted. Messrs. Joyce, Keyes and Flinders were appointed on the banquet committee and Messrs. Baxter, Beane and Flinders were designated a committee to provide a musical program for the affair. James Flinders of the Falcon club was unanimously elected toastmaster.

Supper was served by Caterer Landers after which an informal musical program was carried out to which the following members contributed: Messrs. Flinders, Higgins, Baxter, Hennessy, Shinkwin, Bourke, Williams, Joyce, Flinders, Garrity, Monahan and Lane. Mr. Williams presided at the piano.

BINAH PACKARD'S SUICIDE

FORMER LOWELL STABLE KEEPER ENDED HIS LIFE BY HANGING

Word has been received in this city of the suicide by hanging of Binah Packard, a former resident of this city, in a small town in Illinois. Mr. Packard formerly conducted a livery stable in Middle street and several years ago he left Lowell for Chicago, where he went into the horse trading business. It is believed he became despondent over illness.

LITTLEFIELD DEAD

Former Congressman From Maine Passed Away in N. Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, May 3.—Charles Edgar Littlefield, former congressman from Maine, who had lived in New York since he resigned from Congress in 1905, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the Postgraduate hospital from an embolism following an operation performed about ten days ago.

Mr. Littlefield was elected to congress June 19, 1899, to fill out the unexpired term of Nelson Dingley, author of the Dingley tariff, who had died in office. He was an insurgent by temperament—not a brand insurance, such as those who broke away later when the Payne-Aldrich tariff was up for passage, but an insurgent according to his own views. His first speech was made in the case of the exclusion from the house of Bligham H. Roberts, the polygamist elected to a seat from Utah, and he took the unpopular side.

Then the republican organization put through its bill for a tariff with Porto Rico, and again Littlefield was an insurgent. Its disagreement with the party's policy on the Cuban reciprocity bill, and by this time he was known as a man chronically unresponsive to orders from the machine, who, nevertheless, by the force of his personality, was making his own way and winning his own reputation. His district re-elected him to the 55th, 56th, 57th and 60th congress, and he soon acquired a wide reputation through the vigor of his oratory and his firmness in standing out for his own views.

D. P. KEITH'S THEATRE

With a speed that will startle audiences, Hugo Jansen, gown designer, formerly of the Rue de Paris, Paris, will demonstrate at the D. P. Keith theatre, this week, just how he can create a new dress. He will use three live models—mannequins—they call them in Paris—and three distinct dresses will be fitted on each one of them. No scissors will be used, only a few pins. While this is the place of resistance or "The Fashion Show," a musical comedy, there will be other features which call for special mention.

Among these additional features are Blanche Latell, a wonderfully clever character comedienne, who, for two seasons, was in a leading part in "Nauty Marietta" and Earl Carr, who called "The Broomstick" and Miss Latell will play the part of "Neuralgia," the daughter of the hayseed who goes to the style show, and who at once wants to emulate the splendidly clad "mannequins." Carr will have the role of "Hiram Cornwell," the retiring farmer who feels himself suddenly spurred on to learn more about modern dressmaking, and then there will be singing and dancing, and special lighting and scenic effects.

But, as aforesaid, the big feature of the act, and the absolute novelty, will be the dressing of the "mannequins." And in this work Hugo Jansen presents something which has never before found its way onto the stage. Jansen was not an actor when the war broke out. He was a designer of gowns, with an excellent clientele. But, when war broke out and gowns and dresses were scarce, he was in a position to find every avenue of profit shut to him. Being a Dane he was not forced to enlist in the French army, and so came to America. Style shows have been not uncommon things in America, but they have been run purely as such, and not in conjunction with theatrical performance. Hugo Jansen knew that musical comedy and such like, have run very much to elaborate dressing. In recent years, and so he devised the plan of dressing on the stage. Although he had deft fingers, he was forced to put on more speed, and now he can completely design a gown in two minutes. He plays quite by instinct, and wherever it has played hundreds of women have invariably turned out to see the gown designing exhibition.

Miss Latell will receive a splendid reception here during the week. Very well known here, and with a wide circle of friends, she is sure of creating considerable impression as one of the "Five Violin Beauties," an act which has no parallel on the stage. Five young women, all accomplished players of the violin, play in this act, and the part of their act where they impersonate the women of different nations, they invariably score a distinct hit. The five young women are: Misses Shaw, Valcia, Lewis, Glover and Anderson.

"The Fixer" is the title of a whimsical comedy to be played by Marion Such & Co. and Mito, the versatile tramp and imitator, will make a distinct addition to the bill. Other acts on the bill are: Hilton & Roberts, singing and dancing; Mrs. Clemons, grand opera singers; The Musical Chef, and the Hearst-Sells News Pictorial. Good seats may be obtained in advance for the entire first week. Beginning Monday, May 10, the theatre will be devoted to a summer run of moving pictures of the highest possible grade. For the entire first week Marie Dressler and Charles Chaplin will appear in "Tillie's Punctured Romance." In six parts, the biggest film comedy ever produced. On the following week, for the first three days, Andrew Mack in "The Ragged Earl" will be the feature, and for the last half "The Heart of Maryland," with Matt Leslie Carter in the leading role. Other and shorter pictures will also be shown. The prices will be 5, 10 and 15 cents.

THE OWL THEATRE

Leo Tolstoi, the author, Herbert Breton, the producer, Nance O'Neil, Theda Bara and William Shay, the performers. A marvelous combination, and "Kreutzer Sonata," the product, is all that could be expected for a motion picture play. The entire first picture will be shown for the first time in Lowell today and tomorrow at well known Owl prices. New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and all the big centres of amusement have charged enormous prices to see this particular play. Again he is remembered that Lowell can view the same attractions at a much lower price. "My Grace is Sufficient For Thee"

Some of the incidents related showed that God's grace was sufficient in the lives of many. The lesson of the apostle Paul's affliction was brought home that in spite of affliction God had his purpose and as Paul found that God's grace was sufficient he did his greatest work after receiving his affliction. We should also look to Christ for grace to bear the things which are laid upon us. Another point was brought home more vividly when the pastor read a sentence in a letter received from the teacher of the men's class, who had gone to the hospital to undergo an operation and was laid out, "to a whatever come this grace is sufficient."

At the communion service 10 members received the right hand fellowship.

Highland Congregational

"Doubtful Ground is Defenseless" was Rev. Chalmers P. Dyke's sermon subject at the Highland Congregational church Sunday morning. He said that a person must be either for God or against God. There is no half way mark.

The Vesper bi-monthly communion service was held in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and following a short sermon by the pastor on the subject, "Re-Salvation," four new members were admitted to the church on confession of faith and communion was served.

The Junior V. P. S. C. E. met in the afternoon at 3 o'clock with Miss Pearl Ealy as leader. The senior society met at 4:15 and discussed the topic, "Joys of the Christian Life."

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

If your vegetables or preserves scorch while cooking, says Cook, remove the kettle from the fire at once and set in a pan of cold water letting it remain there for ten or fifteen minutes; at the end of that time you will find the scorched taste has entirely vanished from the food, leaving it as nice as before.

Should a cake be burned on the outside through careless baking, scrape the black parts very carefully and brush over with beaten white of egg. Then dust with castor sugar and put the cake back into the oven for five minutes, when all signs of burn will have disappeared.

To prevent milk or food cooked in milk from scorching, rinse the sauce pan out in cold water and rub over with a little fresh butter or lard. If the shavings are removed from the legs when a fowl is drawn the meat of the legs will be as good as that of the second joint.

Cook contributes some moth preventive which she is sure will be welcome, just now. When storing clothes away for the summer, sprinkle whole cloves among the articles instead of mothballs. This will keep the moths away and the odor is far from disagreeable.

To drive moths away, get some rock sulphur or brimstone from a druggist, and place small lumps among the things put away, after well brushing them. It will leave no smell or mark of any sort, and no moth will go near the box or drawer where brimstone is placed.

To prevent moths attacking furniture while away on holiday, soak pieces of cotton wool in turpentine and stuff into the corners of chairs and sofas.

Kerosene is a very necessary household accessory, says Cook. It will remove flyspecks from brass. Apply with a flannel rag. It will remove fresh ink and paint stains. Added to cold soap suds it will remove blood stains. A spoonful added to boiled starch prevents its sticking. A soft cloth moistened with kerosene cleans the porcelain bathtub like magic.

Rub a mop moistened with kerosene over the hardwood or painted floors. Takes up all the dust and leaves a pleasant looking polish. It will take out grease or tar spots if put on while spot is fresh. Wash out in cold water, using no soap. A little kerosene added to water in which windows are to be washed makes them clear and easy to polish. Washing doors and window screens with kerosene improves their looks.

The odor of kerosene keeps away flies, mosquitoes and moths. Applied frequently to wooden beds will keep away possible bugs. Applied about sink and waste pipes will keep away cockroaches and other bugs. It removes rust from the stove. It removes vaseline stains. To remove stain of kerosene, cover with oatmeal or corn meal. Leave it alone for two days. Brush well.

Cook says that red ink placed in white water and kept in the color in plain glass. If you wash silk stockings after each wearing they will last much longer. A faded dress can be made white by washing it in boiling cream of tartar water.

After washing a white knitted jersey, put it on a coathanger to dry and hang it on a line. It will keep a better shape than if pegged on the line.

The way to avoid wasting starch is simple, says Cook. Let the starch settle, pour off the water and dry the starch in a warm oven. It will form into a hard cake and you can use it again. To prevent the iron from sticking and to get a beautiful gloss to linen, add just a little soap to your starch.

Cook says when running dates, figs or raisins through a food chopper, if a few drops of lemon juice are added it will prevent the fruit from clogging the chopper.

When pouring hot drinks into a thin glass, if a silver spoon is placed in the glass first it will prevent it from cracking. Mended broken crockery with white lead, putting a little on each piece and press together and let it stand for some time. Hot water will not affect it.

Blocks of camphor dispersed in all corners of damp rooms in a new house will effectively banish damp to a very short time, even when fires have proved ineffectual. They should be simply laid on paper, or on the bare shelves of a damp room or linen closet. The blocks gradually decrease in size, and when they finally disappear should be replaced until their purpose is served.

Pasteurized food, says Cook, is the best preventive of the dreaded summer complaint. If you cannot afford to buy the regulation pasteurizer, which will cost you three dollars or a little less, use this method. Fill jars or bottles with the milk or milk diluted with water or orange, whatever formula you use in feeding the baby, and fasten the corks or lids tight.

Set these bottles into a deep pot of cold water, and bring the latter to the boiling point as rapidly as possible. Lift the pot from the stove and allow the bottles to remain in the water for twenty minutes.

Then set them in the sink and turn first warm and then cold water over them, making the change gradually. As soon as they are cool, set them on the ice until baby is to be fed and reheat the milk until it is just lukewarm.

MAKING A CAMISOLE

"Marie, do you know what a camisole is?" asked Marjorie with a puzzled expression as she walked slowly and abstractly into her aunt's house one morning. "Some of the girls were discussing camisoles the other day but aside from the fact that it is a lingerie of some kind I haven't the remotest idea what it is—what I want one."

"Why," answered Marie, "a camisole is no more or less than a corset cover of a unique shape; just the thing to wear now that the absolutely plain undershirt is in favor."

"The camisole is a yard long striped of sheer linen or lawn, hand-hemmed at the lower edge, embroidery or lace inserted along the upper edge, seamed at the middle of the back, and, of course, drawn on over the head."

"It is kept in place by ribbon streamers that bow-knot on the tops of the shoulders and if these ribbon streamers loops or arm-eyes are of the washable kind, they need not be removed before the garment goes to the laundress."

"Usually the camisole, while wide enough to be readily drawn on over the head and shoulders, fits almost smoothly over the bust and across the back, but if it is made of a very thin fabric like net, shadow lace or chiffon cloth, it would best be so wide that its fullness above the bust must needs be drawn in by a ribbon run through a beading at the top edge."

"This is nearly always done when a narrow edging finishes the top, for when drawn up, it will form a scant little ruffling prettily defining the lower limit of the square-cut neck."

"Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, the neckline widens until it reaches the base of the skirt, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back."

"As this camisole fits closely over the bust, it can only be put on by undoing the placket which buttons half way down its back."

"The camisole will stand elaborate trimming and usually has a broad band of lace or embroidery or hand-embroidered edge with a fine frilling about the scalloped lower edge as well as outlining its square-shaped neck and entirely forming its arm-eye shoulder-straps."

"Surely, I must have one now," said Marjorie delightedly. "I can make one easily myself, Marie, can't I?"

"You certainly can," answered Marie, "and you will find it a very pretty and useful addition to your wardrobe."

LATEST SKIRTS

—Four in All

Perhaps the newest and most interesting feature is the very full skirts that are cut uneven or to form points at their lower edges. They are not essentially practical for one can hardly think of applying them to anything but the exceptional costume and it is hardly probable that they will come into anything like general use, but they are interesting and smart and certainly a departure. A very beautiful gown that has just been unpacked, is made of faile silk in one of the rich and beautiful shades of blue that is not quite so dark as navy. The skirt is cut in nine gores that flare most generously at their lower edge but are by no means narrow at the belt for at that point the skirt is gathered. Each gore is shaped to be longer at the edges than at the center and while the difference is not great, it gives a very novel line, the shape of each gore being not unlike that of an umbrella section. At the seams are sewed little drop ornaments and as a matter of course, the skirt is short. The shaped edge also means that the under side is as present as the wearer walks, consequently the skirt is faced with white satin and the lower edges of this facing are finished with silver braid approximately one inch in width. The bodice illustrates the tendency toward simplicity and reserve in trimming and at the same time gives evidence of the resourcefulness with which these simple models are relieved of over-severity. It is cut out at the front in the form of a rectangle and at the back, it is surplice and the surplice ends are extended to form a sash. The guimpe is of white satin with a high stock collar and two rows of tiny white satin buttons down the front outlining the edge of the bodice and on the white satin is a row of silver braid. The closing is made at the front where the edges are laced together with a silk lacing of brilliant cardinal red and in this touch of bright color, the artist's hand is felt. A dinner costume somewhat more elaborate than the preceding one but also suggesting the skirt that is shaped at the lower edge is made of two-toned taffeta and to obtain the peculiar shade, the wool is dull blue and the taffeta is a shade of rose. The skirt is cut to form four rather deep points, two at each side of the front and two at each side of the back. It is wide and much flared and on the lower edge is a gathered ruffle about three inches in width of the silk which is fringed out in a way to show the rose-colored edge and on the under side of the skirt is a soft puff of the rose-colored silk caught here and there with bunches of roses. The deep bodice portion shows a guimpe of white lace and there is an oddly shaped silk portion drawn up over the guimpe at the lower edge which is finished with a tiny little fringed-out ruffle and there are also over-sleeves of the silk that extend from the wrists to about the elbows, only the lace appearing above.

An exceedingly handsome coat suit of taffeta adapted to afternoon visits and the like is made of striped silk, blue with dull rich coloring in contrast combined with plain blue. The skirt is wide and circular but is cut shorter at the front to droop at the sides, back and at the front to reveal an under skirt of black satin for a depth of four or five inches. There is a bodice of the striped silk trimmed with the plain blue with a chemise of fine lace and there is also a fancy little coat of the plain blue with trimming of the striped material. It makes an exceedingly beautiful costume and an especially interesting one, because of the shaping of the skirt. While it is not at all likely that such a feature will be taken up for the costume of general wear, it undoubtedly will appear on those of more exceptional use and when well handled, it assuredly possesses a charm of its own.

For the coat suits, plaited skirts and skirts of circular shaping have great vogue. A new one that has especial value because of the use of the colors, is made of canvas cloth in a rich deep blue. The skirt is laid in a suggestion of rather narrow box-plaits and over each plait there is a little trimming of black braid to about yoke depth.

If there is nothing radically new to chronicle since the Paris opening, there are a great many developments that are of interest and there are tendencies that it may be well to discuss, while details of the fashionable toilette are such that they may be either brilliantly successful or create a hopeless failure as they are selected with wisdom or without. Short full skirts are so easily exaggerated into the absurd that that presents a danger.

Whenever we have fancy footwear, there are unlimited possibilities for the display of poor taste and this season, short skirts and fancy footwear make two all important features. The latest work from Paris asserts that the beautiful, carefully made high shoes of fine leather or cloth in color to match the costume are held smarter, more dignified and in better taste than the low shoes. Last week, mention was made of dancing shoes of white satin made on these lines and the same general idea will be carried out on the costumes of the best dressed women.

Say what we will and defy convention as we may, the really well-dressed woman is never extreme and never allows her costume to degenerate into anything that touches vulgarity. Such unseemly exposure as results from thin hosiery and low shoes with skirts six or eight inches from the ground, is in bad taste and cannot be anything else no matter who may exploit it, no matter under what auspices it may appear. From a good authority comes the statement that one of the best known graces of Paris has never been seen upon the street in a low shoe and while that may be a little extreme in view of the possibilities

EFFECTIVE BUT SIMPLE DESIGNS

Nothing makes quite such dainty frocks for the tiny folk as fine white materials embroidered by hand, and here are two dresses that show most effective designs and at the same time are simple and easy to make. The baby's dress is made in panel effect and here the panel is hemstitched to the plain portion of the dress, but it can of course be joined in any way that may be liked. Often fine narrow lace insertion is applied over the seams. The material illustrated is handkerchief lawn, but there are numerous pretty ones that are in every way appropriate. To make the dress will be needed 2 1/2 yards of material 36 inch wide, 1 1/2 yards 44 in. wide. The short frock shown on the second figure is as simple as can be and absolutely charming and attractive. It is tucked to form its own yoke and these tucks can of course be either sewed by hand or by machine. It is made with straight lower edge, consequently the finish can be a hem, lace insertion as in this instance or hemstitching and the frock can be made of flouncing as indicated in the back view. The sleeves can be either short or long and the neck square or high. The low neck frock of white lawn, embroidered, is a very dainty little garment, adapted to baby's most important occasions. The high neck dress with the long sleeves made of Dresden lawn or some similar material becomes a prosaic one adapted to the morning, but it will always be pretty, always becoming. For the 2 year size will require 2 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide, 1 3/4 yards 44 inches wide with 3 yards of insertion to trim as shown in the front view; 1 7/8 yards of flouncing 29 inches wide, 3/8 yard of material 36, to make as shown in the back view.

AGE AND THE HANDS

Sometimes we are obliged to wonder where all the "old ladies" are living, in this world of fango, wigs and women's strage. We can no longer find the old lady with the bonnet and shawl in the big cities, and even in the smaller towns she is quite a rarity.

If women but only realized it, they would find that there is more necessity for fussing and caring for one's grooming when one is fading, than when possessed of radiant youth.

The hands need attention as we climb the years. Neglected hands frequently show evidence of a woman's age before the face, to which latter she gives more attention. To conceal the age lines at the wrist long cuffs and soft lace ruffles should be worn that come well down toward the knuckles.

The nails should receive care, especially if one has to do housework. Both household tasks and age make the nails brittle, but if one is thoughtful about the nightly rub of cold cream, and the daily use of good soap, the nails will remain young even after their day of youth has sped.

over the departure of the extremely low bodices and the excessively distasteful treatment thereof so much in evidence recently. The fashionable gown of the summer is made with the round neck and the short puffed sleeves and it is pretty, becoming and modest within.

Just now Monte Carlo is in its height, strange as they may seem within hearing and we learn that the necking is almost invariably round, slightly lower at the back than at the front and that the waistline. Taffeta is a pronounced favorite and really the taffetas are so lovely that it would seem impossible to grow weary thereof. The chameleon taffetas are especially smart and especially beautiful and there are combinations of mauve and rose that are in the very height of style, but no matter how beautiful the colors may be, there are always a generous number of black and white costumes to be met wherever fashionable folk are to be found. Often the white is much more conspicuous than the black yet in spite of that fact, it is evident that that particular color scheme is suggested by the general condition abroad. White silk with black velvet bands used as trimming for the full skirts is far from quiet in effect, but it is inherently beautiful and possesses a charm that is distinctly its own. Black with touches of color is much in evidence too and women of quiet taste will like the idea of a black taffeta gown with a wide girdle enriched with color and with embroidery.

POLISH TAG DAY SUCCESS

Sum Collected Will Net About $1500—The Committee Well

Pleased With Result

The Polish Tag day for the relief of the wounded in Poland was a complete success.

The bags of money turned in by the collectors Saturday night were left in the storeroom of the Y. M. C. A. building. The people in general showed a spirit of sympathy in the success of the day.

A pile in the Five Cent Savings bank, and as heavily as could be estimated it amounted to $150,000.

Along the business streets Saturday a number of neat and polite Polish girls, equipped with boxes, were urging the purchase of little flags and cards which they bought the tags. The Polish relief committee is highly gratified at the result.

The headquarters was made at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, and Dr. Clarence N. Livingston took special interest in the work.

Mrs. Carman Placed on Trial for Second Time

on Murder Charge

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 3.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman was placed on trial today for the second time on the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Louise D. Bailey at Freeport on the night of June 30 last. The jury in the first trial disagreed and Mrs. Carman has been at liberty under bond since then.

Accompanied by her husband, Dr. Edward Carman, Mrs. Carman motored from her home in Freeport to the courthouse here today. She was pale but smiling and seemed to be in better health than when she was tried before Justice Blackmar presided over the court at this second trial. In selecting the jury each side will be allowed 30 peremptory challenges and District attorney Smith intimated that it might require a week to present the state's case before a jury of lay witnesses. It is reported, will be called by the state but the district attorney declined to discuss this report.

Mrs. Carman, sitting beside her husband, seemed to be undisturbed and confident of the outcome as the case proceeded. Peter Rohrbach, Jr., village clerk of Seaciff, the ninth talesman examined, was the first juror selected. The eight men who preceded him were dismissed for various reasons.

When recess was taken three jurors had been selected. Mrs. Carman, it was noted today, asserts the right to accept or reject a talesman. At her previous trial a juror she objected to was accepted as a lawyer. That juror, it was stated, was one of the two to vote for conviction.

Mrs. Carman was not locked up during the recess. She and her husband, band; cross on base. Mole's on the children; wreath. "Golden. Auntie. ## INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

The Loomfitters' union will meet tonight in Carpenters' hall.

George Lynch, a popular young resident of this city has returned after spending several months in Florida.

The Lyon Carpet Co., maintains its prospering store and the operatives are steadily employed.

Chester Hartigan, the well known athlete is working on the night shift at the U. S. Cartridge Co.

Edwin Landers of the Federal Shoe Co. is said to be thinking of entering the catering business.

The Moulders' union has a meeting scheduled for tonight at Cotton Spinners' hall.

James McEvoy, of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co., made a very capable presiding officer at the meeting held yesterday.

Patrick Flannery, of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co., says the row will be on hand at the outing to be held May 30.

Billy Marcotte states that the John Pilling shoe shop baseball team is out to make the championship of the city in another circle this year.

Organizer Daniel E. Whelan of the Foot & Shoe Workers returned this morning from Brockton where he spent Sunday with his family.

The mills and shoe shops of this city are running as well if not better than similar industries in other New England centers.

It is understood that the Street Railway Motor Union will not allow union members to take out the sprinkling cars until the present difficulty over conductors is settled.

Bill Lane, the well known athlete employed by the Mulaney plumbing company, states that the overalls won't stand up alone. Bill tried the trick yesterday and it proved a dismal failure.

The labor forward committee has a busy week planned, and the members will be kept hustling every minute. A number of open meetings will be held, and speeches at the mill gates will be in order every day.

Michael Wrenn of the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Co. stands fourth on the list for appointment to the police force. Mr. Wrenn is out with a challenge to any fresh water swimmer in the country for a distance of three miles. Should he be appointed to the police force he will make a valuable acquisition as a life saver. No person could escape him by the water route.

James Burns of the A. G. Pollard Co. was forced to withdraw from the municipal show conducted by the Princeton club last Friday evening on account of throat trouble. Mr. Burns was slated to sing an end song, and many of the employees of the store who made the trip to the hall in the rain especially to hear him were deeply disappointed. Jim says he'll be in condition for the next appearance of the troupe, which will be at a local theatre.

Notes of the Services at Local Churches—Society Meetings

A two weeks' mission will be opened at St. Peter's church next Sunday by members of the Oblate order. The first week will be for the women of the parish and the second for the men. The high mass yesterday was celebrated by Rev. P. L. Crayton, while the sermon was given by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. J. Kehoe. The pastor spoke on the approaching mission and the Forty Hours' devotion, and urged all to attend. At the offertory Miss Mary E. Whiteley rendered a beautiful "Ave Maria."

Forty Hours' devotion will be started at this church Friday morning with a solemn high mass. Masses on Friday and Saturday will be celebrated at 6, 7 and 9 o'clock. The devotion will be brought to a close Sunday morning at the parish mass.

President Bernard D. Ward of the Holy Name society, headed by a big delegation from the parish, attended the Catholic Federation meeting in Boston yesterday. Great plans will be made for the Federation meeting in Lowell on May 16, when Cardinal O'Connell will speak.

Sacred Heart
The parish mass at the Sacred Heart church was celebrated by Rev. William P. Haley, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate, while Rev. James J. Gallagher, O. M. I., delivered a forceful sermon on "The End of Man." The members of the Holy Name society attended communion at a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., are conducting a mission at Holliston, while Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., is preaching a mission at Cadyville, N. Y.

St. Columba's
The parish mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Buckley, who also delivered the sermon. The members of the Children's sodality attended communion in a body at the 5:30 o'clock mass. The members of the Holy Name society went to communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass next Sunday. First communion and confirmation classes are being instructed on Wednesday afternoons and Saturday mornings, respectively. It was announced that the Tabernacle society has in preparation an entertainment to be given in the near future.

St. Joseph's
The celebration of the parish mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday was the pastor, Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Eusepho Mado rendered the harmonized Missa Royale. At the offertory Achille Lavallee rendered a beautiful "O Salutaris."

St. Margaret's Church
At the Highland church yesterday the earlier masses were sung by Rev. Fr. Reardon, the pastor, Fr. Galligan officiating at the later services. At the masses a communication was read from the executive committee of the Catholic Federation of Churches, advancing the aims and purposes of the federation, and urging the general organization throughout the archdiocese.

On Wednesday evening the grand May party will be held by the parish in Lincoln hall, and an exceptionally attractive program has been arranged. At a meeting held in the parish hall yesterday afternoon, the plans were perfected. The general management will be in charge of Miss Mollie Scannell, while Miss Julia Desjardis will be floor marshal, assisted by a large corps of aids.

Immaculate Conception
Rev. James McCartin, O. M. I., sang high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, and the sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I. The members of the Holy Name sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Rev. Owen J. McQuaid assisted in giving communion.

It was announced at all the masses that next Sunday will be communion day for the senior branch of the Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality. Speaking on this matter in a grace to his sermon at the 9 o'clock mass, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., urged all the unmarried women of the parish to go to communion with the sodality next Sunday. He recalled the time, he said, when over 500 women were present on communion days, and he hoped there would be a revival of the habit. During the month of May, and in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, it is most fitting that the women should show honor to Mary, the mother of God.

Fr. Sullivan gave a strong sermon on the dignity of the Blessed Virgin and the great honor which she has since the foundation of the church and she expressed the hope that the church would be filled to capacity during the May devotions. He said that had the Catholic faith given the world nothing else except the ideal of womanhood summed up in the person of Mary, it would have done a great service to mankind. This ideal he said, has been the inspiration of poet, painter, sculptor, and composer and to defend it the church has held councils and promulgated doctrines. He illustrated his sermon by many literary and historical allusions.

St. Patrick's
Rev. Timothy P. Callahan celebrated high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and the sermon was preached by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin who spoke of the significance of May which is set apart in honor of Mary, and urged the members of the parish to attend the May devotions.

There were large congregations at all the masses and the number of communicants at the early morning masses was unusually large. In the evening a meeting of the Propagation of the Faith society was held in the lower church, and the routine business was transacted. The Holy Name society is making plans for a large meeting in the near future, and the Ladies' Aid will soon reorganize for the work of next season.

HELD UP BY BRITISH

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Provisions Tied Up—Ships Carrying U. S. Cargoes Seized

LONDON, April 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—With millions of dollars' worth of provisions tied up by the British admiralty and virtually no opportunity to ship foodstuffs in Norway, Denmark and Sweden, European representatives of American packers are no longer disposed to accept in good faith the promises of the British foreign office and admiralty that immediate steps would be taken to facilitate neutral trade with neutral countries.

The refusal of Sir Samuel Evans, judge of the prize court, to grant immediate trial to the Norwegian ships Alfred Nobel, Bjornstjorn Bjornson, Kilm and Fridland, which were seized at Kirkwall in November, was the worst blow which neutral ships and shipping have had so far. The hearing was fixed for June 7 on the request of the counsel for the crown, who pleaded for more time to investigate the cases.

Attorneys for the Norwegian shipowners argued that their clients would be ruined by further delay and that sufficient time has been allowed already for investigation. However, Sir Samuel Evans exonerated the procurator general who has charge of the prize court investigations, from all charges of unnecessary delay and insisted that such complicated cases cannot be rushed through.

All four of these Norwegian ships carry extensive American cargoes, chiefly packers' products. Wheat cargoes on these ships have been taken over by the English government and paid for. The same is true of copper cargoes but the packing house products have been detained indefinitely in spite of efforts to have them released.

In addition to these four ships, 12 others which carried packers' products have been thrown into the prize court. Frederick Urean of Chicago, the legal representative of the Chicago packers, who has been in London since January in an effort to effect the delivery of packing products to neutral countries, said:

"Prize court authorities have definitely refused to release our goods except upon the terms of the consignors undertaking to sell the goods in Great Britain and to give English half in the full value of the seized cargoes. The first of these conditions is impossible because most of the goods have been packed for continental markets and are unsalable here.

"The suggestion that American packers give English half for their own goods is unreasonable.

STRIKE SPREADS
Hod Carriers and Building Laborers Join the Striking Bricklayers

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Demanding an advance of five cents an hour and an eight hour day, hod carriers and building laborers today joined the bricklayers' strike, virtually tying up operations in the building trades in the Pittsburgh district. Six thousand men were said to be affected.

U. S. GUN BEST, DANIELS

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Critics who claim that the American navy's 14-inch rifles are inferior to the 15-inch type mounted on the great British battleship Queen Elizabeth, were answered in a statement issued last night by Secretary Daniels, declaring that the bureau of ordnance had developed a 14-inch gun "that will shoot farther, shoot straighter and hit harder than any gun now in use or known to be designed by a foreign country."

While conceding that the Queen Elizabeth's guns throw a larger shell, Mr. Daniels points out that she carries only eight of the 15-inch rifles, compared with a main battery of 12 14-inch weapons on the United States battleship Pennsylvania.

"The question of the proper caliber for the main battery guns of our battleships," said the secretary's statement, "is one that has received the most careful consideration on the part of the bureau of ordnance and the general board.

"There is an axiom with regard to calibers which amounts to this: That a ship should mount the smallest light gun that will pierce the maximum probable fighting range. The 14-inch guns of the Pennsylvania will get through the maximum armor afloat so far as our knowledge goes, at a range of 12,000 yards. The Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch guns will do a little more than that. If our information is correct as to the velocity of the British 15-inch gun, the 14-inch guns on the Pennsylvania will range a little farther than the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch gun. The flatter trajectory of the 14-inch gun gives it increased probability of hitting in comparison with the 15-inch gun.

"The Pennsylvania mounts 12 guns to the Queen Elizabeth's eight. Therefore the volume of fire of our ship exceeds the volume of fire of the British ship by 50 per cent.

"The navy department has built and proved a 16-inch gun superior to both the 15-inch and 14-inch so far as penetration of armor at fighting range is concerned. If the Pennsylvania were to be armed with the 16-inch gun she could carry only eight, as against the 12 14-inch guns now assigned her. If we adopted the 16-inch caliber we would have to make a sacrifice in the number of guns as great or nearly as great as we made in the design of the Queen Elizabeth."

THE ALASKAN RAILROAD

WORK ON CONSTRUCTION OF FIRST SECTION BEGUN AT SHIP CREEK

SEATTLE, Wash., May 3.—Work on the construction of the first section of the government's Alaskan railroad has been begun at Ship Creek, according to the railway bureau here today. The first spike was driven Thursday by Mr. White. The first white child born on Cook inlet.

Notice was posted at Ship Creek announcing that the engineering commission would not employ a large number of men this season and those going to Ship Creek with the idea of finding employment would be disappointed.

Squatters who staked claims on the Terminal tract here have withdrawn from the land. Some of them, however, delayed removing their tents and lost them when newcomers, bound over the trails for Ship Creek, read notices ordering the immediate removal of the tents and carried them away. The squatters had been notified by the commission that the town site would be located elsewhere, as the government intends to use the reserve for terminal purposes.

CHOKES EATING MEAT

WORCESTER, May 3.—While eating dinner with his family yesterday afternoon Stanley Kibbles, aged 50, of 8 Esther street, choked to death when a piece of meat became lodged in his throat. He was taken to the city hospital, but efforts to revive him failed.

CID-CHEWING ANIMALS BURNED

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Dogs, giraffes, llamas and other ruminants or cud-chewing animals will be barred from circuses appearing here this summer, Dr. George Totten, director of the United States bureau of animal industry, in a statement yesterday said that animals of this class would not be admitted to Allegheny county while the quarantine resulting from the epidemic of foot and mouth disease was in effect. He said, however, that the order would not affect house fliers, leopards, elephants or other animals classed as flesh or herb-eating animals.

LOST FRIENDS IN BELGIUM

Born in Lowell—He Inherited Interests in Stores in Belgium

Hector Sebillaud, of 13 Farmland road, is very anxious concerning his relatives in Belgium and the estate of his father, which was left him and which he was to take control of this year. The young man fears his relatives have lost their lives, while he believes the estate, which consisted of a string of stores in various cities of Belgium has been entirely wiped out.

Sebillaud's father was a Belgian, but his mother, who is a resident of this city, is of Canadian birth. The boy was born in this city but was brought up in Belgium, where his father was largely interested in a large concern, which conducted a number of department stores in several cities of Belgium. When the father died several years ago he left his estate to his only son, Hector, who was to take charge of the business as soon as he became of age. The young man was 21 years of age last June and he had made up his mind to go to Belgium, dispose of his interests in the business and return to Lowell.

However, the war broke out and the young man had to give up all plans of going abroad. He wrote several letters to his guardian, Emile Lanoy at Nivelles, Belgium, but has received no reply. Later he wrote letters addressed to an uncle, Armand Lanoy at Brussels, Belgium and to an aunt, Mrs. Adele Sebillaud also at Brussels, but his letters remained unanswered.

A few weeks ago Mr. Sebillaud wrote to Bernard Mallet, registrar general of the general register for war refugees at London, Eng., asking information concerning the whereabouts of his guardian and relatives, for he believed they had made their escape to England, but a reply which was received a few days ago announced that the names asked for could not be found on the register. Similar replies were received from the American consul at Holland, to whom Mr. Sebillaud had written concerning his aunt and uncles. Mr. Sebillaud now believes his relatives were killed and he entertains very little hope of recovering the estate left him by his deceased father. In conversation with the writer he said he will go to Belgium as soon as hostilities cease in Europe and ascertain if he has lost all he possessed there.

CREW DESERTED

American Schooner Hit Sunken Obstruction—One Man Killed

ON BOARD U. S. S. COLORADO, Mazatlan, Mexico, May 2, by radio to San Diego, Cal., May 3.—The American schooner Emma of San Diego has arrived at Mazatlan, Mexico, with only Captain Clark and the ship's cook on board and is being assisted by the United States cruiser Raleigh in repairing damages due to a storm.

The Emma sailed Feb. 2 from San Jose del Cabo, Baja California, for northern ports. She struck a sunken obstruction and then was driven by a storm to Socorro Island. Dennis O'Keefe, the mate, died on board ship enroute and was buried at sea. The rest of the crew deserted on the arrival of the Emma at Socorro. The cutter Naushan has been ordered by Admiral Howard to rescue the deserters.

STORE WAS ROBBED

BURGLARS ENTERED STORE OF CLARENCE E. STEVENS ON WESTFORD STREET

The local police are today investigating the break into the grocery store of Clarence E. Stevens at 349 Westford street, Saturday morning when the safe and cash register were rifled and the burglars got away with about $20 in money and a quantity of gum, candy and other articles.

The early morning burglars gained entrance through a cellar window and then cut a hole in a panel of the door leading from the cellar to the store. By reaching through the hole the door was unbolted. A few bills and some change were taken from the cash register and the strong box was removed from the safe to the cellar, where it was smashed open with a set of 500 pound scales. There was nothing in the box except a key.

About 2 o'clock Saturday morning Mr. Stevens, who lives above the store, was aroused by a noise and arose and lighted the gas. Everything seemed quiet then, however, and he returned to bed only to find on opening his store in the morning that burglars had been operating there during the night.

CHANGE SAILOR'S GARB

SURGEON J. C. PRIOR OF NAVY RECOMMENDS THAT WHITE CLOTHING BE ADOPTED

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Surgeon J. C. Prior of the navy, who is already on record as favoring the banishment of lavenders, halloo trousers, and other habiliments which make the American sailor's garb distinctive, has now submitted a report recommending that the wearing of white clothing by naval forces be abandoned.

While admitting that white clothing has some advantages, Surgeon Prior thinks it affords the enemy a target easily distinguishable and in addition is impracticable, because so easily soiled. To escape snipers at Vera Cruz last year, he says, the American naval force in many instances colored their faces with mud, improvised dyes, and even mud. Surgeon Prior believes khaki, olive drab or slate-colored material would make more practical uniforms.

Adams & Co. have the celebrated white grass shirts that are artistic, durable and low priced.

STRANGER IS IDENTIFIED

Mysterious Individual at Chelmsford St. Hospital is Eugene S. Frost of Lynn

The man found wandering in a demented condition in the vicinity of Gorham street last Thursday by Patrolman Jack Conway and taken to the police station for safe keeping, has been identified as Eugene S. Frost of 82 Spring street, Lynn, son of L. P. Frost of White River Junction, Vt. The man is now at the Chelmsford Street hospital pending an investigation being made by Supt. Welch and Chief Burdick of the Lynn department.

While patrolling his beat Thursday, Patrolman Conway found Frost sitting on the steps of a house off Gorham street. The man was accosted by the officer and when questioned responded with absurd answers. He was then removed to the police station and told several different stories. He gave the names of Eugene Frost, Edward Scamlen and Eugene McKean and mentioned Lynn and several other cities as his place of residence. In the man's pockets were found $35 in money and several Boston & Maine rebate tickets which showed that he had traveled considerably during the past few weeks.

After sending the man to the Chelmsford Street hospital, Supt. Welch made further inquiries and finally learned the address of the man's father in Vermont. A communication was sent to the father and today an answer was received giving a full description of Eugene S. Frost, which tallied in detail with that of the man under observation at the city hospital.

Mr. Frost stated in his letter that his son recently visited White River Junction and said that he was suffering from an injury sustained when he fell and injured his head. Against his father's wishes the man left home a week ago today and it is believed that while on his way to Lynn he became confused and stopped off at Lowell. He is 35 years of age and single.

The younger Frost is a stationary engineer and Supt. Welch has also written the engineers' organization in Lynn in the hope of ascertaining something about the mysterious man. The father said in his letter that on account of poor health he would not be able to come to Lowell but asked to be kept in close touch with his son's doings.

FORMER LOWELL GIRL FALZONE IN DEATH HOUSE

MRS. MOORE BRIDE OF ANXIOUS CHRISTIAN PREHEN WINCHEFIELD OF DENMARK

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Mrs. Mabelle Swift Moore, one of the wealthiest of the women who were made widows by the Titanic disaster, was married Saturday morning to the late Christian Pughen Winchfield of Denmark, now living in New York and a nephew of the Danish minister, Constantin Brun. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride, 1716 Massachusetts avenue, N. W., by Rev. Roland Clout Smith, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, in the presence of the mother and children of the bride, Miss Francis Moore, daughter of the late Clarence Moore, by his first wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. Blair and the Danish minister.

A breakfast followed, after which the bride and bridegroom started for New York. The bride wore her traveling gown of dark blue cloth with dark blue hat and carried orchids. After passing a short time in New York city they will go to San Francisco and will remain a month in California. The Moore children remaining in their home here. The bride has four children, Jasper, Clarence, Lloyd and a baby who was only two months old when the Titanic went down.

The wedding came as a surprise to friends of the bride, although the attentions of the bridegroom had been marked for more than a year. He made frequent visits here and was in England last spring when the bride and Miss Moore were there. Mrs. Moore and Miss Moore were presented at court in London and on their return here Mrs. Moore introduced Miss Moore formally at one of the most elaborate balls ever given here.

Miss Mabelle Swift, daughter of the late E. C. Swift of Chicago and Mrs. Moore, was married to Clarence Moore in 1904. She was next month. Mrs. Moore was then a young widow with one daughter. He met his death on the Titanic after he had been to England to get dogs for the Chevy Chase Hunt club, of which he was master of the fox hounds. He was bringing over two fine packs of English hounds on the Titanic.

Mr. Moore had a large estate in Virginia, near Loudoun, which Mrs. Moore sold after his death. They had only taken possession of a beautiful new home in Washington when the husband made his fatal trip.

Since his death Mrs. Moore and daughter have taken several early summer trips to Europe and passed the remainder of the summer at Seville, on the north shore of Massachusetts, the summer place of the late Mr. Swift. Mrs. Swift spent the last season in Washington with her daughter and took an active part in the dances, dinners, luncheons and theatre parties which her daughter has given.

Nothing was known of the contemplated marriage until the issuance of the license, which was obtained by Woodbury Blair.

Mrs. Moore is well known in Lowell, having lived in this city with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Swift.

DONAT GERVAIS REPORTS ROBBERY ON LAKEVIEW AVENUE SATURDAY NIGHT

Donat Gervais, employed as a collector by Avila Desrosiers, who conducts a grocery store at 742 Lakeview avenue, has reported to the police that he was knocked down and robbed of $35 while unharnessing a horse in the stable in the rear of Mr. Desrosiers' place of business about 7 o'clock Saturday night.

According to Gervais, he had been collecting all Saturday afternoon and was about to put his horse in the stable when he was attacked by at least two men, whom he could not identify. He said he was struck in the face and while lying on the lawn floor, the men went through his pockets. He then reported the matter to Mr. Desrosiers and later to the police.

Inspector Walsh visited the scene of the alleged robbery, but none of the persons living within a few yards of the barn had heard of the robbery or could give any information about men hanging around the vicinity.

RESERVE BOARD'S PAYROLL

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The federal reserve board's total annual payroll in force today, according to its announcement is $16,160. This does not include the portion of the payroll which is a part of the office of the controller of the currency.

The staff in addition to the seven members of the board so far comprises 51 people. The average salary of the employees exclusive of the board and its personal staff who get a total of $3,000 based upon the present payroll is $1766 a year.

TO GIVE CRIPPLES AN OUTING

BOSTON, May 3.—Unanimously the Boston Newsboys Protective association yesterday afternoon at a meeting at 50 Hanover street decided on an action that has probably never been equaled in pure unselfishness by newsboys anywhere in this country.

Instead of going ahead with their plans for a projected banquet and reception to commemorate the 14th anniversary of the founding of their union, they agreed to use their assembled funds for an outing for the poor crippled children of Boston and vicinity, irrespective of race and creed, on Memorial day.

The originator of the idea was Nathan S. Sodekson, their ex-president, who simply said in introducing it, "We must help these less fortunate than ourselves."

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Washington Cheerful Over Conditions—Business Improvement

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Official Washington was cheered today over the business outlook throughout the country as disclosed in reports to the federal reserve board from its agents in each of the twelve reserve districts. Briefly summarized, these reports indicated an improvement in trade conditions and returning confidence. A feature is the reported activity of industries supplying war needs.

LOYD GEORGE MISTAKEN

LONDON, May 3.—Wm. Crooks, labor leader in the house of commons, declares in a newspaper interview published today that there is less drinking in England than before the war and that Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George was mistaken in the statements he made on the subject. Mr. Crooks asserts that if less work is being done at private shops must be sought and that this accusation has been spread broadcast by employers to cover up their own shortcomings. "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that the Woolwich arsenal could turn out a third more work than it is doing now," the interview declares. "The men have insufficient work to do because of lack of organization. Moreover, although the war has lasted nine months no accommodations yet have been provided for the men to get their meals."

INABILITY TO CHOOSE

"RIGHT WORD" CAUSES EMBARRASSMENT—STUDY OF DICTIONARY PROFITABLE

Inability to choose the right word often places a speaker in an embarrassing position. Many business men lose much valuable time because they find it difficult to express what they want to say when they dictate their correspondence. Greater freedom and accuracy in speaking and writing can be acquired by studying a dictionary. A few minutes devoted to the study of words and their meaning each day will in a short time result in great benefit to anyone who will put that practice to a test.

The New Universities Dictionary being offered to readers of this paper is particularly adapted to aid those who wish to acquire greater familiarity with the English language. It contains all the new words which have come into common and proper use in recent years, its definitions are simple and accurate, making it possible to choose words that will best serve the purpose of correct speaking and writing. Many of the new words that have been brought into use through special technical activities and through modern baseball and other forms of sports have been conveniently classified in supplementary dictionaries.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN TO CAMBRIDGE ON CASE OF CONVERSE VS. B. & M. RAILROAD

After empanelling a jury in a new case, the superior court, Justice Stevens presiding, adjourned to Cambridge at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon, and will not return to this city until the case of the Converse Rubber Shoe Co. vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, which was started this morning, is brought to a close.

The case of Julius H. Claussen of Malden vs. the Boston Dye House, Inc., an action of contract by which the plaintiff seeks to recover on a promissory note the sum of $187.50, which was given by the defendant for the purchase of a benzine distilling machine, was also brought on for trial Thursday and brought to a close this morning, but the presiding justice announced he would charge the jury in Cambridge later in the forenoon.

The case of the Converse Rubber Shoe Co. of Malden vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, and action of tort, the ad damnum being $5,000.

In this case the plaintiff claims that on or about Feb. 2, 1911, a spark from a locomotive engine owned and operated by the defendant company, set fire to buildings owned by the plaintiff, and that the fire destroyed the store house of the company with its approaches, also certain merchandise, materials, tools and supplies. The defendant's answer is general denial of the charges.

The jury went to trial Thursday at 10:30 o'clock was empaneled, and at 1:30 o'clock the case was called on for a view of the premises and at 2 o'clock the case was resumed at the East Cambridge court house.

GENERAL HEARINGS

Labor and Industrial Problems Will be Discussed by Commission on Industrial Relations

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Plans for a series of general hearings on labor and industrial problems covering those of a number of large corporations and organizations were completed today by the United States commission on industrial relations. The first will be opened tomorrow when an inquiry into questions of wages and employment of shipyard employees will be resumed with officials of the Pullman company under examination.
